Metro-Roland,2016-02-24 Drawing upon the literature of landscape geography tourism studies cultural studies visual studies and philosophy this book offers a multi disciplinary approach to understanding the interaction between urban environments and tourists This is a necessary prerequisite for cities as they make themselves into enticing destinations and compete for tourists attention It argues that tourists make sense of and draw meaningful conclusions about the places in which they tour based upon the interpretation of the signs or elements encountered within the built environment elements such as graffiti and lamp posts The writings of the American pragmatist Charles S Peirce on interpretation provide the theoretical model for explaining the way in which mind and world or thoughts and objects result in tourists interacting with place This theoretical framework elucidates three applied studies undertaken with foreign visitors to the Hungarian capital of Budapest Based upon extensive ethnographic field work these studies focus on tourists interpretation of the urban landscape with particular attention paid to the encounters with national culture the role of architecture and the importance of the prosaic in urban tourism Memory and World War II Francesca Cappelletto,2005-08-01 Foreword by Michael LambekThe death and destruction of war leave behind scars and fears that can last for generations This book considers the connections between memory and violence in the wake of World War II Covering the range of European experiences from East to West Memory and World War II takes a long term approach to the study of trauma at the local level It challenges the notion of collective memory and calls for an understanding of memory as a fine line between the individual and society the private and the public International contributors from a range of disciplines seek new ways to incorporate local memory within national history and consider whether memories of extreme violence can be socially transformed Personal testimony reveals the myriad ways in which communities react to and reconstruct the horrors of war What we learn is that terrifying experiences reside not only in memories of the past but remain embedded in present day lives Environment and Citizenship in Latin America Alex Latta,Hannah Wittman,2012-07-20 Scholarship related to environmental questions in Latin America has only recently begun to coalesce around citizenship as both an empirical site of inquiry and an analytical frame of reference This has led to a series of new insights and perspectives but few efforts have been made to bring these various approaches into a sustained conversation across different social temporal and geographic contexts This volume is the result of a collaborative endeavour to advance debates on environmental citizenship while simultaneously and systematically addressing broader theoretical and methodological questions related to the particularities of studying environment and citizenship in Latin America Providing a window onto leading scholarship in the field the book also sets an ambitious agenda to spark further research but in December of 1990 they voted for independence or put more appropriately for disassociation from Yugoslavia. Unfortunately Slovenia had to fight for its independence which it did not fully achieve until 1995 after its bloody disintegration with Yugoslavia was over. Since independence however Slovenia has prospered its economy is far ahead of other former communist states and in 2004 Slovenia acceded to both NATO and the European Union the only republic of former Yugoslavia to do so. The A to Z of Slovenia covers the history of Slovenia and its struggle to gain independence from communism. This is done through a detailed chronology, an introduction, appendixes, a bibliography, and hundreds of cross-referenced dictionary entries on some of the more significant persons, places, and events, institutions, and organizations, and political, economic, social, cultural, and religious facets. Both Muslim and European Dževada Šuško, 2019-07-22. The edited volume Both Muslim and European: Diasporic and Migrant Identities of Bosniaks scrutinizes some of the new aspects of the Bosniak history and identity and connects them with the experience of migration and diaspora formation. Adopting an interdisciplinary approach, the volume tackles a variety of important questions and issues such as the impact of migration waves on the Bosniak identity, dealing with the experience of war, genocide, and forced displacement, the dual cultural code of being in between the two worlds, the role of religion, language, and culture in everyday life, looking at translocal and transnational networks and practices. In addition to discussing the contemporary issues in Bosnia and Herzegovina, several chapters deal with the Bosnian migrant realities in countries such as Germany, Switzerland, Slovenia, Australia, Turkey, and the United States of America. Children of the Mirna Valley Frank Bevc, 2019-07-31. In the quiet farmland of southeastern Slovenia, the people of the Mirna Valley endured rule by German lords and the Habsburg Empire for over a thousand years. In the early 1600s, the Bevc family worked the land in the small village of _entrupert. Three generations and over a hundred years later, their descendants moved to the Debenec hills overlooking the Mirna Valley. The family acquired more land and spread to the nearby towns of Mokronog and Mirna. One Bevc generation, a family of eleven children, found different futures in America or Slovenia. Most traded the green hills and hard work of farming for the harsh life of mining coal in a smoky industrial town. Each withstood hardships so that their children would have a better life. Many of those children fought in World War II. In Slovenia, that meant occupation and partisan resistance; in America, sons went off to war in Europe and the Pacific. Places of Pain Hariz Halilovich, 2013-02-01. For displaced persons, memory and identity is performed, re-constructed, and re-negotiated daily. Forced displacement radically reshapes identity with results ranging from successful hybridization to feelings of permanent misplacement. This compelling and intimate description of places of pain and belonging that were lost during the 1992-95 war in Bosnia and Herzegovina, as well as of survivors' places of resettlement in Australia, Europe, and North America, serves as a powerful illustration of the complex interplay between place, memory, and identity. It is even more the case when those places have been vandalized, divided up, brutalized, and scarred. However, as the author shows, these places of humiliation and suffering are also places of desire, with displaced survivors emulating their former homes in the far corners of the globe where they have resettled
