Gateways to Globalisation François Gipouloux,2011-01-01 Gateways to Globalisation makes a significant contribution to the understanding of the emerging East Asian regional system of financial centres within the broader global context and how they interact within the global circuits of finance. In particular it focuses on the emergence of the financial centres of Tokyo, Shanghai, Hong Kong and Singapore and the attempts by both national governments and the private sector to position them so that they become more competitive in the global and regional context. The volume shows much historical sensitivity showing that while the increase in the importance of these financial centres is principally post 1945, their emergence has been aided by the deep historical roots that go back several centuries. The book will be of great value in the interpretation of the role of East Asia in what many commentators have called the Asian Century.

Terry McGee, The University of British Columbia, Canada

Gateways to Globalisation cogently demonstrates that Hong Kong, Singapore, Beijing, Shanghai and Tokyo operate as gateways to Asia and as linchpins for Asia to the global economy. The authors' theoretical frameworks and original empirical research support provocative findings that challenge conventional thinking. Tokyo may decline as a global city. As Beijing and Shanghai ride China's rapid growth, they face uncertainty about its future openness to the global economy. Vibrant Hong Kong and Singapore confront challenges from other rising centers.

David Meyer, Washington University in St. Louis, US

This book distinguishes itself in its emphasis on historical and cultural links as well as contemporary globalization processes on large East Asian cities. Arising from a research program and four seminars, the editor has picked scholars who can relate past and present trends. Historical links of Japanese cities are explored. Leading world cities in the region are analysed in their evolution from entrepôts to modern gateways, service integrators, transport hubs and financial centres. It is a study of the integration and interrelationships of East Asian cities in the global economy.

Yue-man Yeung, Chinese University of Hong Kong

Asia's trading and financial hubs have become global cities which frequently have more in common and closer linkages with each other than with their corresponding hinterlands. As this book expounds, these global cities illustrate to what extent world trends deeply penetrate and permeate the national territorial interiors and processes that were otherwise presumed to be controlled by the State.

Gateways to Globalisation is soundly based on accurate and extensive research including perspectives from historians, economists, geographers and sociologists from China, Japan, Singapore and Hong Kong in order to grasp the regional character of trade and finance beyond national borders and traditional academic frameworks. The book documents that today major urban centres such as Tokyo, Beijing, Singapore, Hong Kong and Shanghai, situated on the periphery of the maritime corridor of East Asia, form a system characterised by the intensity of their economic linkages and integration into the world economy. Since the mid 1980s these major Asian cities have become the worldwide oriented centres for production, trade, finance and research. This collective effort offers in addition to its regional framework up to date information that strengthens an original trans disciplinary analysis of a region and its economic characteristics which will be of interest to readers within academia and beyond. This well detailed and thorough work will interest academics and post graduate students in economics, geography, finance, history, regional studies and Asian studies as well as those who have a general interest in globalisation Economic Geography Sharmistha Bagchi-Sen, Helen Lawton-Smith, 2006-09-27 The impact of economic geography both within and beyond the wider field of geography has been constrained in the past by its own limitations Drawing together the work of several eminent geographers this superb collection assesses the current state of knowledge in the sub discipline and its future direction In doing so the contributors show how economic geographers have offered explanations that affect places and lives in the broader context of the global economy Offering a discussion of theoretical constructs and methodologies with the purpose to show the need to combine different approaches in understanding spatial inter dependencies contributors also demonstrate the need to engage with multiple audiences and within this context they proceed to examine how geographers have interfaced with businesses and policy This excellent collection moves economic geography from a preoccupation with theory towards more rigorous empirical research with greater relevance for public policy With excellent breadth of coverage it provides an outstanding introduction to research topics and approaches

Future Asian Space Erwin Viray, Davisi Boontharm, Limin Hee, 2012-01-01 Rapid technological economic social and cultural changes are transforming the idea of Asian space With the shift to a global economy and an urban population explosion Asian cities have become a mainstay of progress national pride identity and positioning on the global stage The extraordinary pace and intensity of the changes have created a situation unique in the history of urban development Despite the immense diversity of Asian countries Asia ness is often treated as a distinctive quality that has emerged from unique recent circumstances affecting Asian urbanizations as a whole In Future Asian Space 15 authors explore broad concepts relating to the creation and re creation of Asian space and contemporary Asian identity and their examination of different sites and research approaches highlights the difficulty of pinpointing what Asia ness is or might become Appropriate design and planning of cities is a critical element in building a sustainable future and coping with environmental social and cultural problems Future Asian Space is designed to stimulate interests and engagement in discussions of the Asian city and its trajectories in architecture and urbanism but the authors conclusions will intrigue anyone interested in the future of cities and urban life in Asia
