Larson, Judith M. Larson, 2013-01-11 Coping With Loss describes the many ways in which people cope with the death of someone they love Most earlier books on bereavement have fallen into two categories distillations of the clinical experience of individual therapists or collections of chapters reporting the results of empirical studies Each category is valuable but has tended to serve a narrow group of readers practitioners with particular theoretical orientations or researchers in quest of the latest findings Coauthored by a leading research psychologist and an experienced therapist who specializes in bereavement education and intervention this book is different The authors weave together the strands of theory research and clinical wisdom into a seamless and readable narrative While they discuss previous work they also present new data never before published from one of the largest studies of bereaved people ever conducted the Bereavement Coping Project Unlike most studies to date which focused on only one type of bereaved group usually widows or widowers the Bereavement Coping

Project examined the experiences of several different groups during the first 18 months after the death. The groups included those who had lost a spouse, a parent, an adult sibling, or a child, and those who had lost their significant other to cancer or cardiovascular disease on one hand, as opposed to the stigmatized disease of AIDS on the other. The book begins with a critical overview of theories of bereavement; succeeding chapters explore in depth the impact of specific types of loss, the impact of particular coping strategies on recovery, the impact of social supports and religion, and the special cases of children and of people who seem to grow and change for the better after a loss. A final chapter considers implications for intervention with bereaved people. Each chapter is richly illuminated with real-life examples throughout and ends with a section called Voices in which bereaved people describe their various attempts to cope in their own words. Insightful and informative.

Midwives Coping with Loss and Grief Doreen Kenworthy, Mavis Kirkham, 2019-01-22. The experience of stillbirth and other losses in pregnancy at what is usually a time of great joy is tragic for everyone involved, including midwifery professionals. Although research increasingly shows how profound the effects of loss can be, few studies have explored the effects of pregnancy loss, which often leads to other personal and professional traumas such as loss of autonomy or a workplace on midwives. This in-depth investigation uses a phenomenological approach to capture midwives' experiences of loss and grief in their own words and encompasses both pregnancy loss and wider professional and personal issues. It then makes recommendations to enhance midwives' resilience and ability to cope appropriately whilst giving maximum support to their clients. Reflections on the emerging implications for midwifery education and practice further broaden the scope of the analysis. The insights in this book will be of great use to midwifery managers and supervisors. They will also help midwives to nurture themselves, their colleagues, and their clients at a time when pressures on the service can leave support lacking. The devastating experience of losing a baby for women and their families is something that, as midwives, we strive to understand in order to provide appropriate practical and emotional support. Doreen and Mavis encourage us to consider how we are affected by the grief of others at a deeply personal level. Ultimately, the message in this book is one of hope through reflection and the sharing of experiences: midwives who have been with women whose babies have died can regain their personal strength and learn to re-shape memories in ways that contribute to personal growth and understanding. A Foreword by Nicky Leap.

How to Cope with Grief and Loss Ronald A. Valentino, 2015-12-01. No one is spared from losing the ones they love; death is inevitable, and so are other facets of losing. Grieving is part of the healing process when one loses a loved one due to death and divorce. But loss is not confined to losing the people you love; people grieve over the loss of a job, an opportunity, loss of property due to natural disasters, and loss of friends and family who moved out of town or country. Losing can be devastating, and it brings everyone back to reality that there are things in life that you cannot control. Good and bad things happen to people, and the way they are handled is the true test of one's character. Here are some key points in this book: Grief, How to Cope with Grief, and Heal Your Grieving Heart After a Loss. To Find Peace Within Yourself Once Again, to

Coping with Grief: Surviving the Unexpected Loss of a Child Rick Larnerd,2019-04-10 As parents nearly all mothers and fathers form a bond with their offspring at the moment of birth As we parents know children do not come with instructions however The business of raising them to become productive members of society is a roller coaster of ups and downs This series of trials and errors helps to define and solidify the parental bond When that bond is severed by loss the ensuing chaos sends a grieving parent into a tailspin When that loss is unexpected and there is no time to prepare the grief can be particularly debilitating Parents are not supposed to outlive their children Just as children do not come with instructions for their raising there are no instructions for how to deal with the grief which consumes us when we lose one How can one survive the crippling effects of this tragedy The enormity of that tragedy is compounded when more than one child is unexpectedly lost As you read my story of the loss of two of my three children I hope this survivor s perspective will help to shed light on a very complex and personally unique emotion and serve as an inspiration for others experiencing the same grief With belief in God the love of family support of friends compassion from strangers and the passage of time it truly is possible to overcome the debilitating effects of grief

How to Deal with The Loss of a Loved One Claire Robin, When you have just lost a loved one recovery will be the last thing on your mind The possibility of finding joy in life again enjoying the simple pleasures that life brings moving on and focusing on work and your ambitions will sound impossible and maybe even cruel You may feel like suffering through the rest of your life if only to pay the price for your living while a loved one is dead You may even stop eating well or taking care of yourself just to find a way to speed up the process of going to join them in death Yet you need to recover and move on Following the path of recovery can lead to personal growth excellence and after a while you will find yourself being happy again Loss and its attendant emotions will change you Things can never be the same way it was before you suffered a loss but rather than allow it take you down the downward spiral of depression and coping with drugs you can make a decision to use it to enhance your personal growth It is possible for the process of recovering from a loss to lead to more happiness This is because experiencing a loss gives us a new appreciation for the things we've always taken for granted The bite of wind that used to be an inconvenience becomes an affirmation of life you begin to take time to smell the roses literally and enjoy the scents of life This book provides an ultimate guide for recovery a short note for developing hope amidst the emptiness Tags grief and loss grief and children grief counseling grief therapy grief workbook how to deal with loss of a mother how to deal with loss of a friend how to deal with loss of a sister how to deal with grieving parent how to deal with sadness how to deal with shock
