Levine, 2023-03-24 Edward Conze's The Psychology of Mass Propaganda presents a commentary on the psychology of propaganda during the rise of fascism in Europe in the 1930s It discusses the conditions which generate vulnerability to misinformation in human societies and thus offers insight into how propaganda may be withstood Completed in 1939 during the period of Conze's own inflection from Marxist philosophy to Buddhist studies the original manuscript was never published and is now in print for the first time Presenting a unique historical perspective while also appealing to an acutely topical interest in the conditions under which autocracy and fascism arise the book examines the psychology of mass propaganda through copious contemporary and historical examples Conze focuses especially on recent news articles and the statements of the propagandists of many of the governments that would go on to participate in the Second World War including Germany Italy the USSR USA and UK all of which he interprets through the lens of recent psychological and historical research The book has been edited and includes a new introduction by Richard N Levine and Nathan H Levine also featuring a foreword by American legal scholar Laurence H Tribe and an afterword by actor director writer and Buddhist priest Peter Coyote This is a fascinating opportunity for scholars across several disciplines including political scientists and psychologists historians and sociologists to access one of Conze s previously unpublished works It will also be of importance to those interested in Conze s work on Buddhist philosophy and in the psychology of propaganda more broadly Report and Proceedings of the Convention International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union,1959

Christian Mysticism and Incarnational Theology Louise Nelstrop,Simon D. Podmore,2016-05-23 This book examines the relationship between transcendence and immanence within Christian mystical and apophatic writings Original essays from a range of leading established and emerging scholars in the field focus on the roles of language signs and images and consider how mystical theology might contribute to contemporary reflection on the Word incarnate This collection of essays re-examines works from such canonical figures as Eckhart Augustine Plotinus Pseudo Dionysius Nicolas of Cusa Teresa of Avila John of the Cross Julian of Norwich along with the philosophical thought of Iris Murdoch Jacques Lacan and Martin Heidegger and the contemporary phenomena of the Emerging Church Presenting new readings of key ideas in mystical theology and renewed engagement with the visionary and the everyday the therapeutic and the transformative these essays question how we might think about what may lie between transcendence and immanence      Person and Society in

American Thought Cornelius F. Murphy, 2007 Most studies of the development of American ideas concentrate upon the growth of our political values and institutions By contrast this unique work goes directly to the core philosophical issues surrounding our sense of personal and social identity It carefully examines the efforts of our major thinkers to elaborate a humanism adequate to our experience by breaking free from the theocentric cosmology imposed upon the nation by the New England Puritans As these reflections record the quest for a new understanding of human nature they also raise the possibility of a more comprehensive humanism grounded in a Catholic Christianity Person and Society in American Thought will be of interest to students and scholars in the disciplines of philosophy and religion as well as those of history sociology and literature Book Jacket      The New Catholic Dictionary Condé Benoist Pallen, John Joseph Wynne, 1929      Eliot's Dark

Angel Ronald Schuchard, 2001 Schuchard's critical study shows how Eliot's personal voice works through the sordid the bawdy the blasphemous and the horrific to create a moral world and the only theory of moral criticism in English literature The book also erodes conventional attitudes toward Eliot's intellectual and spiritual development
