Packard Ask The Man Who Owned One:

Packard Jack Mercer, 2025-07-03 For decades Packard stood as the undisputed symbol of American luxury engineering brilliance and understated refinement From its beginnings in Ohio at the dawn of the automotive age to its rise as one of Detroit's premier automakers Packard captured the imagination of the public and the respect of engineers around the world Its cars graced the driveways of presidents titans of industry and discerning drivers who sought excellence without compromise But as the American automobile industry shifted in the postwar years Packard faced challenges it could not overcome fierce competition changing consumer tastes and the brutal realities of industrial consolidation The company's eventual merger with Studebaker and its quiet disappearance marked the end of an era Packard Ask the Man Who Owned One charts the complete history of this remarkable company in meticulous narrative driven detail From breakthrough innovations and world wars to design triumphs and boardroom missteps this book paints a vivid portrait of one of the most storied names in motoring history and the enduring legacy it left behind "Ask the Man Who Owns One" Arthur W. Einstein, Jr., 2014-01-10 A major force in the American automobile scene through the 1950s Packard made a mark on American advertising as well The cars themselves seemed built for promotion the red hexagon in the hubcap the yoke grille and the half arrow belt line molding acted as a logo of sorts setting a new standard in visual continuity and branding The company's image became so firmly established in fact that Packard eventually ran advertisements which pictured the cars but purposely omitted the name instead asking readers to guess what name it bears This book traces Packard's advertising history from 1900 through 1958 based on original research that includes several first hand interviews with the people who made it happen Filled with reproductions of Packard ads some in color the book looks beyond the surface to examine how the advertisements reflect and interpret the company's management and business convictions how they were influenced by business conditions and competitive pressure and how they changed with the times The New Yorker Harold Wallace Ross, William Shawn, Katharine Sergeant Angell White, Tina Brown, Rea Irvin, 1928 Theatre Magazine W.
