Proceedings / 10th Working Conference on Reverse Engineering, WCRE 2003 : Victoria, B.C., Canada, 13 - 16 November 2003 Working Conference on Reverse Engineering,2003 Ninth Working Conference on Reverse Engineering Arie van der Dussen,Elizabeth Burd,2002 Software Architecture: System Design, Development and Maintenance Jan Bosch,Morven Gentleman,Christine Hofmeister,Juha Kuusela,2013-06-29 For more and more systems software has moved from a peripheral to a central role replacing mechanical parts and hardware and giving the product a competitive edge Consequences of this trend are an increase in the size of software systems the variability in software artifacts and the importance of software in achieving the system level properties Software architecture provides the necessary abstractions for managing the resulting complexity We here introduce the Third Working IEEE/IFIP Conference on Software Architecture WICSA3 That it is already the third such conference is in itself a clear indication that software architecture continues to be an important topic in industrial software development and in software engineering research However becoming an established field does not mean that software architecture provides less opportunity for innovation and new directions On the contrary one can identify a number of interesting trends within software architecture research The first trend is that the role of the software architecture in all phases of software development is more explicitly recognized Whereas initially software architecture was primarily associated with the architecture design phase we now see that the software architecture is treated explicitly during development product derivation in software product lines at run time and during system evolution Software architecture as an artifact has been decoupled from a particular lifecycle phase Software Product Lines Timo Käkölä,Juan Carlos Dueñas,2007-02-07 Between July 1999 and June 2005 a group of European companies research institutes and universities executed the EUREKA ITEA projects ESAPS CAF and FAMILIES on the topic of product line engineering The projects originated from the need of the industry to improve software engineering performance by organizing product development in product lines The results obtained within the projects have been implemented in several large industries e g

automotive e business medical systems and mobile phones They involve a radical shift in software construction and production The most important research results of the projects are collected in this book Product line engineering was already applied within industry in the 1980s and presumably earlier In the 1980s good architects in many telecommunications companies based their architectures on the ideas of David Parnas who published on the subject of program families They were facilitated by the CHILL language widely used by the telecommunications companies This language deploys the same modularity principles as the Modula programming language family Modularity is a crucial ingredient for implementing systems with a component based architecture Being able to compose the products of components is an important mechanism in all product line architectures In the 1990s the product line ideas started to gain ground in other industries Around 1995 the company experiences reached the academia and since then people in companies and academia have collaborated widely on this subject The ESAPS CAF and FAMILIES projects manifest an institutionalized form of this collaboration
