Services for Sale Harold W. Demone, Margaret Gibelman, 1989 The Privatization of Human Services Harold W. Demone, Margaret Gibelman, 2013-11-09 No reader of professional journals agency reports or the daily press needs to be told that Professors Gibelman and Demone have assembled a volume of contributions to a very lively debate The two words highlighted privatization and contracting sum up the prescriptions of many for social service reform and the anxieties of others who question the new strategies The pace and scale of developments over the past 2 decades sometimes allows us to forget that the subject has a long history Privatization may be thought of as involving public turnover to the private sector of responsibility for services it has been delivering Or it may be the public sector arranging for the private sector to take on new services that the public wishes to encourage or for which it accepts responsibility The transaction usually involves public funds The historical story however is not one of public temporal primacy Financial Management for Nonprofit

Robert A. Shick, Lawrence Martin, 2019-12-10 In the last 35 years governments around the globe have increasingly contracted with nonprofit and for profit entities designed to provide a portion of the public sector's portfolio of goods and services This trend can be traced to a variety of factors including perceived or actual economic efficiencies in outsourcing goods and services values concerning the role and size of government in society and the financial and organizational constraints of many government entities In the United States child welfare services adopted a pro contracting approach early and a variety of other human services have followed suit including mental health care job training homeless services and others Although there is strong evidence to suggest that human service contracting is growing over time scholarship continues to lag on topics related to human service contract management policy implementation and innovation performance based contracting and evaluation This new volume in the Public Solutions Handbook series is the first volume length

Managing Contracted Services in the Nonprofit Agency Susan Bernstein,2010-04-29 Interviews with nonprofit agency managers illuminate how welfare state mechanisms work in practice and in the tangled nature of bureaucracies

The Welfare Marketplace Mary Bryna Sanger,2004-05-13 This provocative report examines the trend toward competitive contracting of government functions By focusing on four jurisdictions that hired private firms to handle welfare to work services The Welfare Marketplace reveals the ways in which increased contracting with the private and nonprofit sectors is changing the role and capacity of government threatening accountability and responsiveness to groups with special needs Encouraging improved performance through market mechanisms creates particular challenges for the nonprofits who must balance their missions with the bottom line The organization of service delivery to welfare clients has undergone significant restructuring as a result of the 1996 Welfare Reform Act which encouraged states to contract with outside companies and for the first time allowed them to determine eligibility for welfare benefits Seeking to assess the impact of this development M Bryna Sanger studied the competitive contract environment in San Diego Milwaukee New York and Houston Interviewing contractors public officials opinion leaders and researchers revealed the comparative advantages of a variety of key players in the multi sector service industry Sanger s conclusions paint a complex picture of how competitive contracting arrangements have changed the ways vendors and government agencies serve their clients While performance and innovation have improved in some cases all the players are finding that adequate accountability and contract monitoring are more difficult and expensive than anticipated Both for profits and nonprofits are quickly draining talent and capacity as they compete for experienced executives from government and from each other Sanger argues that competitive contracting is here to stay but it will require more not less government management and oversight She urges scholars and practitioners to develop a more nuanced and sophisticated set of expectations about the costs and Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1991 United States.
