Norah Lange:

Jorge Luis Borges Jason Wilson, 2006-10-02 The face of Borges most widely known is that of the blind patrician man of letters in whose writings emotion is subjected to the play of ideas Yet Borges born in Buenos Aires in 1899 did not become virtually blind until the 1950s and in the decades before this affliction and before his books were widely translated and internationally celebrated he wrote loved and engaged in local polemics with adventurous passion In Jorge Luis Borges Jason Wilson explores Borges tumultuous early life in the streets and cafes of Buenos Aires and charts his literary friendships love affairs and travels Borges claimed never to have invented a character It is always me subtly disguised Illuminating the connections running between the biography and the fictions Wilson reminds us that Borges was always a poet whose life was recreated in his work but never in confessional ways and restores his Argentine roots This book will be an invaluable resource for all who treasure the modern master BOOK JACKET

The Feeling Child Philippa Page, Inela Selimovic, Camilla Sutherland, 2018-11-15 The Feeling Child Affect and Politics in Latin American Literature and Film compiles a series of essays focusing on the figure of the child within the specific context of the affective turn in the study of contemporary sociocultural settings across Latin America This edited volume looks specifically at the intersection between cultural constructions of childhood and the affective turn within the contemporary sociopolitical landscape of Latin America The editors and contributors share a common aim in furthering comprehension of the particular intensity of the child's affective presence spectatorial haptic silent and spectral among others in contemporary Latin American cultural expression The contributions herein approach this theoretical challenge through an interdisciplinary lens which brings together two burgeoning strands of inquiry The first is the notion of childhood as a significant and inherently political sociocultural space the second is the recognition that affect is integral and fundamental to gaining a more complex understanding of the manner in which contemporary social worlds are made In each case this affective presence is teased out as a register of society shedding light on the issues marking out the current sociopolitical landscape in particular the traces of the recent past in the regions represented This book brings together established international scholars and young academics focusing on Argentina Bolivia Chile Cuba and Peru

Burning Down the House Laura Cristina Fernández, Amadeo Gandolfo, Pablo Turnes, 2022-12-30 Burning Down the House explores the political economic and cultural landscape of 21st century Latin America through comics It examines works from Argentina Brazil Bolivia Chile Uruguay Peru Colombia Mexico and Spain and the resurgence of comics in recent decades spurred by the ubiquity of the Internet and reminiscent of the complex political experiences and realities of the region The volume analyses experimentations in themes and formats and how Latin American comics have become deeply plural in its inspirations subjects drawing styles and political concerns while also underlining the hybrid and diverse cultures they represent It examines the representative and historical images in a state of emergency and political upheaval decolonial perspectives and social struggles linked to ethnic and sexual minorities It looks at how Latin American comics are made right now from a diverse and autochthonous Latin American perspective. With a wide array of illustrations, this book in the Global Perspectives in Comics Studies series will be an important resource for scholars and researchers of comic studies, Latin American studies, cultural studies, English literature, political history, and post colonial studies.

Between civilization & barbarism Francine Masiello, 1992. Evoking the famous watchwords of Argentine president Domingo Sarmiento (1868-74), Between Civilization and Barbarism explores the positioning of women within the Argentine nation and argues that women neither sought alliance with the civilizing agenda of leading statesmen nor found identity in the extreme poses of barbarism to which some intellectuals had condemned them. Instead, women used literary and political texts to surpass the tightly outlined roles assigned to them. Beginning with literary and journalistic texts written by and about women from the time of Sarmiento, Francine Masiello traces strategic shifts in the discourse on gender at moments of national crisis. She considers not only novels and guides to female behavior written by and for privileged women but also newspapers and political tracts produced by women of the working class. Extending her study into the urban expansion and modernization of the 1920s, Masiello explores the nature of gender relations posited in treatises on crime and public disorder and in the texts of avant garde and social realist writers. In addressing such representations of women as well as the effects of ideology and history on writing, Masiello offers bold new insights into the development of Latin American women's literature and illuminates the role of women in forming the culture of present day Argentina.

Childhood in the Works of Silvina Ocampo and Alejandra Pizarnik Fiona Joy Mackintosh, 2003. In the final analysis, Ocampo's works achieve equilibrium between childhood and age, whereas Pizarnik's much-discussed poetic crisis of exile from language itself parallels her deep sense of anxiety at being exiled from the world of childhood.

Feeling Strangely in Mid-Century Spanish and Latin American Women's Fiction Tess C. Rankin, 2023-12-15. An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library as part of the Opening the Future project with COPIM. The early twentieth century was awash in revolutionary scientific discourse and its uptake in the public imaginary through popular scientific writings touched every area of human experience from politics and governance to social mores and culture. Feeling Strangely argues that these shifting scientific understandings and their integration into Hispanic and Lusophone society reshaped the experience of gender. The book analyzes gender as a felt experience and explores how that experience is shaped by popular scientific discourse by examining the strange femininity of young protagonists in four novels written by women in Spanish and Portuguese: Rosa Chacel's Memorias de Leticia Valle (published in Argentina in 1945), Norah Lange's Personas en la sala (Argentina 1950), Carmen Laforet's Nada (Spain 1945), and Clarice Lispector's Perto do cora o selvagem (Brazil 1943). It pairs each novel with a broad scientific theme selected from those that captured the contemporary popular imagination to argue that the young female protagonists in these novels all put forth visions of young womanhood as an experience of strangeness. Building on Carmen Martín Gaité's term chicas raras, Rankin proposes this strangeness as constitutive of a gendered experience inextricable from affective and material engagements with the world

A Narrative Biography of Horacio Quiroga, the Lone Anarchist Wilson Alves-Bezerra, 2023-10-16 This book is a unique and definitive biography in English of the Uruguayan Argentinian short story writer Horacio Quiroga 1878 1937 known as the Latin American Poe Written in amusing prose and with an academic background which can be an important reference for the public in general as well as to Latin American literature researchers all over the world it is an up to date narrative biography by a Brazilian writer and researcher who has dedicated the last twenty years to Quiroga's translation and research The research uses several unknown or lesser known documents as well as newspapers and magazines from the beginning of the 20th century found in libraries and archives in Argentina Brazil Germany and Uruguay The book is written against a contemporary background and focusses on the humanization of Quiroga and the participation of until now marginalized women in his personal and public life such as Alfonsina Storni and Norah Lange allowing the construction of an image which is less monumental and more complex in its contradictions

Performing Women and Modern Literary Culture in Latin America Vicky Unruh, 2009-06-03 Women have always been the muses who inspire the creativity of men but how do women become the creators of art themselves This was the challenge faced by Latin American women who aspired to write in the 1920s and 1930s Though women's roles were opening up during this time women writers were not automatically welcomed by the Latin American literary avant gardes whose male members viewed women's participation in tertulias literary gatherings and publications as uncommon and even forbidding How did Latin American women writers celebrated by male writers as the New Eve but distrusted as fellow creators find their intellectual homes and fashion their artistic missions In this innovative book Vicky Unruh explores how women writers of the vanguard period often gained access to literary life as public performers Using a novel interdisciplinary synthesis of performance theory she shows how Latin American women's work in theatre poetry declamation song dance oration witty display and bold journalistic self portraiture helped them craft their public personas as writers and shaped their singular forms of analytical thought cultural critique and literary style Concentrating on eleven writers from Argentina Brazil Cuba Mexico Peru and Venezuela Unruh demonstrates that as these women identified themselves as instigators of change rather than as passive muses they unleashed penetrating critiques of projects for social and artistic modernization in Latin America
