Collecting Prints and Drawings Sylvia Heudecker, Andrea M. Gáldy, 2019-01-22 Cabinets of prints and drawings are found in the earliest art collections of Early Modern Europe From the sixteenth century onwards some of them acquired such fame that the necessity for an ordered and scientific display meant that a dedicated keeper was occasionally employed to ensure that fellow enthusiasts as well as visiting diplomats courtiers and artists might have access to the print room Often collected and displayed together with drawings the prints formed a substantial part of princely collections which sometimes achieved astounding longevity as a specialised group of collectibles such as the Florentine Gabinetto Disegni e Stampe at the Uffizi GDSU Prints and drawings both bought and commissioned were collected by princes and by private amateurs Like the rest of their collections the prints and drawings were usually preserved and displayed as part of or near the owner's library in close proximity to scientific instruments cut gems or small sculptural works of art Both prints and drawings not only documented an encyclopaedic approach to the knowledge available at the time but also depicted parts of the collections in the form of a paper museum Prints and drawings also served as a guide to the collections They spread their fame and the renown of their owners across Europe and into new worlds of collecting both East and West This volume explores issues such as when how and why did cabinets of prints and drawings become a specialised part of princely and private collections How important were collections of prints and drawings for the self representation of a prince or connoisseur among specialists and social peers Is the presentation of a picture hanging in a gallery for example by Charles Eisen for the Royal Galleries at Dresden to be treated as documentary evidence Are there notable differences in the approach to collecting presentation and preservation of prints and drawings in diverse parts of the world What was the afterlife of such collections up to the present day

Art & Architecture Swann Galleries, 1982 The Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, 1909 New York (State), 1909 American Art Directory Florence Nightingale Levy, 1905 American Art Annual, 1905 Art Nouveau Gabriel P. Weisberg, Elizabeth K. Menon, 2013-09-05 First published in 1998 Design reform in the fields of architecture and the decorative or applied arts became objectified through writings published during the period of 1885 to 1910 This investigation includes but is not limited to Art Nouveau in France and Belgium and the arts and crafts movement in England and the United States Even though the similar processes of creativity and shared goals of Art Nouveau and the arts and crafts movement have long been recognized attempts to explore their origins and their points of interrelation with the broader scope of art history have been largely unsuccessful until now

The Art of Ancient Greece J. J. Pollitt, 1990 This book a companion volume to Professor Pollitt's The Art of Rome Sources and Documents published by the Press in 1983 presents a comprehensive collection in translation of ancient literary evidence relating to Greek sculpture painting architecture and the decorative arts Its purpose is to make this important evidence available to students who are not specialists in the Classical languages or Classical archaeology The author's translations of a wide selection of Greek and Latin texts are accompanied by an introduction explanatory commentary and a full bibliography. An earlier version of this book was published twenty five years ago by Prentice Hall. In this new publication Professor Pollitt has added a considerable number of new passages, revised some of his earlier translations and presented the texts in a different order which allows the reader to follow more easily the development of sculpture and painting as perceived by the ancient writers. The new and substantial bibliography organised by topics as they appear in the book emphasises works that deal directly with the literary sources or that supplement our knowledge of the personalities and monuments described in the sources. This collection will be welcomed by students and teachers of Greek art who have long been in need of an authoritative and reliable sourcebook for their subject.

Rookwood and the American Indian Anita J. Ellis, Susan L. Meyn, 2007 The nation's premier private collection of Rookwood art pottery featuring American Indian portraiture is on display at the Cincinnati Art Museum from October 2007 to January 2008. Rookwood and the American Indian Masterpieces of American Art Pottery from the James J. Gardner Collection is a remarkable exhibition catalogue that will be of interest well beyond the exhibition because of its unique subject matter. Fifty two pieces produced by the Rookwood Pottery Company are showcased, many accompanied by black and white photographs of the American Indians portrayed by the ceramic artist. In addition, the catalogue includes a brief biography of each artist as well as curators' comments about the Rookwood pottery and the Indian apparel seen in the portraits. The catalogue also presents two essays. The first, Enduring Encounters: Cincinnatians and American Indians to 1900 by ethnologist and co-curator Susan Labry Meyn describes American Indian activities in Cincinnati from the time of the first settlers to 1900 and relates these events to national policy such as the 1830 Indian Removal Act. Rookwood and the American Indian by art historian Anita J. Ellis concentrates on Rookwood's fascination with the American Indian and the economic implications of producing that line. Rookwood and the American Indian blends anthropology with art history to reveal the relationships between the white settlers and the Native Americans in general, between Cincinnati and the American Indian in particular, and ultimately between Rookwood artists and their Indian friends.

Chickens are now the most scientifically engineered of livestock. How have the methods used by geneticists differed from those employed by domestic breeders over time? Art and Science in Breeding details the relationship between farm practices and agricultural genetics in poultry breeding from 1850 to 1960. Margaret E. Derry traces the history and organization of chicken breeding in North America from craft approaches and breeding as an art to the conflicts that had emerged between traditional and scientific methods by the 1940s. Derry assesses links between the scientific revolution of chicken farming and the development of corporate breeding as a modern international industry. Using poultry as a case study for the wider narrative of agricultural genetics Art and Science in Breeding adds considerable knowledge to a rapidly growing field of inquiry
