New Xenophobia In Europe:

New Xenophobia in Europe Adrian Favell, Bernd Baumgartl, 2023-11-27 In the last years we have witnessed predominantly within Europe a dramatic upsurge in xenophobic attitudes and ethnic violence This book analyses most European countries as far as the feeling for the treatment of and the action against foreigners is concerned and describes various aspects of the complexity and variation of the xenophobia theme The economic recession uncertainty about the future of granted values and institutions like the EU NATO and OSCE has brought xenophobia back to the forefront of the European agenda This book is the product of an initiative by researchers at the European University Institute in Florence and takes advantage of both the sophisticated research undertaken at and the multi national composition of the Institute all co authors describe their own country all have several years of experience as social scientists working on dissertations and in projects of related interest and nearly all of them are EUI members or alumni

Xenophobia and Islamophobia in Europe Raymond Taras, 2012-06-30 This cross national analysis of Islamophobia looks at these questions in an innovative even handed way steering clear of politically correct cliches and stereotypes It cautions that Islamophobia is a serious threat to European values and norms and mus

Modern-Day Xenophobia Oksana Yakushko, 2018-11-17 This book engages the topic of xenophobia from both psychological and socio political approaches Recently xenophobia as a social standpoint or social attitude has come under increased scrutiny by the public scholars and educators however few works have directly summarized current theories of xenophobia as well as articulated critical perspectives on the issue This work provides an overview of the concept historical factors related to its development and a review of varied theoretical perspectives The intertwining of psychological and sociological perspectives allows the author to present a multi dimensional multi layered argument in a way which effectively prevents any attempt to apply any one single over arching theory and thus effectively presents the complexity of the topic at hand

Resisting Racism and Xenophobia Faye V. Harrison, 2005-09-08 Harrison s collection of essays focuses on the intersections of race gender sexuality class and ethno nation that influence the dynamics of human rights conflicts in different parts of the world The authors investigate human rights conflicts in Europe the Americas Asia Africa and Australia and reflect upon the political concerns and anxieties that have taken center stage since the catastrophe of 9 11 The contributors are an internationally diverse group of anthropologists and human rights activists concerned with global culturally diverse gendered experiences This book will be valuable to instructors and applied professionals in anthropology gender studies ethnic studies and international human rights

Populism and Heritage in Europe Ayhan Kaya, 2019-09-25 Populism and Heritage in Europe explores popular discourses about European and national heritage that are being used by specific political actors to advance their agendas and to prevent minority groups from being accepted into European society Investigating what kind of effect the politics of fear has on these notions of heritage and identity the book also examines what kind of impact recent events and crises have had on the types of European memories and identities that have been promoted by the supporters of right wing populist parties Based on qualitative fieldwork conducted in six countries this book specifically analyses how anti European identities are being articulated by right wing populist individuals Providing an analysis of the manifestos speeches and official documents of such parties the book examines how they instrumentalise xenophobia Islamophobia Euroscepticism globalisation and international trade in European spaces to mobilise the masses hit by financial crisis and refugee crisis Drawing on in depth interviews with the sympathisers of populist movements Kaya provides some insights into the main motivations of these individuals in resorting to nativist and populist discourses whilst also providing a thorough analysis of the use of the past and heritage by such parties and their followers Populism and Heritage provides a unique insight into one of the most contested trends of the contemporary age As such the book should be of great interest to those working in the fields of heritage studies cultural studies politics sociology anthropology philosophy and history      European National Identities Roland Vogt, 2017-09-08 Making sense of the perplexing diversity of Europe is a challenging task How compatible are national identities in Europe What makes Europe European What do Europeans have in common European National Identities explores the diversity of European states nations and peoples In doing so the editors focus on the origins and elements of different national identities in Europe and different themes of national self understanding Each chapter contributes a unique view of national identities gravitating around myth historical experiences and traumas values ethnic and linguistic differences and religious fault lines This work grounds European national identities within cultural historical and political dynamics which makes the work approachable for many readers including historians sociologists and political scientists In addition the editors illustrate that national identities continue to be a source of contention and a challenge to political developments the demands of immigrants and minorities and the dynamics of European integration This book draws particular attention to identity shifts and conflicts within individual European countries      Contemporary British Fascism N. Copsey, 2016-02-02 For the first time since the 1970s when the National Front became Britain's fourth largest political party the recent electoral success of the British National Party has put Britain's extreme right back on the political map Nigel Copsey provides a clear and comprehensive analysis of the history of the British National Party and its struggle for political legitimacy With far right parties enjoying unprecedented success across Europe this book also locates its subject in the broader international context      Whither Multiculturalism? Barbara Saunders, David Haljan, 2003 The attempt to make democratic processes more inclusive has led to the problematic notion of multiculturalism It is based on a new principle that all voices should be heard and equal respect has become the irreducible core of the liberal state However mere dialogue is not enough First it tends to privilege those who are already privileged To change this needs active exploratory listening that is allowed to challenge everyone's picture of the world Second since the tensions and ambiguities are here to stay practical ways to cope and negotiate have to be found although it's not at all clear what is involved The contributors to this volume explore both dimensions and in particular point to what it means when the language game of dialogicality meets its limit. However, as they point out, the limits are not absolute but can be the entry to more complex language games. The authors in this volume from Canada, the Netherlands, Belgium, and Britain bring a vast repertoire of resources and interpretative frames to bear on the task of opening up what might be understood by the political, ethical, aesthetic notion of multiculturalism. In these contributions, one can hear a plea for an enhanced conception of democratic dialogue for the need to embrace different ontological, aesthetic, moral assumptions, and for an ethics and politics which are more generous and receptive.

A Cultural History of Race in the Modern and Genomic Age Tanya Maria Golash-Boza, 2023-06-01. The period from the 1920s to the present is marked by the rise of eugenics, the expansion and hardened enforcement of immigration laws, legal apartheid, the continuance of race pseudoscience, and the rise of human and civil rights discourse in response. Eugenics programmes in the early 20th century focused on sterilization and evolved into unimaginable horrors with the Nazi regime in Germany. Countries in Europe and across the Americas have used immigration policies to shape the racial composition of their territories. Legal apartheid has been slowly dismantled in the United States and South Africa yet continues to have enduring consequences. Eugenics today persists in various permutations of race science. Leaders and activists have drawn from civil and human rights discourses to fight back against the persistence of racial inequalities and racialized discourses in the 21st century. We can look back on history and see that the Holocaust was a tragedy of historic proportions, yet the tradition of scientific racism that led to the Holocaust continues. We can look back and see that the internment of the Japanese during the Second World War was a horrific injustice, yet detention camps filled with Central Americans continue to proliferate in the United States, and refugee camps around the world are overflowing. As this volume makes clear, racism is an ideology that is adept at changing with the times yet never dissipates.

Migration and Xenophobia Kyle Farmbry, 2019-04-29. Migration and Xenophobia: A Three Country Exploration examines issues of migration and xenophobia using the experiences of three nations: the United States, South Africa, and Malta. Through the cases, Kyle Farmbry builds a larger dialogue examining issues related to patterns of movement and the xenophobic realities encountered with such migrations. The book builds upon projections from the United Nations, the World Bank, and the International Organization for Migration that say the world will experience a continued wave of movement between people and place for the foreseeable future. If these are true, then the lessons from the nations examined here have implications for a broader set of realities related to migration. The experiences of these nations represent a microcosm of what is happening globally in relation to nation-based questions on the migration realities of the early twenty-first century.

The Anthropology of Ireland Hastings Donnan, Thomas M. Wilson, 2020-08-04. Where and what is Ireland? What are the identities of the people of Ireland? How has European Union membership shaped Irish people's lives and interests? How global is local Ireland? This book argues that such questions can be answered only by understanding everyday aspects of Irish culture and identity. Such understanding is achieved by paying close attention to what people in Ireland themselves say about the radical changes in their lives in the context of wider global transformation As notions of sex religion and politics are radically reworked in an Ireland being re imagined in ways inconceivable just a generation ago anthropologists have been at the forefront of recording the results The first comprehensive book length introduction to anthropological research on the island as a whole The Anthropology of Ireland considers the changing place in a changing Ireland of religion sex sport race dance young people the Travellers St Patrick s Day and much more International Deficit Thinking Richard R.

Valencia,2019-12-06 International Deficit Thinking Educational Thought and Practice explores the incontrovertible reality of the persistent and pervasive academic achievement gap in many countries between marginalized students primarily of color and their economically advantaged White counterparts For example International Deficit Thinking discusses the cases of low socioeconomic Black and Mexican American students in the United States Indigenous M ori students in New Zealand and immigrant Moroccan and Turkish pupils in Belgium The predominant theoretical perspective that has been advanced to explain the school failure of marginalized students is the deficit thinking paradigm a parsimonious endogenous and pseudoscientific model that blames such students as the makers of their own school failure Deficit thinking asserts that the low academic achievement of many marginalized students is due to their limited intellectual ability poor academic achievement motivation and being raised in dysfunctional families and cultures Drawing from in part critical race theory systemic inequality analysis and colonialism postcolonialism award winning author and scholar Richard R Valencia examines deficit thinking in education in 16 countries e g Canada Peru Australia England India South Africa He seeks to a document and debunk deficit thinking as an interpretation for school failure of marginalized students b offer scientifically defensible counternarratives for race class language and gender based differences in academic achievement c provide suggestions for workable and sustainable school reform for marginalized students Of Fear and Strangers George Makari,2021-09-14

Winner of the International Psychoanalytical Association s 2023 Elisabeth Young Bruehl Prejudice Award A Bloomberg Best Nonfiction Book of 2021 A startling work of historical sleuthing and synthesis Of Fear and Strangers reveals the forgotten histories of xenophobia and what they mean for us today By 2016 it was impossible to ignore an international resurgence of xenophobia What had happened Looking for clues psychiatrist and historian George Makari started out in search of the idea s origins To his astonishment he discovered an unfolding series of never told stories While a fear and hatred of strangers may be ancient he found that the notion of a dangerous bias called xenophobia arose not so long ago Coined by late nineteenth century doctors and political commentators and popularized by an eccentric stenographer xenophobia emerged alongside Western nationalism colonialism mass migration and genocide Makari chronicles the concept s rise from its popularization and perverse misuse to its spread as an ethical principle in the wake of a series of calamities that culminated in the Holocaust and its sudden reappearance in the twenty first century He investigates xenophobia s evolution through the writings of figures such as Joseph Conrad Albert Camus and Richard Wright and innovators like Walter Lippmann Sigmund Freud Jean

Paul Sartre Simone de Beauvoir and Frantz Fanon Weaving together history philosophy and psychology Makari offers insights into varied related ideas such as the conditioned response the stereotype projection the Authoritarian Personality the Other and institutional bias Masterful original and elegantly written Of Fear and Strangers offers us a unifying paradigm by which we might more clearly comprehend how irrational anxiety and contests over identity sweep up groups and lead to the dark headlines of division so prevalent today

Social Change and Education in Greece S. Themelis, 2013-01-07 Aims to inform students scholars and educators about the complex processes and factors that promote or impede education s potential to enhance individual advancement within the socioeconomic structure of a late industrialized country within the context of modern capitalism

Racialization and Religion Nasar Meer, 2015-04-10 This volume locates the contemporary study of anti-Semitism and Islamophobia squarely within the fields of race and racism As such it challenges the extent to which discussion of the racialization of these minorities remains unrelated to each other or is explored in distinct silos as a series of internal debates By harnessing the explanatory power of long established organizing concepts within the study of race and racism this collection of articles makes a historically informed theoretical and empirical contribution to aligning these analytical pursuits The collection brings together a range of perspectives on this subject including a comparison between Islamophobia in early modern Spain and twenty first century Europe an examination of the new anti-Semitism and an analysis of online anti-Muslim and anti-Semitic jokes This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies

Negotiating Europe's Immigration Frontiers Barbara Melis, 2021-10-25

The Development of Legal Instruments to Combat Racism in a Diverse Europe Jan Niessen, Isabelle Chopin, 2004-04-01 Europe has come a long way at least in the institutional response to racism This book describes the responses of the Council of Europe and the European Union to the worrying trends of racism and xenophobia in the 1990s and considers the prospects for combating discrimination in Europe using tools that have emerged as a result Part one looks at the evolution of the Council of Europe apparatus to combat discrimination and the anti-discrimination standards prescribed by its institutions Part two considers the legislative measures recently adopted by the European Union The contributions in Part three take a comparative perspective of all measures adopted at European level to combat racial and ethnic discrimination

Cultural Politics of Ethnicity Vera Sokolova, 2012-02-27 This book maps out the history of Czechoslovak linguistic and social practices directed at Roma during the communist period It explains how contemporary Czech society has come to understand the Roma population in terms of inherited social medical and juridical ideas Rather than focusing on the Roma people as an object of analysis the book problematizes assumed notions of Gypsiness and Czechness in mainstream society by highlighting the role of different socialist discourses in constructing images of Roma as socially deviant and abnormal By uncovering the lines of continuity in the intersections of ethnic discrimination social deviance and citizenship from the 1950s to the collapse of communism this book comes to terms with a variety of questions that have not yet been adequately addressed in the literature What underlying assumptions informed the socialist regime's understanding of Gypsiness and how did these conceptions relate to notions of citizenship equality and normality How and why did the meaning of the terms Gypsies and Roma become imbued in popular discourse with ideas of unhealthiness and social deviance What implications does translating perceived cultural traits and lifestyles of Roma into non ethnic frames of reference have for understanding racism and ethnic sensibilities in the country today The work emphasizes historical continuities between contemporary xenophobia and the strategies which the communist regime used to deal with the Gypsy question Focusing on the discrepancies between written laws and policies as well as their implementation this study exposes the intricate relationships between official beliefs institutional policies and popular consciousness under the communist regime For it was these relationships which together created the mechanisms of social control that facilitated discrimination of Czechoslovak Roma under the guise of social welfare

Philosophies of Integration Adrian Favell, 2016-02-17 A comprehensive comparative study of the distinct ideas and political arguments that have shaped French and British policies towards their ethnic minorities and the effects of these intellectual frameworks at local national and European levels Charting the politics and events that brought the respective institutional solutions together the author sets out the divergent conceptualisations of citizenship nationality pluralism autonomy public order and tolerance that make up the national philosophies in the two countries republican integration in France and multicultural race relations in Britain This new edition published in paperback contains a new preface bringing the volume up to date in the light of new legislation and progress

Racism Postcolonialism Europe Graham Huggan, Ian Law, 2009-01-01 This multidisciplinary edited collection turns the postcolonial critical gaze back on Europe itself arguing that racism is alive and dangerously well and examining a variety of postcolonial criticism in order to understand a variety of racisms those of false respect reaction and surveillance Racism Postcolonialism Europe wisely suggests that all of these forms of postcolonial racism occur under the guise of representing the interests of the European people which is a very different entity than the European population as a whole This volume which includes contributions from Griselda Pollock Michel Wieviorka and Philomena Essed will be required reading for scholars and students of race postcolonial studies sociology and cultural studies alike
