Appendix to the Journals of the House of Representatives of New Zealand New Zealand. Parliament. House of Representatives, 1890 The Handbook of Peer Tutoring Russ Hodges, Daniel Sanford, Michelle Steiner, 2025-10-16 The Handbook of Peer Tutoring is the authoritative resource on the emerging interdisciplinary field of peer tutoring in higher education Addressing the multiple audiences of undergraduate tutors in advanced trainings students immersing themselves in the research of learning and writing centers professionals seeking to understand the history and current state of the field and researchers specializing in peer led learning the book gathers in one volume the voices that define the current state of the field In doing so it brings authors and ideas from previously discrete areas of study learning centers writing centers the scholarship of teaching learning communication composition developmental education psychology and others into conversation with one another and advances the case for a single shared scholarship of post secondary peer tutoring that spans numerous disciplines professional communities and continents Each contribution establishes the state of the research with a respect to a specific question or topic and proposes directions for future research Collectively the volume both synthesizes and advances the state of the field while also providing a roadmap for its future growth Internal Affairs Wendy H. Wong, 2012-07-11 Why are some international nongovernmental organizations NGOs more politically salient than others and why are some NGOs better able to influence the norms of human rights Internal Affairs shows how the organizational structures of human rights NGOs and their campaigns determine their influence on policy Drawing on data from seven major international organizations the International Committee of the Red Cross Amnesty International Human Rights Watch M decins sans Fronti res Oxfam International Anti Slavery International and the International League of Human Rights Wendy H Wong demonstrates that NGOs that choose to centralize agenda setting and decentralize the implementation of that agenda are more successful in gaining traction in international politics Challenging the conventional wisdom that the most successful NGOs are those that find the right cause or have the most resources Wong shows that how NGOs make and implement decisions is critical to their effectiveness in influencing international norms about human rights Building on the insights of network theory and organizational sociology Wong traces how power works within NGOs and affects their external authority The internal coherence of an organization as reflected in its public statements and actions goes a long way to assure its influence over the often tumultuous elements of the international human rights landscape
