Operations Research Process Strategy:

Operations Research and Artificial Intelligence: The Integration of Problem-Solving Strategies Donald E. Brown, Chelsea C. White III, 2012-12-06 The purpose of this book is to introduce and explain research at the boundary between two fields that view problem solving from different perspectives Researchers in operations research and artificial intelligence have traditionally remained separate in their activities Recently there has been an explosion of work at the border of the two fields as members of both communities seek to leverage their activities and resolve problems that remain intractable to pure operations research or artificial intelligence techniques This book presents representative results from this current flurry of activity and provides insights into promising directions for continued exploration This book should be of special interest to researchers in artificial intelligence and operations research because it exposes a number of applications and techniques which have benefited from the integration of problem solving strategies Even researchers working on different applications or with different techniques can benefit from the descriptions contained here because they provide insight into effective methods for combining approaches from the two fields Additionally researchers in both communities will find a wealth of pointers to challenging new problems and potential opportunities that exist at the interface between operations research and artificial intelligence In addition to the obvious interest the book should have for members of the operations research and artificial intelligence communities the papers here are also relevant to members of other research communities and development activities that can benefit from improvements to fundamental problem solving approaches

Strategic Supply Chain Management in Process Industries Reinhard Hübner, 2007-06-13 More and more often practitioners in process industry have to adapt their global production networks to changes in the competitive environment A majority of the supply network design models proposed by academia does not sufficiently capture the economic and technical questions that have to be resolved This work seeks to provide the necessary operations research decision support tools It builds on the example of specialty chemicals industry which faces a strong increase of competitive pressure and historically grown production networks that typically lack a coherent design strategy Decision makers have to define a global production network re design strategy Therefore the book proposes a planning process split into the two phases global production network optimization and individual site selection To support the former a comprehensive Mixed Integer Linear Programming model is proposed while an approach based on the Analytic Hierarchy Process is suggested for the latter Findings from a case study demonstrate the applicability of OR methods to real world production networks

Operations Research: Process and Strategy David S. Stoller,1964 A brief history of operations research and a discussion of the nature of operations research problems Preface

The Paradoxical Foundation of Strategic Management Andreas Rasche,2007-10-25 This book offers a systematic critique of the scientific discourse of strategic management It uncovers scholars unquestioned assumptions and shows that by upholding these assumptions reseachers obscure the paradoxical nature of strategic reasoning To uncover the paradoxes of strategic management the author refers to the philosophy of Jacques Derrida He exposes the paradoxes that inevitably occur when theorizing about corporate strategy along the dimensions strategy context process and content and shows how these paradoxes can enrich future thinking about strategic problems The analysis is completed by a discussion of theoretical and practical implications which highlight the need to research strategy not as something an organization has but as something an organization does Such a practice perspective gives reference to the paradoxical ground that strategic management rests on and enriches scholars ability to reflect on practitioners tasks while doing strategy in organizations

Operations Research and Decision Aid Methodologies in Traffic and Transportation Management Martine Labbe,Gilbert Laporte,Katalin Tanczos,Philippe Toint,2013-06-29 Every one relies on some kind of transportation system nearly every day Go ing to work shopping dropping children at school and many other cultural or social activities imply leaving home and using some form of transportation which we expect to be efficient and reliable Of course efficiency and reliability do not occur by chance but require careful and often relatively complex planning by transportation system managers both in the public and private sectors It has long been recognized that mathematics and more specifically operations research is an important tool of this planning process However the range of skills required to cover both fields even partially is very large and the opportunities to gather people with this very diverse expertise are too few The organization of the NATO Advanced Studies Institute on Operations Research and Decision Aid Methodologies in Traffic and Transportation Management in March 1997 in Balatonfured Hungary was therefore more than welcome and the group of people that gathered for a very studious two weeks on the shores of the beautiful lake Balaton did really enjoy the truly multidisciplinary and high scientific level of the meeting The purpose of the present volume is to report in a chronological order the various questions that were considered by the lecturers and the students at the institute After a general introduction to the topic the first week focused on issues related to traffic modeling mostly in an urban context
