Hunting the 1918 Flu Kirsty E. Duncan, 2006-08-19 In 1918 the Spanish flu epidemic swept the world and killed an estimated 20 to 40 million people in just one year more than the number that died during the four years of the First World War To this day medical science has been at a loss to explain the Spanish flu's origin Most virologists are convinced that sooner or later a similarly deadly flu virus will return with a vengeance thus anything we can learn from the 1918 flu may save lives in a new epidemic Responding to sustained interest in this medical mystery Hunting the 1918 Flu presents a detailed account of Kirsty Duncan's experiences as she organized an international multi discipline scientific expedition to exhume the bodies of a group of Norwegian miners buried in Svalbard all victims of the flu virus Constant throughout is her determination to honour the Norwegian laws and the Svalbard customs that treat the dead and the living with respect especially when a live virus if unearthed could kill millions Another theme of the book is the author's growing love for Svalbard and its people Duncan's narrative describes a large scale medical project to uncover genetic material from the Spanish flu it also reveals the turbulent politics of a group moving towards a goal where the egos were as strong as the stakes were high The author herself a medical geographer is very frank about her bruising emotional financial and professional experiences on the dark side of science Duncan raises questions not only about public health epidemiology the ethics of science and the rights of subjects but also about the role of age gender and privilege in science While her search for the virus has shown promising results it has also revealed the dangers of science itself being subsumed in the rush for personal acclaim his money on an expensive lawyer who said 2 days before the trial You are going to prison Dr Ernest Kelly replied How can I be imprisoned since I did nothing wrong His lawyer answered The prisons are full of people who did nothing wrong Terrified Ernest and his wife caught the next plane to Europe and spent the next 17 years living a new life in Spain until he was arrested and learned what it was like to live in a Spanish prison Extradited to Los Angeles on the advice of his lawyer he agreed to a plea bargain and pled guilty since he didn't have enough money for a trial The judge ignored the advice of the probation officer assigned by the court to evaluate Dr Kelly's case that he be released with time served and instead sentenced him to 2 years in prison and 2 years probation
