Rhythm Lexi Eikelboom, 2018-08-17 Rhythm A Theological Category argues that as a pervasive dimension of human existence with theological implications rhythm ought to be considered a category of theological significance Philosophers and theologians have drawn on the category of rhythm patterned movements of repetition and variation to describe reality however the ways in which rhythm is used and understood differ based on a variety of metaphysical commitments with varying theological implications Lexi Eikelboom brings those implications into the open through using resources from phenomenology prosody and the social sciences to analyse and evaluate uses of rhythm in metaphysical and theological accounts of reality The analysis relies on a distinction from prosody between a synchronic approach to rhythm which observes the whole at once and considers how various dimensions of a rhythm hold together harmoniously and a diachronic approach which focuses on the ways in which time unfolds as the subject experiences it Based on an engagement with the twentieth century Jesuit theologian Erich Przywara alongside thinkers as diverse as Augustine and the contemporary philosopher Giorgio Agamben Eikelboom proposes an approach to rhythm that serves the concerns of theological conversation It then demonstrates the difference that including rhythm in such theological conversation makes to how we think about questions such as what is creation and what is the nature of the God creature relationship from the perspective of rhythm As a theoretical category capable of expressing metaphysical commitments yet shaped by the cultural rhythms in which those expressing such commitments are embedded rhythm is particularly significant for theology as a phenomenon through which culture and embodied experience influence doctrine

The Psychology of Beauty Ethel Dench Puffer,1906 The Psychology of Beauty is a classic aesthetics essay by Ethel D Puffer The human being who thrills to the experience of beauty in nature and in art does not forever rest with that experience unquestioned The day comes when he yearns to pierce the secret of his emotion to discover what it is and why that has so stung him to defend and to justify his transport to himself and to others He seeks a reason for the faith that is in him And so have arisen the speculative theories of the nature of beauty on the one hand and the studies of concrete beauty and our feelings about it on the other Speculative theory has taken its own way however as a part of philosophy in relating the Beautiful to the other great concepts of the True and the Good building up an architectonic of abstract ideas far from the immediate facts and problems of the enjoyment of beauty There has grown up on the other hand in the last years a great literature of special studies in the facts of aesthetic production and enjoyment Experiments with the aesthetic elements investigations into the physiological psychology of aesthetic reactions studies in the genesis and development of art forms have multiplied apace But these are still mere groups of facts for psychology they have not been taken up into a single authoritative principle Psychology cannot do justice to the imperative of beauty by virtue of which when we say this is beautiful we have a right to imply that the universe must agree with us A synthesis of these tendencies in the study of beauty is needed in which the results of modern psychology shall help to make intelligible a philosophical theory of beauty The chief purpose of this book is to seek to effect such a union Contents Criticism and aesthetics The nature of beauty The aesthetic repose The beauty of fine art The beauty of visual form Space composition among the old masters The beauty of music The beauty of literature The nature of the emotions of the drama The beauty of ideas The Psychology of Beauty Ethel Puffer Howes, 1905 Applied Drawing Harold Haven Brown, 1916 Studio, 1897
