W. Russell Neuman

Mass Politics:

The Paradox of Mass Politics W. Russell Neuman, 1986 A central current in the history of democratic politics is the tensions between the political culture of an informed citizenry and the potentially antidemocratic impulses of the larger mass of individuals who are only marginally involved in the political world Given the public's low level of political interest and knowledge it is paradoxical that the democratic system works at all In The Paradox of Mass Politics W Russell Neuman analyzes the major election surveys in the United States for the period 1948-1980 and develops for each a central index of political sophistication based on measures of political interest knowledge and style of political conceptualization Taking a fresh look at the dramatic findings of public apathy and ignorance he probes the process by which citizens acquire political knowledge and the impact of their knowledge on voting behavior The book challenges the commonly held view that politically oriented college educated individuals have a sophisticated grasp of the fundamental political issues of the day and do not rely heavily on vague political symbolism and party identification in their electoral calculus In their expression of political opinions and in the stability and coherence of those opinions over time the more knowledgeable half of the population Neuman concludes is almost indistinguishable from the other half This is in effect a second paradox closely related to the first In an attempt to resolve a major and persisting paradox of political theory Neuman develops a model of three publics which more accurately portrays the distribution of political knowledge and behavior in the mass population He identifies a stratum of apoliticals a large middle mass and a politically sophisticated elite The elite is so small less than 5 percent that the beliefs and behavior of its members are lost in the large random samples of national election surveys but so active and articulate that its views are often equated with public opinion at large by the powers in Washington The key to the paradox of mass politics is the activity of this tiny stratum of persons who follow political issues with care and expertise This book is essential reading for concerned students of American politics sociology public opinion and mass communication

Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 2013 The Politics of Economic Restructuring in India Loraine Kennedy, 2013-12-17 State re scaling is the central concept mobilized in this book to interpret the political processes that are producing new economic spaces in India In the quarter century since economic reforms were introduced the Indian economy has experienced strong growth accompanied by extensive sectoral and spatial restructuring This book argues that in this reformed institutional context where both state spaces and economic geographies are being rescaled subnational states play an increasingly critical role in coordinating socioeconomic activities The core thesis that the book defends is that the reform process has profoundly reconfigured the Indian state s rapport with its territory at all spatial scales and these processes of state spatial rescaling are crucial for comprehending emerging patterns of economic governance and growth It demonstrates that the outcomes of India s new policy regime are not only the product of impersonal market forces but that they are also the result of endogenous political strategies acting in conjunction with the territorial reorganisation of economic activities at various scales ranging from local to global Extensive empirical case material primarily from field based research is used to support these theoretical assertions Scholars of political economy political and economic geography industrial development development studies and Asian Studies will find this a stimulating and innovative contribution to the study of the political economy in the developing countries Korea's Democratization Samuel S. Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Cataloging Policy and Support Office, 2003 My Existentialism Leslie Herzberger, 2006-04-01 The history of the United States in the last thirty years its preoccupation with the Vietnam War and the devastating affects of that war on the psyche of this nation is evidence of a foreign policy tragedy Foreign policy tragedy brings domestic tragedy in its wake The purpose of this study is to work out why the approaches to social revolution and that is what the Vietnam War was about have been wrong on both sides of the ideological spectrum the last thirty years in the U S point out why they were wrong point to where they were wrong and point to the consequences of acting in a society when the perceptions are in certain respects wrong Let me sum up my perception on what went wrong in Vietnam It was a Right wing war fought on Left wing premises It was a war that could not have been won because those who designed it would not or could not win it but were also afraid of losing it It was a war that was wrongly perceived by both sides of the ideological spectrum The Liberal argument was that America tried everything and still lost it The Conservative argument was that it could have been won if the opposition had not tied their hands keeping them from an all out effort that would have been required to win it The war was started in earnest by the Liberals under Kennedy The strategy was to roll up the enemy by hitting on the peasant and through it cut off the leaders Pacification education re education indoctrination and the introduction of self defense techniques to the South Vietnamese peasants was meant to stop the revolution exported from the North in its tracks The U S policy was predicated on the assumption that the peasants really had something to do with the ruling functions of the North Vietnamese revolution after Thermidor that after the onset of Thermidor after the institutionalization of the revolution in Hanoi the revolution was still revolution The Liberal approach has believed that revolution is tantamount to Mao s view of it in China peasants all immersed in the revolutionary process as fish in the sea And so you would have to drain the very ocean itself to stop it Our approach to the post revolutionary process is that after the onset of Thermidor in a society revolution is a bunch of terror informed super bureaucrats at the center of a society increasingly cut off from the periphery In a post revolutionary society it is the leaders that matter not the fish in the sea So bombing the small fish into fish soup hell in response as did the West in Vietnam in that war every tree every outhouse every shack and every village until they drop so much ordinance that the entire region is brain dead from defoliants and pockmarks and natural calamities while leaving the center untouched would seem insane Yet that was the policy in Vietnam of America And then nothing happened Nothing happened week after week year after year except that America itself was being driven mad doing the same thing and expecting it to come out different That as the President elect said in 1993 was and is insanity But what choice did they all have The pro war liberal American leadership that designed the war in Vietnam did not dare bomb Hanoi the capitol of North Vietnam for fear of triggering World War III with Red China and with Soviet Russia both of whose client North Vietnam was So they tied their own hands figuring that by coming through the back door fish in the sea style piece by piece nobody will notice in China and Russia ergo no World War III So they took a strategy that was insane and made a virtue out of its necessity They
