The Artist in the Machine Arthur I. Miller, 2020-11-10 An authority on creativity introduces us to AI powered computers that are creating art literature and music that may well surpass the creations of humans Today s computers are composing music that sounds more Bach than Bach turning photographs into paintings in the style of Van Gogh s Starry Night and even writing screenplays But are computers truly creative or are they merely tools to be used by musicians artists and writers In this book Arthur I Miller takes us on a tour of creativity in the age of machines Miller an authority on creativity identifies the key factors essential to the creative process from the need for introspection to the ability to discover the key problem He talks to people on the cutting edge of artificial intelligence encountering computers that mimic the brain and machines that have defeated champions in chess Jeopardy and Go In the central part of the book Miller explores the riches of computer created art introducing us to artists and computer scientists who have among much else unleashed an artificial neural network to create a nightmarish multi eyed dog cat taught AI to imagine developed a robot that paints created algorithms for poetry and produced the world s first computer composed musical Beyond the Fence staged by Android Lloyd Webber and friends But Miller writes in order to be truly creative machines will need to step into the world He probes the nature of consciousness and speaks to researchers trying to develop emotions and consciousness in computers Miller argues that computers can already be as creative as humans and someday will surpass us But this is not a dystopian account Miller celebrates the creative possibilities of artificial intelligence in art music and literature Poems William Wordsworth, 1898
