to assets by the poor such as land housing natural resources or credit policies and public investments that change the nature of returns on assets such as investments in rural roads agricultural inputs and market development policies that transform the value of assets held by the poor by virtue of administrative decisions that increase or reduce value such as re classification of land from arable or pasture to protected lands land use regulations affecting resource use or modification in regulations governing labor rights or migration The chapters originally commissioned to re examine major gaps in knowledge and development practice ten years after the Copenhagen Summit on Social Development are authored by leading scholars from economics anthropology sociology geography and development studies This book is part of a new series New Frontiers in Social Policy which examines issues and approaches to extend the boundaries of social policy beyond conventional social services toward policies and institutions that improve equality of opportunity and social justice in developing countries Other titles in the series include Inclusive States Social Policy and Structural Inequalities and Institutional Pathways to Equity Addressing Inequality Traps The Women, Gender and Development Reader Nalini Visvanathan, Lynn Duggan, Nan Wiegiersma, Laurie Nisonoff, 2011-11-25 The Women Gender and Development Reader II is the definitive volume of literature dedicated to women in the development process Now in a fully revised second edition the editors expertly present the impacts of social political and economic change by reviewing such topical issues as migration persistent structural discrimination the global recession and climate change Approached from a multidisciplinary perspective the theoretical debates are vividly illustrated by an array of global case studies This now classic book has been designed as a comprehensive reader presenting the best of the now vast body of literature The book is divided into five parts incorporating readings from the leading experts and authorities in each field The result is a unique and extensive discussion a guide to the evolution of the field and a vital point of reference for those studying or with a keen interest in women in the development process
