Separating Cells:

Separating Cells Dipak Patel, 2000-06-15 Separating Cells The basics provides user friendly and practical guidance to the techniques most commonly used to separate cells The book offers a concise overview of the fundamental principles and explains the what how and why This title will be of considerable interest to newcomers to these techniques Cell Separation Derek Fisher, Gillian E. Francis, David Rickwood, 1998-11-26 Techniques for separating cells are needed in many areas of cell biology This book presents modern methods from the laboratories of experts in the field and includes tested reproducible protocols hints and tips for success and troubleshooting suggestions It will be invaluable to a wide range of cell biologists Methods of Cell Separation P.T. Sharpe, 1988-05-01 Methods of Cell Separation brings to the attention of researchers at all levels the variety of methods available for separating viable populations of cells Methods are grouped into 3 categories based on the criteria of separation namely size or density non specific surface properties and specific surface properties The principle of each method is described together with general and where possible specific protocols for conducting cell separation experiments A central theme of the book is the separation of populations of blood lymphocytes which is used as an example for each method Methods of Cell Separation is distinguished by three powerful assets descriptions of the majority of cell separation methods currently being used details of the experimental procedures involved in each method and comparisons of the different methods for separating cell populations with particular reference to blood lymphocytes An excellent addition to a distinguished series and extremely useful as a laboratory manual Cell Separation Thomas G. Pretlow, Theresa P. Pretlow, 2014-05-10 Cell Separation Methods and Selected Applications is a compendium of articles on the design and or application of methods for the separation of cells This volume presents contributions on relatively finite subjects on cell separation It covers topics on cell separation such as methods for obtaining cells in suspension from animal tissues some of the kinds of data that are helpful in the description of cell purifications and separation of host cells infiltrating tumors and allografts by velocity sedimentation at unit gravity The separation of different kinds of nucleated cells from blood by centrifugal elutriation a new approach to the separation of cells at unit gravity and the isolation and culture of homogeneous populations of glomerular cell types are elucidated as well Experimental oncologists hematologists immunologists cell biologists endocrinologists and others who are not already expert in the use of methods for cell separation will find the book highly useful Cell Separation in Plants Daphne J. Osborne, Michael B. Jackson, 2013-06-29 This NATO Advanced Research Workshop held 25-30 September 1988 at the Villa Gualino Turin Italy was the first international meeting of its kind to be devoted solely to cell separation in plants The partial or complete dissociation of one cell from another is an integral process of differentiation Partial cell separations are basic physiological components of the overall programme of plant development Complete cell separations are major events in the ripening of fruits and the shedding of plant parts Unscheduled cell separations commonly occur when tissues are subjected to pathogenic invasion

Environmental stresses too evoke their own separation responses Over the past five years much new knowledge has been acquired on the regulation of gene expression in specific stages of cell differentiation Specific molecular markers have been identified that designate the competence of cells for achieving separation Certain of the chemical signals hormones elicitors that must be emitted or perceived by cells to initiate and sustain separation are now known to us and the resulting cell wall changes have come under close chemical scrutiny The Turin meeting was a focus for those currently involved in such investigations It assessed factors controlling cell separation in a wide spectrum of different cell types under a variety of conditions

Methods of Cell Separation Nicholas Catsimpoolas, 2012-12-06 Presently the need for methods involving separation identification and characterization of different kinds of cells is amply realized among immunologists hematologists cell biologists clinical pathologists and cancer researchers Unless cells exhibiting different functions and stages of differentiation are separated from one another it will be exceedingly difficult to study some of the molecular mechanisms involved in cell recognition specialization interactions cytotoxicity and transformation Clinical diagnosis of diseased states and use of isolated cells for therapeutic e g immunotherapy or survival e g transfusion purposes are some of the pressing areas where immediate practical benefits can be obtained by applying cell separation techniques However the development of such useful methods is still in its infancy A number of good techniques exist based either on the physical or biological properties of the cells and these have produced some valuable results Still others are to be discovered Therefore the purpose of this open end treatise is to acquaint the reader with some of the basic principles instrumentation and procedures presently in practice at various laboratories around the world and to present some typical applications of each technique to particular biological problems To this end I was fortunate to obtain the contribution of certain leading scientists in the field of cell separation people who in their pioneering work have struggled with the particular problems involved in separating living cells and in some way have won Hormones, Signals and Target Cells in Plant Development Daphne J. Osborne, Michael T. McManus, 2005-04-11 Meristematic cells in plants become the many different types of cells found in a mature plant This is achieved by a selective response to chemical signals both from neighbouring cells and distant tissues It is these responses that shape the plant its time of flowering the sex of its flowers its length of survival or progress to senescence and death How do plants achieve this This treatise addresses this question using well chosen examples to illustrate the concept of target cells The authors discuss how each cell has the ability to discriminate between different chemical signals determining which it will respond to and which it will ignore The regulation of gene expression through signal perception and signal transduction is at the core of this selectivity and the Target Cell concept This volume will serve as a valuable reference for all researchers working in the field of plant developmental biology

Particles Separation in Microfluidic Devices Takasi Nisisako, Naotomo Tottori, 2020-12-10 Microfluidic platforms are increasingly being used for separating a wide variety of particles based on their physical and chemical properties In the past two decades many practical applications have been found in chemical and biological sciences including single cell analysis clinical diagnostics regenerative medicine nanomaterials synthesis environmental monitoring etc In this Special Issue we invited contributions to report state of the art developments in the fields of micro and nanofluidic separation fractionation sorting and purification of all classes of particles including but not limited to active devices using electric magnetic optical and acoustic forces passive devices using geometries and hydrodynamic effects at the micro nanoscale confined and open platforms label based and label free technology and separation of bioparticles including blood cells circulating tumor cells live dead cells exosomes DNA and non bioparticles including polymeric or inorganic micro and nanoparticles droplets bubbles etc Practical devices that demonstrate capabilities to solve real world problems were of particular interest
