in terms of national traditions This volume takes a different approach suggesting instead that a history of art based on national divisions often obscures the processes of cultural appropriation and global exchange that shaped the visual arts of Europe in fundamental ways between 1492 and the early twentieth century Essays here analyze distinct zones of contact between various European states between Asia and Europe or between Europe and so called primitive cultures in Africa the Americas and the South Pacific focusing mainly but not exclusively on painting drawing or the decorative arts Each case foregrounds the centrality of international borrowings or colonial appropriations and counters conceptions of European art as a pure tradition uninfluenced by the artistic forms of other cultures The contributors analyze the social cultural commercial and political conditions of cultural contact including tourism colonialism religious pilgrimage trade missions and scientific voyages that enabled these exchanges well before the modern age of globalization Contributors Claire Farago University of Colorado at Boulder Elisabeth A Fraser University of South Florida Julie Hochstrasser University of Iowa Christopher Johns Vanderbilt University Carol Mavor University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Mary D Sheriff University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Lyneise E Williams University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Art and Culture in the Eighteenth Century Elise Goodman, 2001 This study joins the resurgent scholarship presently redressing the neglect of eighteenth century visual culture since the beginning of the twentieth century This volume offers nine contextual and cross disciplinary essays that engage with a rich panoply of discourses ranging from art criticism to biography to collecting and the art market to art theory and practice and the institutions that shaped them to beauty and fashion sociopolitical and philosophical issues gender studies patronage iconography and print culture *Later Italian art, from the sixteenth to the eighteenth century.
