

Pale Blue Eyes

something about you fascinates me no human has ever managed to occupy my attention for so long is there something I can't see? or do you really flow like a song?

your eyes are full of secrets and your soul even more I watch you light your cigarettes you make my eyes feel soar

Is it real to feel so attached and so compelled could it be that we are a match or is this simply a spell?

I don't mind being lost in your eyes pale blue and oh so alive maybe with you I will never die take me away where we can survive

A Concordance to the Poems of John Keats Michael G. Becker, Robert J. Dilligan, Todd K. Bender, 2016-05-05 First published in 1981 A Concordance to the Poems of John Keats intended to provide the user with a volume suitable to the varying and increasingly specialised interests of scholarship This title offers a high degree of inclusiveness that attends to the poems and plays the emended and authoritative headings and virtually all of the variant readings considered substantive in the riches of the Keats manuscript materials This title will be of interest to students of literature Transnational Modernity and the Italian Reinvention of Walt Whitman, 1870-1945 Caterina Bernardini, 2021-07-15 Caterina Bernardini gauges the effects that Walt Whitman's poetry had in Italy from 1870 to 1945 the reactions it provoked the aesthetic and political agendas it came to sponsor and the creative responses it facilitated Particular attention is given to women writers and noncanonical writers often excluded from previous discussions in this area of study Bernardini also investigates the contexts and causes of Whitman's success abroad through the lives backgrounds beliefs and imaginations of the people who encountered his work Studying Whitman's reception from a transnational perspective shows how many countries were simultaneously carving out a new modernity in literature and culture In this sense Bernardini not only shows the interconnectedness of various international agents in understanding and contributing to the spread of Whitman's work but more largely illustrates a constellation of similar pre modernist and modernist sensibilities This stands in contrast to the notion of sudden innovation modernity was not easy to achieve and it did not imply a complete refusal of tradition Instead a continuous and fruitful negotiation between tradition and innovation not a sudden break with the literary past is at the very heart of the Italian and transnational reception of Whitman The book is grounded in archival studies and the examination of primary documents of noteworthy discovery The Magazine of Poetry, 1890 A Guide to Byron's Verse in Fifty Poems Richard Lansdown, 2025-07-16 This book extends our understanding of Lord Byron's poetry as opposed to his life and legend by offering fifty very short discussions of his best poems be they lyrics four cantos of poetic travelogue in Childe Harold's Pilgrimage narrative poems set in the Middle East and elsewhere dramas neoclassical Faustian or Biblical satires love songs or the seventeen cantos of his comic epic Don Juan The coverage is wide from the very beginning of Byron's career in Nottinghamshire to its very end in Greece and the approach is accessible giving readers something to think about rather than telling them what to think without explaining poems away The focus is sometimes biographical sometimes historical sometimes generic sometimes formalist but always the texts are chosen on the basis of their quality first and foremost The book is designed to be dipped into or read from cover to cover as the reader prefers and of course the choice of Byron's fifty best things will itself promote discussion of a poet who deserves to stand just behind Shakespeare alongside Chaucer Milton Pope and Wordsworth as one of the central figures in English verse
