Anatomists of Empire Ross L Jones, 2020-04-17 The 20th century anatomists Grafton Elliot Smith Frederic Wood Jones and Arthur Keith travelled the globe collecting cataloguing and constructing morphologies of the biological world with the aim of weaving these into a new vision of bio ecology that links humans to their deep past as well as their evolutionary niche They dissected human bodies and scrutinised the living explaining for the first time the intricacies of human biology They placed the body in its environment and gave it a history thus creating an ecological synthesis in striking contrast to the model of humanity that they inherited as students Their version of human development and history profoundly influenced public opinion as they wrote prolifically for the press they published bestsellers on human origins and evolution they spoke eloquently at public meetings and on the radio They wanted their anatomical insight to shape public policy And by changing popular views of race and environment they moulded attitudes as to what it meant to be human in a post Darwinian world thus providing a potent critique of racism Journal of the Historical Society of South Australia Historical Society of South Australia,2000 A

Brief History of Slavery Jeremy Black,2011-08-18 A thought provoking and important book that raises essential issues crucial not only for understanding our past but also the present day In this panoramic history Jeremy Black tells how slavery was first developed in the ancient world and reaches all the way to the present in the form of contemporary crimes such as trafficking and bonded labour He shows how slavery has taken many forms throughout history and across the world from the uprising of Spartacus the plantations of the West Indies and the murderous forced labour of the gulags and concentration camps Slavery helped to consolidate transoceanic empires and helped mould new world societies such as America and Brazil Black charts the long fight for abolition in the nineteenth century looking at both the campaigners as well as the harrowing accounts of the enslaved themselves Slavery is still with us today and coerced labour can be found closer to home than one might expect A History of Criminal Law in New South Wales Gregory D. Woods,2002 New South Wales is that rare political creation a state founded for and upon the criminal law The history of its criminal law from settlement to Federation is uniquely fascinating Drawing on his range of experience as a university scholar a criminal law QC and a judge the author explains how Britain's criminal laws were established and developed in its arguably most successful colony There are three themes the horror and savagery of the criminal law transported to Australia and imposed there the constitutional importance of basic criminal law rules requiring certainty of proof the corrupt but necessary role of mercy in the administration of the law There are several genuinely remarkable features of this book One is that the author draws upon a vast body of material recently brought to light by Bruce Kercher in his massive disinterment of early colonial case law to explain in detail the actual working of the New South Wales criminal courts Another is that the core of the book is an analysis of New South Wales parliamentary debates between 1871 and 1883 on criminal law illuminating the history of the law and its future Yet the most remarkable thing of all about this book is its rarity In the many places where the British Empire imposed its laws there are hundreds of universities and centres of legal study Histories of the criminal law or studies which can be so described are rare or invisible This admirable study will become a classic in its field required reading by legal scholars historians of colony and empire and by astute legal practitioners making arguments for contemporary submissions or judgments The second volume Woods 2018 continues the still fascinating story from 1901 when the colony became a state through until mid 20th century when the death penalty was effectively abolished Ginger for Pluck Jennifer M. T. Carter, Roger Cross, 2013 Sydney geologist Georgina King 1845 1932 gave her life to science and was rewarded with every kind of skulduggery to prevent her success The tall red haired unmarried Miss King was excluded by the professionals the all male Royal Society of New South Wales Famous scientific worthies quite likely stole her work Her denunciations were loud Through determination and persistence Georgina King acquired an honourable place in the history of science and the women s place in it This book tells her intriguing tale Tulagi Clive Moore, 2019-09-24 Tulagi was the capital of the British Solomon Islands Protectorate between 1897 and 1942 The British withdrawal from the island during the Pacific War its capture by the Japanese and the American reconquest left the island s facilities damaged beyond repair After the war Britain moved the capital to the American military base on Guadalcanal which became Honiara The Tulagi settlement was an enclave of several small islands the permanent population of which was never more than 600 300 foreigners one third of European origin and most of the remainder Chinese and an equivalent number of Solomon Islanders Thousands of Solomon Islander males also passed through on their way to work on plantations and as boat crews hospital patients and prisoners The history of the Tulagi enclave provides an understanding of the origins of modern Solomon Islands Tulagi was also a significant outpost of the British Empire in the Pacific which enables a close analysis of race sex and class and the process of British colonisation and government in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Multicultural Curriculum Transformation in Social Studies and Civic Education Kenneth J. Fasching-Varner, Kerri J. Tobin, Norma A. Marrun, Iesha Jackson, Christine Clark, 2021-07-12 This book focuses on multicultural curriculum transformation in social studies and civic education subject areas The discussion of each area outlines critical considerations for multicultural curriculum transformation for the area by grade level and then by eight organizing tools including content standards relationships with and among students and their families and evaluation of student learning and teaching effectiveness The volume is designed to speak with PK 12 teachers as colleagues in the multicultural curriculum transformation work Readers are exposed to things to think about but also given curricular examples to work with or from in going about the actual concrete work of curriculum change This work supports PK 12 teachers to independently multiculturally adapt existing curriculum to create new multicultural curriculum differentiated by content areas and grade levels and by providing ample examples of what such multicultural transformed social studies and civic education curricula looks like in practice Fate Knows No Tears Mary Talbot Cross, 2008-11-15 Author Mary Talbot Cross recreates the life of poet Violet Nicolson a courageous and outspoken woman who found fame in 1901 writing under the pseudonym Laurence Hope Nicolson s three volumes of poetry in which she evoked echoes of India s fascinating past and her passionate accounts of forbidden liaisons and sensuous jasmine laden nights sent shock waves through the polite Edwardian society of the day Violence and Colonial Dialogue Tracey Banivanua Mar, 2006-12-31 During the post abolition period a trade in cheap and often cost neutral labor flourished in the western Pacific For more than forty years it supplied tens of thousands of indentured laborers to the sugar industry of northeastern Australia Violence and Colonial Dialogue tells the story of its impact on the people who were traded From the beaches and shallows of the Pacific s frontiers to the plantations and settlements of Queensland and beyond a collective tale of the pioneers of today s Australian South Sea Island community is told through an abundant and effective use of materials that characterize the colonial record including police registers court records prison censuses administrative reports legislative debates and oral histories With a thematic focus on the physical violence that was central to the experience of people who were voluntarily or involuntarily recruited the history that emerges is a powerful tale that is at once both tragic and triumphant Violence and Colonial Dialogue also tells a more universal story of colonization Set mostly in the British settler colony of Queensland during the last forty years of the nineteenth century it explores the brutality embedded in the structures of a colonial state while attempting to recover the stories that such processes obscured

Making Mala Clive Moore, 2017-04-10 Malaita is one of the major islands in the Solomons Archipelago and has the largest population in the Solomon Islands nation Its people have an undeserved reputation for conservatism and aggression Making Mala argues that in essence Malaitans are no different from other Solomon Islanders and that their dominance both in numbers and their place in the modern nation can be explained through their recent history A grounding theme of the book is its argument that far from being conservative Malaitan religions and cultures have always been adaptable and have proved remarkably flexible in accommodating change This has been the secret of Malaitan success Malaitans rocked the foundations of the British protectorate during the proto-nationalist Maasina Rule movement in the 1940s and the early 1950s have heavily engaged in internal migration particularly to urban areas and were central to the Tension Years between 1998 and 2003 Making Mala reassesses Malaita s history demolishes undeserved tropes and uses historical and cultural analyses to explain Malaitans place in the Solomon Islands nation today
