Reverberations of Nazi Violence in Germany and Beyond Stephanie Bird, Mary Fulbrook, Julia Wagner, Christiane Wienand, 2016-02-25 Reverberations of Nazi Violence in Germany and Beyond explores the complex and diverse reverberations of the Second World War after 1945 It focuses on the legacies that National Socialist violence and genocide perpetrated in Europe continue to have in German speaking countries and communities as well as among those directly affected by occupation terror and mass murder Furthermore it explores how those legacies are in turn shaped by the present The volume also considers conflicting unexpected and often dissonant interpretations and representations of these events made by those who were the witnesses victims and perpetrators at the time and also by different communities in the generations that followed The contributions from a range of disciplinary perspectives enrich our understanding of the complexity of the ways in which a disturbing past continues to disrupt the present and how the past is in turn disturbed and instrumentalized by a later present Relational Responses to Trauma in Twenty-First-Century French and Spanish Women's Writing Hannie Lawlor, 2024-09-05 Relational Responses to Trauma in Twenty First Century French and Spanish Women s Writing offers new insight into what it means to write relational lives It broadens the parameters of existing discussions in terms of geography as well as genre drawing together two literatures whose prominence in life writing theory to date could hardly be more different while French women s writing has long been at the centre of international discussions of autobiography the relative invisibility of Spanish women s writing remains striking The dialogue that thus underpins this study between diverse twenty first century case studies and broader approaches to life writing shines a light on what is gained from inviting different voices into the discussion These narrative projects challenge longstanding critical assumptions in autobiography studies and trauma theory about how writers can and should represent the multiple perspectives that are at the heart of intergenerational stories In exploring the narrative solutions that these texts propose in response to the ethical questions they navigate this book shows that writing relational lives rests on far more than the mere recounting of a shared history Relating in these texts it proposes is an act embedded in the telling of the story It is a mode of testifying together to traumatic experience one that reveals a powerful preoccupation in contemporary women s life writing practice with making more audible the many voices and versions that go unheard After Memory Matthias Schwartz, Nina Weller, Heike Winkel, 2021-06-08 Even seventy five years after the end of World War II the commemorative cultures surrounding the War and the Holocaust in Central Eastern and South Eastern Europe are anything but fixed The fierce debates on how to deal with the past among the newly constituted nation states in these regions have already received much attention by scholars in cultural and memory studies The present volume posits that literature as a medium can help us understand the shifting attitudes towards World War II and the Holocaust in post Communist Europe in recent years These shifts point to new commemorative cultures shaping up after memory Contemporary literary representations of World War II and the Holocaust in Eastern Europe do not merely extend or replace older practices of remembrance and testimony but reflect on these now defunct or superseded narratives New narratives of remembrance are conditioned by a fundamentally new social and political context one that emerged from the devaluation of socialist commemorative rituals and as a response to the loss of private and family memory narratives The volume offers insights into the diverse literatures of Eastern Europe and their ways of depicting the area's contested heritage

Identity Politics on the Israeli Screen Yosefa Loshitzky, 2010-01-01 2002 A Choice Outstanding Academic Book The struggle to forge a collective national identity at the expense of competing plural identities has preoccupied Israeli society since the founding of the state of Israel In this book Yosefa Loshitzky explores how major Israeli films of the 1980s and 1990s have contributed significantly to the process of identity formation by reflecting projecting and constructing debates around Israeli national identity Loshitzky focuses on three major foundational sites of the struggle over Israeli identity the Holocaust the question of the Orient and the so called in an ironic historical twist of the Jewish question Palestinian question The films she discusses raise fundamental questions about the identity of Jewish Holocaust survivors and their children the second generation Jewish immigrants from Muslim countries or Mizrahim particularly the second generation of Israeli Mizrahim and Palestinians Recognizing that victimhood marks all the identities represented in the films under discussion Loshitzky does not treat each identity group as a separate and coherent entity but rather attempts to see the conflation interplay and conflict among them

The War Complex Marianna Torgovnick, 2008-11-15 The recent dedication of the World War II memorial and the sixtieth anniversary commemoration of D Day remind us of the hold that World War II still has over America's sense of itself But the selective process of memory has radically shaped our picture of the conflict Why else for instance was a 1995 Smithsonian exhibition on Hiroshima that was to include photographs of the first atomic bomb victims along with their testimonials considered so controversial And why do we so readily remember the civilian bombings of Britain but not those of Dresden Hamburg and Tokyo Marianna Torgovnick argues that we have lived since the end of World War II under the power of a war complex a set of repressed ideas and impulses that stems from our unresolved attitudes toward the technological acceleration of mass death This complex has led to gaps and hesitations in public discourse about atrocities committed during the war itself And it remains an enduring wartime consciousness one most recently animated on September 11 Showing how different events from World War II became prominent in American cultural memory while others went forgotten or remain hidden in plain sight The War Complex moves deftly from war films and historical works to television specials and popular magazines to define the image and influence of World War II in our time Torgovnick also explores the 1961 trial of Adolf Eichmann the emotional legacy of the Holocaust and the treatment of World War II's missing history by writers such as W G Sebald to reveal the unease we feel at our dependence on those who hold the power of total war Thinking anew then about how we account for war to each other and ourselves Torgovnick ultimately and movingly shows how these anxieties and fears have prepared us to think about

September 11 and our current war in Iraq War and Media Andrew Hoskins, Ben O'Loughlin, 2013-04-23 The trinity of government military and publics has been drawn together into immediate and unpredictable relationships in a new media ecology that has ushered in new asymmetries in the waging of war and terror To help us understand these new relationships Andrew Hoskins and Ben O Loughlin here provide a timely comprehensive and highly readable survey of the field of war and media War is diffused through a complex mesh of our everyday media Paradoxically this both facilitates and contains the presence and power of enemies near and far The conventions of so called traditional warfare have been splintered by the availability and connectivity of the principal locus of war today the electronic and digital media Hoskins and O Loughlin identify and illuminate the conditions of what they term diffused war and the new challenges it raises for the actors who wage and counter warfare for their agents and mechanisms of the new media and for mass publics This book offers an invaluable review of the key literature and presents a fresh approach to the understanding of the dynamic relationships between war and media It will be welcomed by a broad range of students taking courses on war and media and related modules especially in media communication and cultural studies politics and international relations sociology journalism and security studies

Padmanabhan,Kanipphnath Malhari Kudale,2025-09-01 This book is a collection of essays covering diverse perspectives within the study of trauma and memory In its compartmentalisation into four sections the book diligently analyses the literary representations of trauma and memory in the micro and macro levels of cultural contexts Analysis of these representations can illuminate societal attitudes toward trauma memory and healing as well as shed light on larger issues such as war violence oppression and injustice and help the readers gain a deeper understanding of the complexities of human emotions reactions and coping mechanisms The ethical questions discussed in the book also engage with the notions of authenticity and responsibility prompting the readers with a sense of validation and solidarity Terrorism and War Jean Arundale,Coline Covington,Jean Knox,Paul ((Psychotherapist)) Williams,2018-03-29 Following the attacks of September 11th 2001 one of the resounding questions asked was What would make anyone do such a thing The psychological mentality of the suicidal terrorist left a gaping hole in people s understanding This essential volume represents a much needed effort to collate and examine some of the material already at our disposal as an encouragement to serious thought on this question and other related questions If terrorism is not new what is it about the recent attacks that gives us a sense that something has changed Is it the scale of the destruction or the anxiety that we are facing some altogether new uncertainty Are we in some sense facing a new enemy In reflecting on these and other related questions we may be facing a similar watershed of understanding to that faced by Freud at the end of the Great War In the absence of progress in our thinking today political leaders and public opinion will likely turn to previous political and religious ideas investing in them with a fundamentalist certainty that spells disaster Breaking Crystal Efraim Sicher,1998 The first multidisciplinary study of its kind Breaking Crystal examines how members of the generation after the Holocaust in Israel and the United States confront through their own imaginations a traumatic event they have not directly experienced Among the questions this groundbreaking work raises are Whose memory is it What will the collective memory of the Holocaust be in the twenty first century after the last survivors have given testimony How in the aftermath of the Holocaust do we read and write literature and history How is the memory inscribed in film and art Is the appropriation of the Holocaust to political agendas a desecration of the six million Jews What will the children of survivors pass on to the next generation The Encyclopedia of Contemporary American Fiction, 2 Volumes Patrick O'Donnell,Stephen J.
