Goode, 1997 Private Fire Matthew James Babcock, 2011-04-18 Matthew J Babcock's Private Fire Robert Francis's Ecopoetry and Prose is an examination of the life and work of one of America's most intriguing but tragically obscure writers Babcock uses his own personal relationship Robert Francis s work which emphasizes conservation and connectedness to our natural surroundings to illuminate both overtones and nuances that are undoubtedly useful to those interested in poetry and ecology Babcock begins with a brief biographical section intended to set the tone for readers previously unfamiliar with Robert Francis and then continues into an analysis of the influence of Emily Dickinson and Robert Frost on Francis's work Starting in Chapter Three Private Fire shifts into the realm of literary analysis and discusses various angles of Francis s work from representations of gender and sexual identity prose contributions both fiction and non fiction religion and politics to themes of conservation place making experimental poetic styles and asceticism finishing with a discussion of Francis's only long narrative poem Valhalla This poem joins other prophetic works in musing upon environmental apocalypticism Matthew J Babcock finishes this detailed and thoughtful volume with concluding meditations that situate Robert Francis with his contemporaries helping readers to locate him historically and contextually amongst other 20th century writers By using biography and literary theory as the lens through which one interprets Francis s work Private Fire Robert Francis s Ecopoetry and Prose successfully navigates the literary and cultural environment surrounding a poet who himself was so connected with the world around him NewPages, 2005

The Muse is Music Meta DuEwa Jones, 2011 This wide ranging ambitiously interdisciplinary study traces jazz s influence on African American poetry from the Harlem Renaissance to contemporary spoken word poetry Examining established poets such as Langston Hughes Ntozake Shange and Nathaniel Mackey as well as a generation of up and coming contemporary writers and performers Meta DuEwa Jones highlights the intersections of race gender and sexuality within the jazz tradition and its representation in poetry Applying prosodic analysis to emphasize the musicality of African American poetic performance she examines the gendered meanings evident in collaborative performances and in the criticism images and sounds circulating within jazz cultures Jones also considers poets who participated in contemporary venues for black writing such as the Dark Room Collective and the Cave Canem Foundation including Harryette Mullen Elizabeth Alexander and Carl Phillips Incorporating a finely honed discussion of the Black Arts Movement the poetry jazz fusion of the late 1950s and slam and spoken word performance milieus such as Def Poetry Jam she focuses on jazz and hip hop influenced performance artists including Tracie Morris Saul Williams and Jessica Care Moore Through attention to cadence rhythm and structure The Muse is Music fills a gap in literary scholarship by attending to issues of gender in jazz and poetry and by analyzing recordings of poets both with and without musical accompaniment Applying the methodology of textual close reading to a critical close listening of American poetry's resonant soundscape Jones's analyses include exploring the formal innovation and gueer performance of Langston Hughes's recorded collaboration with jazz musicians delineating the relationship between punctuation and performance in the post soul John Coltrane poem and closely examining jazz improvisation and hip hop stylization An elaborate articulation of the connections between jazz poetry and spoken word and gender The Muse Is Music offers valuable criticism of specific texts and performances and a convincing argument about the shape of jazz and African American poetic performance in the contemporary era Painted Bride Quarterly Print Annual 2 Marion Wrenn, 2004
