Sex Crimes The International Library Of Criminology Criminal Justice And Penology:

Sex Fiends, Perverts, and Pedophiles Chrysanthi S. Leon, 2011 From MeganOCOs Law to JessicaOCOs Law almost every state in the nation has passed some law to punish sex offenders This popular tough on crime legislation is often written after highly publicized cases have made the gruesome rounds through the media and usually features harsh sentences lifetime GPS monitoring a dramatic expansion of the civil commitment procedures and severe restrictions on where released sex offenders may live In Sex Fiends Perverts and Pedophiles Chrysanthi Leon argues that while the singular notion of the sexual boogeyman has been used to justify these harsh policies not all sex offenders are the same and such OCyone size fits allOCO policies can unfairly punish other offenders of lesser crimes needlessly targeting sometimes ostracizing citizens from their own communities While many recognize that prison is not the right tool for every crime problem Leon compellingly argues that the U S maintains a one size fits all approach to sexual offending which is undermining public safety Leon explains how weOCove reached this pointOCowith a large incarcerated sex offender population many of whom will be released in the coming years with multiple barriers to their success in the community and without much expertise to guide them or to guide those who are charged to help them Leon argues that we cannot blame the public nor even the politicians except indirectly Instead we might blame the institutions we charge with making placement decisions and with the expertsOCoboth those who have chosen to work in the field and those who have caused its marginalization Ultimately Leon shows that when policies intended for the worst offenders take over all of us suffer

Crime, Criminal Justice and Masculinities Stephen Tomsen, 2017-07-05 This volume features the leading contemporary articles that are part of or related to the new masculinities approach in this sphere These comprise an impressive range of theoretical and empirical work including important cultural and ethnographic analyses. They emphasise the relationship between masculinities, the causes and patterns of most criminal offending and victimisation and the broader workings of the wider criminal justice system of policing, public and private criminal courts, corrections and prisons. All of the material has been selected from flagship international journals and was produced by a global mix of male and female researchers with diverse disciplinary backgrounds. These scholars share the view that masculinities are plural, socially constructed, reproduced in the collective social practices of different men and embedded in institutional and occupational settings. Furthermore, masculinities are intricately linked with social struggles for power that occur between men and women and different men. Crime, criminal justice and their cultural representation are key terrain for these masculine contests and are always overlain with issues such as social class, age, race, ethnicity and sexuality.

The Fear of Crime Jason Ditton, Stephen Farrall, 2017-07-05. Studies of the fear of crime have constituted what is undeniably the fastest growing research area within criminology in the last decade and this shows no sign of diminishing. The editors have a distinguished record of innovative research in the field, being responsible for a number of seminal empirical and theoretical articles. In this volume, they have collected together and for the first time all the most significant contributions to the field. The collection includes an introductory essay by the editors and articles reflecting an overview of the field, the causes of vulnerability, the sources of information on victimisation, the methods used to survey fear, the theoretical models employed to explain it and the nature of policies designed to reduce fear.

Sexual Offending Patrick Lussier, Eric

Beauregard, 2018-04-17. There is growing recognition that sexual offending is a multi-determined phenomenon requiring a multi-disciplinary perspective. The significant contribution of psychology and psychiatry but also sociology, gender studies and anthropology to the study of sex offending and perpetrators of sex offenses has played a key role in the development of a distinct field of research. In recent years, however, there has been an increase in criminological research on the topic, introducing criminological theory and concepts, scientific evidence and observations and new methodologies to the field. This book brings together international leading scholars to consider key topics on sex offending and where possible compare and contrast criminological viewpoints with those of other disciplines such as psychology and psychiatry. This book considers the following questions: Are the key explanatory factors of sex offenses completely distinct and different from those of non-sex crime and delinquency? Are current models explaining adult sex offending also applicable to explain sex crimes on college campuses, female sex offending, sexual exploitation, sexual homicide or child luring over the internet? Are today's youth involved in sex offenses tomorrow's adult perpetrators of sex crimes? What is the risk of sexual recidivism and are risk assessment tools effective to identify individuals at risk of committing another sex crime in the future? Are current legal measures used to prevent sex crimes effective? What are the known effects of such measures? What are the issues and challenges related to the criminal investigation of sex offenses? This book is essential reading for students and researchers.

from disciplines such as criminology psychiatry psychology sexology social work and sociology as well as criminal justice professionals and practitioners such as police investigators prosecutors judges probation parole officers and treatment providers counsellors involved with individuals having perpetrated sex offenses

State Crime in the Global Age William Chambliss, Raymond Michalowski, Ronald Kramer, 2013-05-13 State Crime in the Global Age brings together original writings from leading scholars in the field to explore the many ways that the use and abuse of state power results in grave social harms that outweigh by far the consequences of ordinary street crime The topics covered include the crimes of empire illegal war the bombing of civilians state sanctioned torture state sacrifice of human lives and judicial wrongdoing The book breaks new ground through its examination of the ways globalization has intensified potentials for state crime as well as bringing novel theoretical understandings of the state to the study of state crime and exploring strategies for confronting state crime This book while containing much that is of interest to scholars of state crime is designed to be accessible to students and others who are concerned with the ways individuals social groups and whole nations are victimized by the misuse of state power
