1. The first step in the process of the investigation is the identification of the problem. This is done by the investigator who is responsible for the investigation.
 The investigator must identify the problem and then determine the cause of the problem.
 The investigator must also determine the scope of the problem and the resources available to solve the problem. The investigator must then develop a plan to solve the problem. The plan must be based on the facts of the case and the resources available. The plan must be realistic and achievable. The plan must also be flexible enough to allow for changes as the investigation progresses.
 The investigator must then implement the plan and monitor the progress of the investigation. The investigator must be able to adjust the plan as needed.
 The investigator must also be able to communicate the results of the investigation to the appropriate authorities. The investigator must be able to provide a clear and concise summary of the findings of the investigation. The investigator must also be able to provide recommendations for the prevention of future problems. The investigator must be able to provide a clear and concise summary of the findings of the investigation.
 The investigator must also be able to provide recommendations for the prevention of future problems.
