□□□□ □□,1993 1938 A History of Chinese Art in the 20th and 21st Century Lü Peng,2025-02-03 This book situates the development of 20th and 21st century Chinese art in such fundamental contexts as Chinese politics and social change and is ideally suited for readers to understand the particularities of Chinese art that are distinct from Western art history. Such an approach is appropriate to the understanding of the development of modern Chinese art which differs from both the Western approach to art history and the approach to traditional Chinese art which is limited to the combining of ink and brush heritage and ideological traditions. Based on the scale and influence of historical works considering the specificity of the term involving fine art in China and the scope of influence of the phenomenon of fine art in the cultural field, this book's study of the phenomena of painting, sculpture, photography, video, and mixed media art follows two linear time lines of historical relevance: 1949-1978 and 1978 to the present. Special attention is paid to the development of modern and contemporary art after 1978. The main readers of this book are undergraduate students in art schools, graduate and doctoral students in art history, students in other humanities disciplines, experts and professors in the study of 20th century Chinese art and cultural history. This book should be important reading for all those who are interested in the history of Chinese art.

The Bureaucracy in the Song Period Deng Xiaonan,2025-06-30 The bureaucracy has always played a crucial role in the exercise of political power and how officials are appointed is directly related to the effectiveness of state governance. This book conducts a clear and structured study of the complex personnel management system in imperial China. It examines the main features of the official appointment system in the Song dynasty (960-1279), such as the separation of official ranks and their duties, the agencies and regulations for appointing officials, the merit rating system, the coexistence of seniority and functional rank in the recruitment and selection of officials, and other important procedures including the recommendation system, the evaluation for reassignment system, and the system of appointments to commissions. Focusing on both the institutional regulations and their practical implementation and effectiveness, the book reveals many contradictions and coping mechanisms in the Song dynasty's personnel management system. This book will appeal to scholars and students of Song dynasty history, personnel administration, and civil service.

messages current at court As the result a sophisticated language of Chinese animal painting was developed employing both the animals symbolic associations and homonymic puns Hou mei Sung s exciting rediscovery of some of these lost meanings has led to a full scale investigation of the evolving history of Chinese animal painting Distinct symbolic meanings were associated with individual motifs but all animals were assigned a place in the universe according to the Chinese concept of nature From the very early yin yang cosmology to later developments of Daoist and Confucian philosophies and ethics Chinese animals gained new meanings related to their historical contexts This book explores these new findings using the colorful animal images and their rich and evolving symbolic meanings to gain insight into unique aspects of Chinese art as well as Chinese culture and history Exhibition Schedule Cincinnati Museum of Art October 2009 February 2010 The Formation of the Chinese Communist Party Yoshihiro Ishikawa, 2012-11-13 Official Chinese narratives recounting the rise of the Chinese Communist Party CCP tend to minimize the movement s international associations Conducting careful readings and translations of recently released documents in Russian Japanese and Chinese Ishikawa Yoshihiro builds a portrait of the party s multifaceted character revealing the provocative influences that shaped the movement and the ideologies of its competitors Making use of public and private documents and research Ishikawa begins the story in 1919 with Chinese intellectuals who wrote extensively under pen names and in fact plagiarized or translated many iconic texts of early Chinese Marxism Chinese Marxists initially drew intellectual sustenance from their Japanese counterparts until Japan clamped down on leftist activities The Chinese then turned to American and British sources Ishikawa traces these networks through an exhaustive survey of journals newspapers and other intellectual and popular publications He reports on numerous early meetings involving a range of groups only some of which were later funneled into CCP membership and he follows the developments at Soviet Russian gatherings attended by a number of Chinese representatives who claimed to speak for a nascent CCP Concluding his narrative in 1922 one year after the party s official founding Ishikawa clarifies a traditionally opaque period in Chinese history and sheds new light on the subsequent behavior and attitude of the party Turbulent

M. Kau, Susan H. Marsh, 1993 The product of an international academic conference held at Brown U in November 1987 this volume provides a comprehensive analysis and assessment of the nature pattern and trend of Deng Xiaoping s far reaching developmental reforms in the decade following the Third Plenum of the Eleventh Central Committee of the Chinese Communist Party in December 1978 The volume like the conference is in two parts In the first 12 research papers are presented by Western scholars each followed by comments from two or three participants In the second part a senior government official from Beijing outlines the reforms of the post Mao period followed by assessments of the policy implications of the reforms by officials from Tokyo Moscow and Washington Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Ancient and Early Medieval Chinese Literature (vol. 3 & 4), 2014-09-18 At last here is the long awaited first Western language reference guide focusing exclusively on Chinese literature from ca 700 B C E to the early seventh century C E Alphabetically organized it contains no less than 1095 entries on major and minor writers literary forms and schools and important Chinese literary terms In addition to providing authoritative information about each subject the compilers have taken meticulous care to include detailed up to date bibliographies and source information The reader will find it a treasure trove of historical accounts especially when browsing through the biographies of authors Indispensable for scholars and students of pre modern Chinese literature history and thought Part Three contains Xia Y Part Four contains the Z and an extensive index to the four volumes The Poetics of Appropriation David Palumbo-Liu, 1993-09-01 The poets of the Northern Song dynasty 960 1126 were writing after what was then and still is acknowledged to be the Golden Age of Chinese poetry the Tang dynasty 618 907 This study examines how these Song poets responded to their uncomfortable proximity to such impressive predecessors and reveals how their response shaped their literary art The author s focus is on the poetic theory and practice of the poet Huang Tingjian 1045-1105. This first full length study in English of one of the most difficult and complex poets of the classical Chinese tradition aims to provide the background for understanding better why Huang was so greatly admired especially by the outstanding literati of his age and why later scholars claim Huang is the characteristic Northern Song poet. The author concludes by considering how Huang's literary project resembles but ultimately differs from Western literary theories of influence and intertextuality.

The Stonewares of Yixing Kuei-hsiang Lo, 1986-01-01. Despite its beauty, individuality and variety of design, the red or brown unglazed stoneware produced at Yixing in Jiangsu Province has received less attention than other branches of Chinese ceramic art. The Yixing potters have always specialized in the making of teapots whose use became widespread during the Ming period as a result of the innovation of making tea from rolled leaves rather than using it in the fine ground powdered form in which it had previously been supplied.

THE EPICS OF CHINA Rinchindorji, Lang Ying, 2020-02-05. The Epics of China introduces selected epic traditions of China providing information about them, insights into their literary traditions and theories concerning their origins, historical development, cultural context, structure, bards and audiences. The book deals with both historical epics and contemporary living epic traditions. Examples are drawn from several of China's fifty-five official ethnic minority peoples, focusing on epics from various historical or present-day Mongol subgroups of North China, most notably Tibetan and Kirgiz, as well as epics from peoples of Southwest China such as the Zhuang, Yi, Miao, Dong, and Dai. Several chapters deal too with the early Turkic epics that once circulated in parts of northern China and Central Asia. On the whole, the book's chapters are grouped into three sections: early epics, small and medium length epics, and the great heroic epics. Jangar and Manas Epics from the North are mainly heroic narratives focusing on the exploits of martial heroes. They feature story lines centered on bride kidnapping, trials undergone by the suitor, and encounters with multi-headed demons, Mongol man-gods, one-eyed giants, and female demons of the underworld. Southern epics focus on tales of how early deities created the sky, earth, water, and land forms, and living beings, often listing specific plants, animals, and local tribes. Some of these epics involve female creator figures and many play out in a dynamic process that moves through phases of initial creation, destruction by fire, a second creation, a destructive flood, and the ultimate re-creation of the world as we now know it. There are also heroic epics from southern China, most notably from the Yi, Dai, and Miao.
