Sermons in Magic for Youngsters Harold Philmore Wells, 1968 Wisdom justified of her children. A sermon [on Matt. xi. 19], etc Jonathan PARSONS (and MAC GREGORE (David)), 1742 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1965 Includes Part 1 Number 2 Books and Pamphlets Including Serials and Contributions to Periodicals July December European Magic and Witchcraft Martha Rampton, 2018-01-01 Magic witches and demons have drawn interest and fear throughout human history In this comprehensive primary source reader Martha Rampton traces the history of our fascination with magic and witchcraft from the first through to the seventeenth century In over 80 readings presented chronologically Rampton demonstrates how understandings of and reactions toward magic changed and developed over time and how these ideas were influenced by various factors such as religion science and law The wide ranging texts emphasize social history and include early Merovingian law codes the Picatrix Lombard's Sentences The Golden Legend and A Midsummer Night's Dream By presenting a full spectrum of source types including hagiography law codes literature and handbooks this collection provides readers with a broad view of how magic was understood through the medieval and early modern eras Rampton's introduction to the volume is a passionate appeal to students to use tolerance imagination and empathy when travelling back in time The introductions to individual readings are deliberately minimal providing just enough context so that students can hear medieval voices for themselves The Multigenerational Church Crisis Bryan Chapell, 2025-05-06 Harness the strengths of every generation to create a church that endures open the lines of communication appreciate the experiences that shaped each generation in your church unite in one mission to impact your community and the world It may seem hard for younger Christians to believe that people over 50 were raised during an era when 90 percent of Americans identified as Christian These older believers were once part of a majority group that understood the mission of the church was to take control of our culture to halt its evils At the same time Christians under 50 have lived their entire lives perceiving themselves as a minority that needs to make credible their faith to a secular pluralistic culture These distinct experiences and perceptions have a profound impact on the priorities different generations have for church ministry It's no wonder that younger and older believers don't always see eye to eye But imagine what could be accomplished in the name of Christ if we could better understand each other and turn that understanding into shared purpose and aligned priorities Backed by thorough research this eminently practical and hopeful book from pastor and scholar Bryan Chapell shows you how to open the lines of communication appreciate the experiences that shaped each generation in your church and unite in one mission to impact your community and the world Youth Ministry in a Technological Age Peggy Kendall; Claire Smith; Tim Ke, 2011-07-08 The many and continual advances in technology can be both exciting and daunting exciting because of the multitude of opportunities at our grasp yet daunting when faced with the prospect of keeping up with and or affording them This holds true in youth ministry where as youth workers we serve a population that seems to be innately in tune with technology and what it offers We re all technological users but much of our adult expertise pales before the intuitive use of our students What do we do Youth Ministry in a Technological Age seeks to offer a window into understanding and using technology in youth ministry that is grounded theologically In this book researchers and people involved in youth ministry share insights and make recommendations concerning how we approach and use technology in youth ministry always recognizing our need to be faithful to the gospel of Jesus Christ Claire Smith

Trafficking with Demons Martha Rampton,2022-01-15

Trafficking with Demons explores how magic was perceived practiced and prohibited in western Europe during the first millennium CE Through the overlapping frameworks of religion ritual and gender Martha Rampton connects early Christian reckonings with pagan magic to later doctrines and dogmas Challenging established views on the role of women in ritual magic during this period Rampton provides a new narrative of the ways in which magic was embedded within the foundational assumptions of western European society informing how people understood the cosmos divinity and their own Christian faith As Rampton shows throughout the first Christian millennium magic was thought to play a natural role within the functioning of the universe and existed within a rational cosmos hierarchically arranged according to a great chain of being Trafficking with the demons of the lower air was the essence of magic Interactions with those demons occurred both in highly formalistic ritual settings and on a routine and casual basis Rampton tracks the competition between pagan magic and Christian belief from the first century CE when it was fiercest through the early Middle Ages as atavistic forms of magic mutated and found sanctuary in the daily habits of the converted peoples and new paganisms entered Europe with their own forms of magic By the year 1000 she concludes many forms of magic had been tamed and were by the reckoning of the elite essentially ineffective as were the women who practiced it and the rituals that attended it

The Reformation of Prayer among Sixteenth-Century Lutherans Mary Jane Haemig,2025-03-22 In sixteenth century Germany Martin Luther and his followers engaged in a thorough reform of beliefs and practices related to prayer a reform rooted in Luther s theological insights Rejecting medieval beliefs that saw prayer as a good work Luther and his followers saw prayer as a human response to God s command to pray and promise to hear It was a good work done freely not to earn salvation but rather to converse with God Luther and his followers taught prayer in many different ways They used catechisms and catechesis to teach the basics of Christian belief including the Lord s Prayer They emphasized understanding the petitions of prayer not just reciting words They encouraged the use of the psalms as prayers and produced literature designed to make the psalms accessible and understandable They published prayerbooks to instruct in prayer and offer prayers for a variety of vocations and situations Lutheran sermons taught prayer both on particular occasions and on many Sundays of the church year Worship taught prayer and provided models for prayer Literature for those suffering sickness death plague childbirth and war taught prayer as part of its effort to console Literature for theological students and manuals designed to help pastors in their ministries

Bremmer, 2017-07-13 In this work Jan N Bremmer aims to bring together the worlds of early Christianity and those of ancient history and classical literature worlds that still all too rarely interlock Contextualising the life and literature of the early Christians in their Greco Roman environment he focusses on four areas A first section looks at more general aspects of early Christianity the name of the Christians their religious and social capital prophecy and the place of widows and upper class women in the Christian movement Second the chronology and place of composition of the early apocryphal Acts of the Apostles and Pseudo Clementines are newly determined by paying close attention to their doctrinal contents but also innovatively to their onomastics and social vocabulary The author also analyses the frequent use of magic in the Acts and explains the prominence of women by comparing the Acts to the Greek novel Third an investigation into the theme of the tours of hell suggests a new chronological order shows that the Christian tours were indebted to both Greek and Jewish models and illustrates that in the course of time the genre dropped a large part of its Jewish heritage The fourth and final section concentrates on the most famous and intriguing report of an ancient martyrdom the Passion of Perpetua It pays special attention to the motivation and visions of

Perpetua which are analyzed not by taking recourse to modern theories such as psychoanalysis but by looking to the world in which Perpetua lived both Christian and pagan It is only by seeing the early Christians in their ancient world that we might begin to understand them and their emerging communities Publisher s description The New Jerusalem Messenger ,1880
