Lovers And Murderers:

Women Who Love Men Who Kill Sheila Isenberg, 2021-10-19 The engrossing thoroughly researched look at women who are in romantic relationships with incarcerated men fully updated with twenty first century cases Publishers Weekly In 1991 Sheila Isenberg's classic study Women Who Love Men Who Kill asked the provocative question Why do women fall in love with convicted murderers Now Isenberg returns to the same question in the age of smart phones social media mass shootings and modern prison dating The result is a compelling psychological study of prison passion in the new millennium Isenberg conducts extensive interviews with women who seek relationships with convicted killers as well as conversations with psychiatrists social workers and prison officials She shows that many of these women know exactly what they are getting into yet they are willing to sacrifice everything for the sake of a love without hope promise or consummation This edition of Women Who Love Men Who Kill includes gripping new case studies and an absorbing look at how the digital age is revolutionizing this phenomenon Meet the young women writing fan fiction featuring America's most sadistic murderers the killer serving consecutive life sentences for strangling his wife and smothering his toddler daughters and the women who visit him in prison the high powered journalist who fell in love and risked it all for Pharma Bro Martin Shkreli and many other women absorbed in online and real life dalliances with their killer men Why We Love Serial Killers Scott Bonn, 2014-10-28 For decades now serial killers have taken center stage in the news and entertainment media The coverage of real life murderers such as Ted Bundy and Jeffrey Dahmer has transformed them into ghoulish celebrities Similarly the popularity of fictional characters such as Hannibal The Cannibal Lecter or Dexter demonstrates just how eager the public is to be frightened by these human predators But why is this so Could it be that some of us have a gruesome fascination with serial killers for the same reasons we might morbidly stare at a catastrophic automobile accident Or it is something more In Why We Love Serial Killers criminology professor Dr Scott Bonn explores our powerful appetite for the macabre while also providing new and unique insights into the world of the serial killer including those he has gained from his correspondence with two of the world's most notorious examples David Berkowitz Son of Sam and Dennis Rader Bind Torture Kill In addition Bonn examines the criminal profiling techniques used by law enforcement professionals to identify and apprehend serial predators he discusses the various behaviors such as the charisma of the sociopath that manifest themselves in serial killers and he explains how and why these killers often become popular cultural figures Groundbreaking in its approach Why We Love Serial Killers is a compelling look at how the media law enforcement agencies and public perception itself shapes and feeds the monsters in our midst In love with a murderer. Why do women date convicted violent offenders? Sarah Burkhardt, 2016-08-11 Master's Thesis from the year 2016 in the subject Psychology Forensic Psychology and Penal System grade B The University of Liverpool language English abstract The high number of inmates in American prison facilities might explain why thousands of men and women have spouses or partners in jails Surprisingly previous literature suggests that there exist women that consciously seek romantic relationships with convicted violent offenders What type of women are interested in seeking romantic relationship with convicted violent offenders specifically those who have committed a violent crime resulting in the death of another person This study investigates by using an online questionnaire which consists of three questionnaires the Childhood Trauma Questionnaire Bernstein Fink 1998 the 50 items Personality Questionnaire Goldberg 1992 and 5 Specific Questions Burkhardt 2015 whether particular personality traits predict the desire to choose a dominant partner Specifically the 5 personal characteristics extraversion agreeableness conscientiousness emotional stability and intellect as predictors of the preference for seeking romantic relationship with convicted violent offenders were examined This study sought to shed more light on the association between women s past experiences and personality and their interest in seeking romantic relationships with convicted violent offenders There was a statistically significant weak positive relationship between women s experiences of physical neglect and sexual abuse and their interest in dating convicted violent criminals The study also revealed a statistically nonsignificant relationship between emotional abuse and physical abuse in dating convicted violent offenders The findings are somewhat consistent with the findings of previous research However the previous studies purposively included only women who had reported having contacted incarcerated men and entered into romantic relationships while the current study used women from the general population It is not explicitly clear why women seek romantic relationships with convicted violent offenders but the literature seems to point to dominance control and self protection An examination of the relationship between personality traits and interest in dating convicted violent criminals showed weak negative or positive correlations between conscientiousness agreeableness extraversion emotional stability and intellect imagination and women s interest in dating convicted violent criminals

Stone explores the concept and reality of evil from a new perspective In an in depth discussion of the personality traits and behaviors that constitute evil across a wide spectrum Dr Stone takes a clarifying scientific approach to a topic that for centuries has been inadequately explained by religious doctrines Basing his analysis on the detailed biographies of more than 600 violent criminals Stone has created a 22 level hierarchy of evil behavior which loosely reflects the structure of Dante s Inferno He traces two salient personality traits that run the gamut from those who commit crimes of passion to perpetrators of sadistic torture and murder One trait is narcissism as exhibited in people who are so self centered that they have little or no ability to care about their victims The other is aggression the use of power over another person to inflict humiliation suffering and death What do psychology psychiatry and neuroscience tell us about the minds of those whose actions could be described as evil And what will that mean for the rest of us Stone discusses how an increased understanding of the causes of evil will affect the justice system He predicts a day when certain persons can safely be declared salvageable and restored to society and when early signs of violence in children may be corrected before potentially dangerous patterns become entrenched

The (Mis)Representation of Queer Lives in True Crime Abbie E. Goldberg, Danielle C. Slakoff, Carrie L. Buist, 2023-08-25. This book examines the representation and misrepresentation of queer people in true crime, addressing their status as both victims and perpetrators in actual crime as well as how the media portrays them. The chapters apply an intersectional perspective in examining criminal cases involving LGBTQ people as well as the true crime media content surrounding the cases. The book illuminates how sexual orientation, gender, race, and other social locations impact the treatment of queer people in the criminal legal system and the mass media. Each chapter describes one or more high-profile criminal cases involving queer people, e.g., the murders of Brandon Teena and Kitty Genovese, serial killer Aileen Wuornos, the Pulse nightclub mass shooting. The authors examine how the cases are portrayed in the media via news, films, podcasts, documentaries, books, social media, and more. Each chapter discusses not only what is visible or emphasized by the media but also what is invisible in the accounting or societal focus surrounding the case. Lesser-known but similar cases are used in the book to call attention to how race, gender, sexuality, sexual orientation, social class, and other features influence the dominant narrative surrounding these cases. Each chapter addresses teachable moments from each case and its coverage, leaving readers with several considerations to take with them into the future. The book also provides media resources and supplemental materials so that curious readers, including scholars, students, content creators, and advocates, can examine the cases and media content further. The book will appeal to scholars and students of criminology, psychology, sociology, law, media studies, sexuality studies, and cultural studies, and people with an interest in true crime.
