Paediatric Audiological Medicine:

Paediatric Audiological Medicine Valerie E. Newton, 2008-12-30 Professionals will find a wide range of topics relevant to their work with hearing impaired children or those suspected of having an impairment in this book. A chapter on epidemiology includes the prevalence of hearing impairment and several additional chapters are devoted to the various causative factors. Detection of a hearing loss, measurement of the degree of hearing loss and identification of the site of lesion are covered together with management of any hearing loss found. Individual chapters give coverage to balance disorders, tinnitus, progressive hearing loss, auditory neuropathy, central auditory processing disorders and unilateral hearing impairment. Methods of communication, communication disorders and the psychological effects of a hearing impairment are included together with consideration of education and employment issues.

Paediatric Audiological Medicine Valerie E. Newton, 2002-04-15 All professionals working with hearing impaired children will find topics of particular interest in this wide-ranging volume written by leading international experts. Coverage includes basic audiological sciences, screening, diagnosis and management. Chapters on epidemiology, tinnitus, central auditory processing, balance disorders, progressive hearing loss, communication and education are among the varied topics included in the twenty-five chapters which make up this comprehensive text.

The Medical Practitioner's Guide to Paediatric Audiology Barry McCormick, 1995-06-08 This is simple, clear and quick reference guide to paediatric audiology for medical practitioners.

Audiology services Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Health Committee, 2007-05-16 One in seven people in England suffer from hearing loss of some kind and the advent of digital hearing aids proved of great benefit to many patients. The Modernising Hearing Aid Services (MHAS) programme to improve audiology services introduced in 2000 aimed to provide NHS patients with digital hearing aids. But the demand from people upgrading from older models was not predicted and this led to very long waiting lists and times. The Committee regards the Government's new framework for audiology. Improving access to audiology services in England. Dept of Health. March 2007. <http://www.18weeks.nhs.uk/public/default.aspx?main=true&load=ArticleViewer&ArticleId=570> as primarily reiterating previous announcements. A main concern is that audiology is kept outside the 18-week referral to treatment target that applies to consultant-led services which compounds the waiting time problem. There is a need to increase capacity and the Department of Health should undertake an examination of the medium and long-term demand for digital hearing aids. The Committee notes the variation in practice in NHS audiology departments and believes many could operate more efficiently. They should examine the skill mix and levels of training or experience necessary and look at more flexible approaches to service provision. The report also comments on the involvement of the private sector to provide additional capacity and the entry into the market of others such as opticians. The private services need to be monitored and the quality of care assessed on the same basis as that used for the NHS.

Hearing and Balance Disorders Royal College of Physicians of London, 2008 This report discusses the manpower requirements for the care of adults and children and outlines improvement in training across all levels of disciplines
