Lorimer And The Edinburgh Craft Designers:

Lorimer and the Edinburgh Craft Designers Peter D. Savage,1980 Ernest Gimson Annette Carruthers,Mary Greensted,Barley Roscoe,2019-10-04 This rich new volume brings to light the versatility and accomplishments of the English architect designer and maker Ernest Gimson a central figure in the Arts and Crafts Movement Memory and Memorials William Kidd,Brian Murdoch,2017-05-15 The twentieth century perhaps more than any other was shaped by war and conflict In particular the two world wars have had a profound influence on the development of world history especially in western Europe The aim of Memory and Memorials however is not to seek the effects war has had on the twentieth century but rather to explore how societies chose to remember wars and manipulate this memory for political and cultural purposes Tackling issues of actual memory distorted memory and reconstructions of the past the use and nature of the war memorial and the reflection of all these points in selected art literature and film the main theme of Memory and Memorials is to stress both continuity and change in memory and memorial The Hero Building Johnny Rodger,2016-03-09 Why was it that across Scotland over the last two and a half centuries architectural monuments were raised to national heroes Were hero buildings commissioned as manifestations of certain social beliefs or as a built environmental form of social advocacy And if so then how and why were social aims and intentions translated into architectural form and how effective were they A tradition of building architectural monuments to commemorate national heroes developed as a distinctive feature of the Scottish built environment As concrete manifestations of powerful social and political currents of thought and opinion these hero buildings make important statements about identity the nation and social history The book examines this architectural culture by studying a prominent selection of buildings such as the Burns monuments in Alloway Edinburgh and Kilmarnock the Edinburgh Scott Monument the Glenfinnan Monument and the Wallace Monument in Stirling They give testimony to how a variety of architectural forms and styles can be adapted through time to bear particular social messages of symbolic weight This tradition which literally allows us to dwell on important social issues of the past has been somewhat neglected in serious architectural history and heritage and indeed one of the main monuments has already been destroyed By raising awareness of this rich architectural and social heritage while analysing and interpreting the buildings in their historical context this book makes an exciting and original scholarly contribution to the current debates on identity and nationality taking place in Scotland and the wider UK A New Race of Men Michael Fry,2013-10-03 War opened and closed Scotland s greatest century a pitiless part in the defeat of Napoleon in 1815 a huge blood sacrifice for the sake of victory from 1914 In between came the greatest contributions to the progress and happiness of the rest of mankind that the Scots have ever made in everything from the combine harvester to the mackintosh to anaesthesia It was a supremely successful achieving society yet one not without deep flaws in its urban poverty its destruction of the environment its religious intolerance its moral hypocrisy its crushing of Highland culture Michael Fry shows with an emphasis always on the human story how a succession of deep crises undermined the usually tranquil and prosperous surface of life in Victorian Scotland to leave a legacy of paradox that the modern nation has even today yet to overcome

A Cultural History of Furniture in the Age of Empire and Industry Catherine L. Futter, Christina M. Anderson, 2022-02-24 The 19th century in Western culture was a time of both confidence and turbulence Industrial development produced a growing middle class as well as efficiency convenience and innovation across a range of fields from engineering to architecture Alongside these improvements the century began with the extended period of the Napoleonic Wars and was further disrupted by rebellions and revolutions both within Europe and in India South America and other parts of the world Slavery was abolished and urbanization increased dramatically These myriad developments were reflected throughout the period in the proliferation of types of furniture along with their categorization as industrial art at the international exhibitions and world fairs and the increasingly adventurous range of materials that were sometimes used in their construction Nonetheless a strong antiquarian historicist strand also prompted interest in the revival of past styles in areas of art and design including furniture Drawing upon a wealth of visual and textual sources this volume of A Cultural History of Furniture presents essays that examine key characteristics of the furniture of the period on the themes of design and motifs makers making and materials types and uses the domestic setting the public setting exhibition and display furniture and architecture visual representations and verbal representations

The Craft Architects Margaret Richardson, 1983

Architecture in Transition Kelly Crossman, 1987-11-01 However behind the public face of design architectural life in Canada during the 1880s and 1890s was in turmoil The Canadian public had lost confidence in its designers students were forced to study abroad to secure a first class education professional rivalry was unscrupulous architectural competitions a scandal American architects and their architecture were the fashion These things changed but not before the world of the Canadian architect had been turned on its head replaced by one which resembled the world of contemporary architects with professional organisations regulated standards formalised education centred in the universities and the belief that Canadian architecture should reflect local climates culture and geography Kelly Crossman provides the first analysis of this period Beginning with a review of the architectural milieu in Toronto and Montreal in the 1880s he traces the rise of professionalism as an idea and architectural nationalism as a goal His analysis is more a history of architectural ideas than a survey of forms It places the architecture of these years in an historical and ideological context demonstrating that it developed with its own logic in response to national and international factors During the two decades after 1885 Canadian architects grappled with problems whose long term implications they could not have foreseen the role of the architect in industrialised society the need to accommodate and integrate applied science and the need to express their own and their country's personality in architectural form By the beginning of this century they had begun to find their own voice The story of this process will be of interest not just to students and scholars but to anyone interested in the development of Canada and its architecture Great Houses of Scotland Hugh Montgomery-Massingberd, Christopher Simon Sykes, 1997 26 houses photographed in colour and accompanied by informative text about their history The Age of Mackintosh, 1992 This is an issue of our annual journal Architectural Heritage William Burrell Martin Bellamy, Isobel MacDonald, 2022-03-03 In 1944 Glasgow received one of the greatest gifts ever made to any city in the world a collection of over 6 000 artworks of many types spanning centuries and civilisations The benefactors were Glasgow born shipping magnate Sir William Burrell and Constance Lady Burrell Burrell's business success him to amass an extraordinary collection which he housed in the family home at Hutton Castle in the Scottish borders When he decided to leave the collection to the nation he considered donating it to London based galleries before deciding on Glasgow Corporation together with the residue of his estate to provide a suitable building It was many years before the right location was found and The Burrell Collection finally opened in 1983 This new biography is based on recent research full access to the Burrell archive and in depth knowledge of the collection Sir William was a complicated and private man who shunned publicity adored his wife but had a tumultuous relationship with his daughter In politics Conservative he campaigned for better housing conditions as long as this didn't cause further expense to the taxpayer The authors take a candid and considered view of who William Burrell the man was what sparked his passion for collecting and what his gift continues to mean to the city History of Scottish Architecture Miles Glendinning, 2019-07-30 At last here

Scotch Baronial Miles Glendinning, Aonghus MacKechnie, 2019-01-10 As the debate about Scottish independence rages on this book takes a timely look at how Scotland's politics have been expressed in its buildings exploring how the architecture of Scotland in particular the constantly changing ideal of the castle has been of great consequence to the ongoing narrative of Scottish national identity Scotch Baronial provides a politically framed examination of Scotland's kaleidoscopic castle architecture tracing how it was used to serve successive political agendas both prior to and during the three unionist centuries from the early 17th century to the 20th century The book encompasses many of the country's most important historic buildings from the palaces left behind by the lost monarchy to revivalist castles and the proud town halls of the Victorian age examining their architectural styles and tracing their wildly fluctuating political and national connotations It ends by bringing the story into the 21st century exploring how contemporary neo modernist architecture in today's Scotland as exemplified in the Holyrood parliament relates to concepts of national identity in architecture over the previous centuries

A Passion for Castles Janet Brennan-Inglis, 2022-10-06 In the 1880s two Edinburgh architects began to survey measure and sketch the castles of Scotland travelling the length and breadth of the country on trains bicycles and on foot Together they produced the five magnificent volumes of The Castellated and Domestic Architecture of Scotland an unrivalled work of research that surveys more than 700 of Scotland's castellated buildings ranging from great medieval fortresses to small lairds houses with pepper pot turrets and is illustrated with thousands of sketches and plans The first part of A Passion for Castles tells the life stories of David MacGibbon and Thomas Ross and their work as Edinburgh architects before they embarked on their magisterial survey revealing interesting and previously unknown details about the two men The second part of the book sets their enormously ambitious castles project in its historical context and describes how MacGibbon and Ross managed to achieve their pioneering systematic and comprehensive survey The final part of the book provides a regional overview of the current status of all the castles surveyed by MacGibbon and Ross followed by a thematic exploration of those that have been lost those that have been transformed and those at risk of collapse before posing questions about what the future holds for the castles of Scotland
