Aratjara ,2022-07-04 ARATJARA is the first collection of essays on Australian Aboriginal culture published and edited from Germany A group of internationally renowned scholars and specialists in their fields have contributed original essays on political and cultural aspects of Aboriginal life today These various essays treat the struggle of Aboriginal peoples for land rights their music and their achievements in theatre in literature and in the creation of Aboriginal literary discourses as well as Aboriginal film and television productions and the representation of Australia s indigenous peoples in the white media Among Aboriginal writers who have contributed to ARATJARA are the politician Neville T Bonner the dramatist Bob Maza the story teller David Mowaljarlai and the poet Lionel Fogarty who has been called the most authentic Aboriginal voice among writers using English as their medium of creative expression The volume is dedicated to Oodgeroo formerly Kath Walker 1920 1993 one of the foremost Aboriginal political and cultural personalities and also contains a number of poems by Lionel Fogarty

Scales of Governance and Indigenous Peoples' Rights Irene Bellier,Jennifer Hays,2019-10-08 This book takes an interdisciplinary approach to the complicated power relations surrounding the recognition and implementation of Indigenous Peoples rights at multiple scales The adoption of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples in 2007 was heralded as the beginning of a new era for Indigenous Peoples participation in global governance bodies as well as for the realization of their rights in particular the right to self determination These rights are defined and agreed upon internationally but must be enacted at regional national and local scales Can the global movement to promote Indigenous Peoples rights change the experience of communities at the local level Or are the concepts that it mobilizes around rights and political tools essentially a discourse circulating internationally relatively disconnected from practical situations Are the categories and processes associated with Indigenous Peoples simply an extension of colonial categories and processes or do they challenge existing norms and structures This collection draws together the works of anthropologists political scientists and legal scholars to address such questions Examining the legal historical political economic and cultural dimensions of the Indigenous Peoples rights movement at global regional national and local levels the chapters present a series of case studies that reveal the complex power relations that inform the ongoing struggles of Indigenous Peoples to secure their human rights The book will be of interest to social scientists and legal scholars studying Indigenous Peoples rights and international human rights movements in general

The Valley Steve Hawke,2018-10-01 The past casts long shadows in the Kimberley s high country A murder in the remote bush in 1916 sparks a chain of events that will haunt a family for generations Hidden in the refuge of a secret valley their tiny community lives unknown to the world When a century later Broome schoolboy Dancer falls foul of the local bikie gang he and his father head up the Gibb River Road Here in a maze of rugged ranges and remote communities Dancer begins to unravel the truth behind the mysterious disappearance of Milly Rider the mother he never knew But the valley hides its secrets well As Dancer learns the ways of his

Anthropology Put to Work Les Field, Richard G. Fox, 2020-05-19 How do anthropologists work today and how will they work in future While some anthropologists have recently called for a new public or engaged anthropology profound changes have already occurred leading to new kinds of work for a large number of anthropologists The image of anthropologists reaching out from protected academic positions to a vaguely defined public is out of touch with the working conditions of these anthropologists especially those junior and untenured The papers in this volume show that anthropology is put to work in diverse ways today They indicate that the new conditions of anthropological work require significant departures from canonical principles of cultural anthropology such as replacing ethnographic rapport with multiple forms of collaboration This volume's goal is to help graduate students and early career scholars accept these changes without feeling something essential to anthropology has been lost There really is no other choice for most young anthropologists

Rethinking Resource Management Richard Howitt, 2002-01-31 Rethinking Resource Management offers students and practitioners in resource management a sophisticated and convincing framework for rethinking the dominant approaches to resource management in a complex world

Community Futures, Legal Architecture Marcia Langton, Judy Longbottom, 2012 The unifying experiences of the indigenous and local people are the social and economic disadvantage experienced by indigenous peoples and local communities surrounded by wealth producing projects Chapters on Australian Aboriginals chapters on Timor Leste Aust NZ content Langton is at the University of Melbourne

'Every Mother's Son is Guilty' Chris Owen, 2016 This is a marvellous contribution by Chris Owen to the understanding of the role the Western Australian police force played in the colonial expansion into the Kimberley district of Western Australia Senator Patrick Dodson Yawuru Elder Chris Owen provides a compelling account of policing in the Kimberley district from 1882 when police were established in the district until 1905 when Dr Walter Roth's controversial Royal Commission into the treatment of Aboriginal people was released Owen's achievement is to take elements of all the pre-existing historiography and test them against a rigorous archival investigation. In doing so a fuller understanding of the complex social economic and political changes occurring in Western Australia during the period are exposed. The policing of Aboriginal people changed from one of protection under law to one of punishment and control. The subsequent violence of colonial settlement and the associated policing and criminal justice system that developed often of questionable legality was what Royal Commissioner Roth termed a brutal and outrageous state of affairs. Every Mother's Son is Guilty is a significant contribution to Australian and colonial criminal justice history. Subject: History, Aboriginal Studies, Criminal Justice, policing. Common Law and Colonised Peoples

Jeannine M. Purdy, 2019-01-15. Published in 1997. It is well known in Australia that Aboriginal people are currently massively over-represented amongst the prison population. Although it is not officially acknowledged to the same degree in Trinidad it is also well known that Afro-Trinidadians are over-represented in the prisons of that country. The disproportionate criminalisation of Aboriginal Australians and Afro-Trinidadians is interpreted by the author as a continuation and concretisation of the myth of the barbaric uncivilised and ungoverned savage in opposition to which Western legal systems and societies have created their own identities. The book departs from much contemporary analysis in this area by drawing strongly upon a historical analysis of the operations of the common law in Trinidad and Western Australia. By doing so the book illustrates that race, ethnicity and criminalisation are not necessarily contiguous. What such analysis does reveal is another and more constant dimension to criminalisation and that is economic basis of many of the legal relations instituted under British-derived legal systems with respect to colonised peoples. Aboriginal Autonomy

Herbert Cole Coombs, 1994-10-17. After more than two hundred years one of the most important moral issues facing Australian society in the 1990s remains the need for reconciliation with its indigenous people. In this selection of essays H. C. Coombs reflects on the nature of Aboriginal identity and the importance of autonomy for Australia's Aboriginal people. He also suggests strategies by which self-determination might be achieved in practice. Many of the chapters have been written especially for this volume including one in which Dr Coombs makes a thoughtful and provocative contribution to the Mabo debate linking the High Court's historic 1992 decision on native title to prospects for Aboriginal autonomy. Dr Coombs writes with the conviction that mainstream Australia stands to gain as much if not more than Aboriginal people from the fulfilment of Aboriginal aspirations. It is a personal and passionate plea for a just society from one of white Australia's most influential and eloquent advocates of self-determination for its indigenous people. Australian National Bibliography, 1978. A Higher Authority: Indigenous Transnationalism and Australia

Ravi De Costa, 2012. This important book recovers the long tradition of indigenous transnationalism: contact with external people, institutions, ideas throughout Australia's history from before white settlement to the present. Speaking Out Of Turn Manning Clark, 2013-05-09. This fascinating book brings together forty-two selected speeches and lectures by Professor Manning Clark. They range over fifty years from 'What of Germany' delivered in 1940 to the last delivered in 1991 just before his death at the launch of Barry Humphries book The Life and Death of Sandy Stone and reveal recurring themes as well as developments in Clark's thinking In one sense they are all of a piece They reflect the values aspirations regrets and laughter of one passionate and intelligent man In another they change and develop during the course of that man's intellectual and emotional career In early manhood he analysed issues and problems ruthlessly in terms of his own values In middle life he portrayed men and women and expounded ideas from a historical perspective Towards his end the elegiac mood prevailed and he sought not always successfully to speak as a life affirmer and to regard all men and women and events with the eye of pity A History of Australia Volumes 1 2 Earliest Times 1838 deals with the pre white settlement era and the earliest years of European colonisation through to the establishment of an increasingly settled society and the expeditions of the great inland explorers

The Struggle for Aboriginal Rights Bain Attwood,2020-07-22 The Struggle for Aboriginal Rights is the first book of its kind Not only does it tell the history of the political struggle for Aboriginal rights in all parts of Australia it does so almost entirely through a selection of historical documents created by the Aboriginal campaigners themselves many of which have never been published It presents Aboriginal perspectives of their dispossession and their long and continuing fight to overcome this In charting the story of Aboriginal political activity from its beginnings on Flinders Island in the 1830s to the fight over native title today this book aims to help Australians better understand both the continuities and the changes in Aboriginal politics over the last 150 years in the leadership of the Aboriginal political struggle the objectives of these campaigners for rights for Aborigines their aspirations the sources of their programmes for change their methods of protest and the outcomes of their protest Through the words of Aboriginal activists across 150 years The Struggle for Aboriginal Rights charts the relationship between political involvement and Aboriginal identity
