New Lesbian Criticism Sally Munt, 1992 The 1990s has seen the growing consolidation of lesbian and gay studies as a key area of cultural theory particularly in relation to ideas about the construction of subjectivity and identity Lesbian theory specifically intersects with feminism and sexuality identity politics to critique both gender and hetero sexuality while developments in lesbian criticism suggest a move towards a new textual practice This volume explores whether there can be a specific lesbian aesthetic juxtaposed against reading as a woman or as a heterosexual Contributors both explore the uses of recent theories such as post structuralism and offer a lesbian critique of such methodologies Close readings of contemporary lesbian fiction and popular culture focus on works such as Zami Oranges Are Not the Only Fruit The Wanderground and Desert of the Heart as well as on lesbian pornography Together the essays point to lesbian culture's ability to create new meanings for itself and to foreground the intertextuality of lesbian identities This important book which includes a reassessment of lesbian literary criticism by Bonnie Zimmerman contributes to a new and growing field of critical theory

Mulattas and Mestizas Suzanne Bost, 2010-02-25 In this broadly conceived exploration of how people represent identity in the Americas Suzanne Bost argues that mixture has been central to the definition of race in the United States Mexico and the Caribbean since the nineteenth century Her study is particularly relevant in an era that promotes mixed race musicians actors sports heroes and supermodels as icons of a new America Bost challenges the popular media's notion that a new millennium has ushered in a radical transformation of American ethnicity in fact this paradigm of the changing face of America extends throughout American history Working from literary and historical accounts of mulattas mestizas and creoles Bost analyzes a tradition dating from the nineteenth century of theorizing identity in terms of racial and sexual mixture By examining racial politics in Mexico and the United States racially mixed female characters in Anglo American African American and Latina narratives and ideas of mixture in the Caribbean she ultimately reveals how the fascination with mixture often corresponds to racial segregation sciences of purity and white supremacy The racism at the foundation of many nineteenth century writings encourages Bost to examine more closely the subtexts of contemporary writings on the browning of America Original and ambitious in scope Mulattas and Mestizas measures contemporary representations of mixed race identity in the United States against the history of mixed race identity in the Americas It warns us to be cautious of the current millennial celebration of mixture in popular culture and identity studies which may contrary to all appearances mask persistent racism and nostalgia for purity

Going the Distance David R. Jarraway, 2003-01-01 This bold new theoretical study explores dissident subjectivity that is the struggle for unique authorial identity in American literary discourse that has existed according to David Jarraway since the Romantics From Emerson's Experience remarking upon the focal distance within the actual horizon of human life to Toni Morrison's Nobel Prize address sanctifying the artist's sophisticated privileged space American literature has continuously recognized a necessary distance the gap between culturally accepted ideas of selfhood and the intractable reality of the self's never completed construction in time Jarraway's fascinating examination of modernist poets shows that engaging with this artistic space or going the distance empowers writers and their readers to create and perceive identities that resist the frozen certainties of conventional gender sexual and social roles Employing this theory with grace and precision Jarraway ranges through the dissident process in Gertrude Stein the cultural criticism of William Carlos Williams the deferred racialism of Langston Hughes the queer perversities of Frank O'Hara and the spectral lesbian poetics of Elizabeth Bishop Bolstered further by insights from the pragmatism of William James through the cultural critique of Theodor Adorno to the queer theory of Judith Butler the author challenges his audience with politically engaged insistence on the life affirming potentialities of human subjectivity in literature His passionate conclusion demonstrates the liberating fluidity of self made possible by feminist chartings of modern identity's depths Lucidly composed theoretically sophisticated and up to the minute Going the Distance painstakingly recovers the dissident American subjective in modernist literary discourse within its fullest cultural context Jarraway's readings are a major contribution to poetry scholarship and to cultural studies that will provoke further investigations into the history of subjectivity in American literature as a whole
