Narratives and the State of Terror Robin Truth Goodman, 2010-07-02 Since the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 world politics have increasingly mirrored plots of detective novels with high profile criminal investigations that cross multiple borders and the internationalized law enforcement practices associated with the War on Terror Policing Narratives and the State of Terror examines the relationship between domestic policing and international policy through an analysis of contemporary popular detective fiction police procedurals police autobiography security reports and chronicles of domestic spying Robin Truth Goodman connects these accounts of policing to the changing shape of the contemporary nation state marked by the denationalization of labor commercial and criminal laws that jump borders more quickly than civil law protections and the replacement of legal precedent by unrepeatable exceptional executive decisions Working at the intersection of literature international law and globalized commerce Goodman astutely pinpoints how policing has become an increasingly troublesome instrument of empire particularly in terms of national sovereignty and the growing numbers of mercenary private security forces

Manning, 2015-11-17 Democratic policing today is a widely used approach to policing not only in Western societies but increasingly around the world Yet it is rarely defined and it is little understood by the public and even by many of its practitioners Peter K Manning draws on political philosophy sociology and criminal justice to develop a widely applicable fundamental conception of democratic policing In the process he delineates today s relationship between democracy and policing Democratic Policing in a Changing World documents the failure of police reform showing that each new approach such as crime mapping and hot spots policing fails to alter any fundamental practice and has in fact increased social inequalities He offers a new and better approach for scholars policy makers police governments and societies
