Sense Nonsense:

Nonsense and Other Senses Elisabetta Tarantino with the collaboration of Carlo Caruso, 2020-07-24 This book deals with a topic that is gaining increasing critical attention the literature of nonsense and absurdity The volume gathers together twenty one essays on various aspects of literary nonsense according to criteria that are deliberately inclusive and eclectic Its purpose is to offer a gallery of nonsense practices in literature across periods and countries in the conviction that important critical insights can be gained from these juxtapositions Most of the cases presented here deal with linguistic nonsense but in a few instances the nonsense operates at the higher level of the interpretation of reality on the part of the subject or of the impossibility thereof The contributors to the volume are established and younger scholars from various countries Chronologically the chapters range widely from Dante to Václav Havel and offer a large span of national literatures Czech English Finnish French German Italian Japanese and literary genres poetry prose and drama inviting the readers to trace their own pathway and draw their own lines of connection One point that emerges with particular force is the notion that what distinguishes literary nonsense is its somehow regulated nature Literary nonsense thus sounds like a deliberate last ditch attempt to snatch order from the jaws of chaos the speech of the Fool as opposed to the tale told by an idiot It is this kind of post Derridean retrieval of choice as the defining element in semantic transactions which is perhaps the most significant insight bequeathed by the study of nonsense to the analysis of poetry and literature in general

Cosmic Reconciliation Glen C. Cutlip, 2000-02-09 Cosmic Reconciliation contains two other volumes The All Oneness of God and The Living Christ Consciousness All three volumes are concerned with the reconciliation of all things through ones Christ Self unto the the God Self of the many within the one If you can bear to hear now what many could not bear to hear two thousand years ago you will not want to miss the good news of the reconciliation of all things unto God To see the Christ as is is to come to see God as God is not what either might appear to be The reconciliation of all things unto God is the reconciliation of an infinity of many unto the One for the one and the many are realized to be two parts of the same thing Now is the time to take responsibility for what you are in God for now we can see how that an infinity of many share that responsibility with us And

Pervert-Schizoid-Woman Michael Williams,2016-12-14 Touching on the fields of philosophy critical theory cultural studies and queer theory Pervert Schizoid Woman critiques the organization of Western economy language and desire Author Michael Williams seeks to promote alternative frameworks for a posthumanist theory and practice of perverse selfhood and sociality In this study he identifies the capitalist economic system as structured by scarcity and supply demand dynamics discerning the paradoxical accumulation of debt as the essence of the assumed scarcity in the financial system He also uncovers the profound isomorphism between the economics of scarcity and the castration and lack at the center of the psychoanalytic interpretation of gender sexuality and desire concluding that the essential negativity in the scarcity of capitalism the absence in the structure of language and the castration in the network of desire are the sources of the dysfunctions in Western systems of finance expression and gender and sexuality

The Ethics and Poetics of Alterity Maylis Rospide, Sandrine Sorlin, 2015-09-04 This volume focuses on language and ethics in literary genres such as dystopia science fiction and fantasy that depict encounters with alterity Indeed so called genre literature embodies a heuristic model that dramatizes and exacerbates these encounters by featuring exotic subhuman or post human beings that defy human knowledge elements particularly prevalent in science fiction and fantasy These genres have often been regarded as an entertaining or escapist field that does not lend itself to ethical and poetical reflections limiting its scope to a hollow and servile repetition of genre codes This volume shows unequivocally that this field does lend itself to such reflections The contributors to this book highlight genre literature's defamiliarising power through which things can be seen In meta conceptualising the relationship between language and reality it problematises and enhances this relation by making it more easily perceivable The book shows that rather than contenting itself with merely questioning the mechanism of estrangement genre literature explores the confines of readability and the boundary between the readerly and the writerly In their desire to represent the Other in all its complexity writers are indeed confronted with an ethical and poetical aporia how can what escapes humanity be described in human language How can human language represent things that have no known referent in the reader's world of experience This collection of essays reveals that the most prototypical traits of genre literature lie in the encounter with otherness and the linguistic issues this raises

Peeling Potatoes or Grinding Lenses Aristides Baltas, 2014-03-13 I can work best now while peeling potatoes It is for me what lens grinding was for Spinoza L Wittgenstein

More than 250 years separate the publication of Baruch Spinoza's Ethics and Ludwig Wittgenstein's Tractatus Logico Philosophicus. Both are considered monumental philosophical treatises produced during markedly different times in human history and notoriously challenging to interpret. In Peeling Potatoes or Grinding Lenses, Aristides Baltas contends that these works bear a striking similarity based on the idea of radical immanence. Each purports to understand the world, thought, and language from the inside and in a way leading to the dissolution of all philosophy. In that guise, both offer a powerful argument against fundamentalism of all sorts and kinds. To Spinoza, God is just Nature; God is not above or separate from the world, humanity, or mere objects, for as Nature, He inheres in everything. To Wittgenstein, logic is not above or separate from language, thought, and the world. The hardness of the logical must inheres in states of affairs, facts, thoughts, and linguistic acts. Outside, there are no truths or sense, only nonsense. Through close readings of the texts, based on lessons drawn from radical paradigm change in science, Baltas finds in both works a single-minded purpose, implacable reasoning, and an austerity of style that are rare in the history of philosophy. He analyzes the structure and content of each treatise, the authors' intentions, the limitations and possibilities afforded by scientific discovery in their respective eras, their radical opposition to prevailing philosophical views, and draws out the particulars as well as the implications of the arresting match between the two.

Gilles Deleuze John Marks, 1998-05-01 Gilles Deleuze is widely regarded as one of the major post-war proponents of Nietzschean thought in continental philosophy. Over a period of forty years, he presented what amounts to a philosophy of vitalism and multiplicity, bringing together concepts from thinkers as diverse as Nietzsche and Hume. In the first comprehensive English language introduction to Deleuze, John Marks offers a lucid reading of a complex, abstract, and often perplexing body of work. Marks examines Deleuze's philosophical writings as well as the political and aesthetic preoccupation which underpinned his thinking, and provides a rigorous and illuminating reading of Deleuze's early studies of Hume, Nietzsche, Kant, Bergson, and Spinoza, his collaborations with Félix Guattari, and the development of a distinctively Deleuzian conceptual framework. Marks focuses on the philosophical friendship that developed between Deleuze and Foucault and considers the full range of Deleuze's fascinating writings on literature, art, and cinema. This is a clear and concise guide to the work of one of the twentieth century's most influential thinkers.

Perception Barry Maund, 2014-12-18 The philosophical issues raised by perception make it one of the central topics in the philosophical tradition. Debate about the nature of perceptual knowledge and the objects of perception comprises a thread that runs through the history of philosophy. In some historical periods, the major issues have been predominantly epistemological and related to scepticism, but an adequate understanding of perception is important more widely, especially for metaphysics and the philosophy of mind. For this reason, Barry Maund provides an account of the major issues in the philosophy of perception that highlights the importance of a good theory of perception in a range of philosophical fields, while also seeking to be sensitive to the historical dimension of the subject. The work presents chapters on forms of natural realism, theories of perceptual experience, representationalism, the argument from illusion phenomenological senses types of perceptual content the representationalist intentionalist thesis and adverbialist accounts of perceptual experience The ideas of among others Austin Dretske Heidegger Millikan Putnam and Robinson are considered and the reader is given a philosophical framework within which to consider the issues
