Painting Forever Tony Tuckson, Tim Fisher, Terence Maloon, National Gallery of Australia, 2000 Painting forever forms part of the National Gallery of Australia's extensive travelling exhibition programs Painting Forever National Gallery of Australia, Tony Tuckson, 2002* "Australian Art and Artists in London, 1950-1965" Simon Pierse, 2017-07-05 Subtle and wide ranging in its account this study explores the impact of Australian art in Britain in the two decades following the end of World War II and preceding the Swinging Sixties In a transitional period of decolonization in Britain Australian painting was briefly seized upon as a dynamic and reinvigorating force in contemporary art and a group of Australian artists settled in London where they held centre stage with group and solo exhibitions in the capital's most prestigious galleries The book traces the key influences of Sir Kenneth Clark Bernard Smith and Bryan Robertson in their various and varying roles as patrons ideologues and entrepreneurs for Australian art as well as the self definition and interaction of the artists themselves Simon Pierse interweaves multiple issues of the period into a cohesive historical narrative including the mechanics of the British art world the limited and frustrating cultural scene of 1950s Australia and the conservative influence of Australian government bodies Publishing for the first time archival material letters and photographs previously unavailable to scholars either in Britain or Australia this book demonstrates how the work of expatriate Australian artists living in London constructed a distinct vision of Australian identity for a foreign market Australian Art and Artists in London, 1950-1965 Simon Pierse, 2012 Subtle and wide ranging in its account this study explores the impact of Australian art in Britain in the two decades following the end of World War II and preceding the Swinging Sixties Publishing for the first time previously unavailable archival material this book demonstrates how the work of these expatriate artists constructed a distinct vision of Australian identity for a foreign market Becoming Art Howard Morphy, 2020-08-28 Thirty years ago Australian Aboriginal art was little more than a footnote to world art Today it is considered to be an important contemporary art movement often promoted as being connected to a deep cultural past Becoming Art provides a new analysis of the shifting cultural and social contexts that surround the production of Aboriginal art Transcending the boundaries between anthropology and art history the book draws on arguments from both disciplines to provide a unique interdisciplinary perspective that places the artists themselves at the centre of the argument Western art history has traditionally regarded Aboriginal art as distanced from time and place Becoming Art uses the recent history of Aboriginal art to challenge some of the presuppositions of western art discourse and western art worlds It argues for a more cross cultural perspective on world art history Aboriginal Art and Australian Society Laura Fisher, 2016-05-30 This book is an investigation of the way the Aboriginal art phenomenon has been entangled with Australian society's negotiation of Indigenous people's status within the nation Through critical reflection on Aboriginal art's idiosyncrasies as a fine arts movement its vexed relationship with money and its mediation of the politics of identity and recognition this study illuminates the mutability of Aboriginal art's meanings in different settings

It reveals that this mutability is a consequence of the fact that a range of governmental activist and civil society projects have appropriated the art's vitality and metonymic power in national public culture and that Aboriginal art is as much a phenomenon of visual and commercial culture as it is an art movement. Throughout these examinations Fisher traces the utopian and dystopian currents of thought that have crystallised around the Aboriginal art movement and which manifest the ethical conundrums that underpin the settler state condition.

Grace Crowley's Contribution to Australian Modernism and Geometric Abstraction Dianne Ottley, 2010-02-19 Grace Crowley has been recognized as a product of European modernism and was one of the leading innovators of geometric abstraction in Australia. Having studied in Paris in the 1920s with one of the leading art teachers, writers and theorists Andr   Lhote, she returned to Australia having mastered the complex mathematics and geometry of the golden section and dynamic symmetry that had become a framework for modernism. Through her teaching of these compositional techniques at the most progressive modern art school in Sydney in the 1930s, she became a crucial influence on the group of artists now recognized as the historical forerunners to American colour field painting introduced to Australia in the 1960s and Australian abstraction. Through her close friendship with Anne Dangar, who played a critical role in the success of Albert Gleizes' utopian art colony in rural France, Crowley maintained contact with mainstream European modernism and links to the Abstraction-Creation Group in Paris. During the 1940s and 1950s, Crowley worked with fellow artist Ralph Balson and together they developed their own style of geometric abstract art which reflected the spiritual dimensions of Kandinsky and Mondrian. Although undervalued in her own time, the sincerity and uncompromising quality of her work that transcends national boundaries makes her one of the most important Australian women artists of her generation.

Searching for Gaia Norbert Lynton, Guy Warren, John McDonald, 2003 Offers an artist's view of life and art in Sydney during the better part of the 20th century. His career began in pre-war Sydney, continued in war-time Bougainville, then in post-war England and back in Sydney. Documents the life and works of a Sydney artist who has witnessed the transition from modernism to post-modernism.

Art History and Anthropology Peter Probst, Joseph Imorde, 2023-12-12 An in-depth and nuanced look at the complex relationship between two dynamic fields of study. While today we are experiencing a revival of world art and the so-called global turn of art history, encounters between art historians and anthropologists remain rare. Even after a century and a half of interactions between these epistemologies, a skeptical distance prevails with respect to the disciplinary other. This volume is a timely exploration of the roots of this complex dialogue as it emerged worldwide in the colonial and early postcolonial periods between 1870 and 1970. Exploring case studies from Australia, Austria, Brazil, France, Germany and the United States, this volume addresses connections and rejections between art historians and anthropologists often in the contested arena of primitive art. It examines the roles of a range of figures including the art historian/anthropologist Aby Warburg, the modernist artist Tarsila do Amaral, the curator/impresario Leo Frobenius and museum directors such as Alfred Barr and Ren   d'Harnoncourt. Entering the current debates on decolonizing the past this collection of essays prompts reflection on future relations between these two fields      Australian Art in the National Gallery of Australia National Gallery of Australia, Anne Gray, 2002 This broad sweeping survey of the National Gallery's paintings sculptures drawings prints photographs and decorative arts and design collections features more than 400 works Indigenous and non Indigenous works are represented with iconic favourites such as Sidney Nolan's Ned Kelly series set alongside important but lesser known acquisitions The works are arranged in chronological order from 1770 to 2002 Pre colonial and Colonial through to Art Now Insightful essays from over 50 artists curators and scholars range from personal reflections by artists discussing their own works to more discursive or critical commentaries placing works in their historical context      Asian Art News ,2001      Tony Tuckson, Twenty Paintings on Canvas 1947?-1957?.
