Oppositional Consciousness The Subjective Roots Of Social Protest:

Oppositional Consciousness Jane J. Mansbridge, Aldon Morris, 2001-10-30 How can human beings be induced to sacrifice their lives even one minute of their lives for the sake of their group This question central to understanding the dynamics of social movements is at the heart of this collection of original essays The book is the first to conceptualize and illustrate the complex patterns of negotiation struggle borrowing and crafting that characterize what the editors term oppositional consciousness an empowering mental state that prepares members of an oppressed group to undermine reform or overthrow a dominant system Each essay employs a recent historical case to demonstrate how oppositional consciousness actually worked in the experience of a subordinate group Based on participant observation and interviews chapters focus on the successful social movements of groups such as African Americans people with disabilities sexually harassed women Chicano workers and AIDS activists Ultimately Oppositional Consciousness sheds new light on the intricate mechanisms that drive the important social movements of our time Contributors Naomi Braine Sharon Groch Fredrick C Harris Jane Mansbridge Anna Maria Marshall Aldon Morris Marc Simon Rodriguez Brett C Stockdill Lori G Waite Beyond Prime Time Activism powerful illustration of what it takes to become a sustainable community embedded organization that continually grows the next generation of compassionate leaders This essential timely book meets us at our current moment of crisis to offer hope that American democracy's stalled trajectory toward its founding creed to embrace all and not just some can indeed be reinvigorated Pedagogy of a Beloved Commons is about low income youth of color working within justice oriented community based organizations to improve the social and spatial conditions in their surroundings It draws from hundreds of pages of data some collected over a decade ago by graduate research assistants at three universities and some collected recently by a graduate research assistant at a fourth university to present verbatim quotes from interviews with constituents of three youth serving organizations The book posits that the disinvested neighborhoods where youth experience abandonment and marginality in fact can serve as a call to action given appropriate organizational support Pedagogy of a Beloved Commons envisions a place based critical pedagogy that can provide young people with the practical skills and deep values to engage with today's economic racial and ecological crises It offers a welcome antidote to a neoliberal education system that has not only veered away from its public mandate to advance democratic citizenship but that has also reinforced today's insidious economic inequality rendering illusive the idea that rich and poor can work together toward a common good Between these pages resonates a passionate call for an approach to cultivating citizens who have the critical skills to challenge injustice the courage to hold the rich and powerful accountable and the empathy to advance not just their own self interest but also the health and well being of their communities and the planet The author proposes that such citizens develop by exercising collective agency in the commons a political and psychic space whose values are mapped out in physical space Through the expert use of an architect's lens this groundbreaking book argues that the three dimensional concreteness of the nation's disinvested neighborhoods provides a virtual stage where disenfranchised youth can experiment with collective life become more discerning about the forces that have shaped their communities and practice working toward just and inclusive futures Merging Paulo Freire's seminal theory of critical pedagogy with Grace Lee Boggs's belief that hands on community building can disrupt the ever more destructive forces of neoliberal capitalism Pedagogy of a Beloved Commons refines an aspirational framework for a pathway forward through a careful analysis of three exemplar organizations It offers rich unique portraits of young people transforming their communities in southwest Detroit Wai anae and Harlem respectively illustrating place based activism through theater organic farming and critical inquiry Here activism is framed as the hands on engagement of youth in addressing inequities in the commons of their neighborhoods through small but persistent interventions that also help them learn the language of solidarity and collectivity that a sustainable democracy needs Pedagogy of a Beloved Commons is a must read for our times and for our future Songs of Social Protest Aileen Dillane, Martin J. Muslim Women, Social Movements and the 'War on Terror'

Narzanin Massoumi, 2016-04-29 On 15th February 2003 two million people marched in the streets of London to call on the British government not to go to war with Iraq Though Britain did enter war the movement did not rest in defeat This book tells the story of what happened behind the scenes of this extraordinary mass movement looking specifically at the political relationship between Muslim and leftist activists Crisis narratives about Muslims assume that they are only engaged with sectarian communalist forms of identity politics or that their supposed religious and social conservatism is incompatible with progressive values Through telling this story Massoumi looks closely at the role of identity politics within social movements considering what this means in practice and whether we can meaningfully speak of identity politics Arguing that identity politics can only be understood within the context of a wider social and political structure this book analyses the conditions through which Muslim and leftist engagement emerges within this movement and highlights the decisive leadership of Muslim women
