Making Meaning of Narratives Ruthellen Josselson, Amia Lieblich, 1999-04-05 The sixth volume in this series provides guides for doing qualitative research analysis of several autobiographies hints on how to interpret what is not said in narrative interviews discussion on how cultural meanings and values are transmitted across generations and illustrations of the transformational power of stories Making Sense of Work Through Collaborative Storytelling Tricia Cleland Silva, Paulo de Tarso Fonseca Silva, 2022-02-10 Collective sense making starts with individual stories Stories influence how we construct our sense of self in relation to others and our social environment especially within the world of work The stories we tell ourselves at work particularly during times of change impact our relationships and the collaboration with those who are engaged in the same work activities Stories that we take for granted as common sense may not resonate with others leading to conflict and tensions This book focuses on the development of collaborative practices at work and in organisations through Collaborative Storytelling from sharing stories to exchanging experiences and building a common narrative collectively This open access book will be of interest to practitioners and academics working in the fields of adult education equity and inclusion human resource management practice based studies organisational studies qualitative research methods sensemaking storytelling and workplace identity Patients Making Meaning Bryna Siegel Finer, Cathryn Molloy, Jamie

White-Farnham,2023-09-20 This book explores how women make meaning at various health flashpoints in their lives overcoming fear anxiety and anger to draw upon self advocacy research and crucial decision making Combining focus group research content analysis autoethnography and textual inquiry the book argues that the making and remaking of what we call patient epistemologies is a continual process wherein a health flashpoint sometimes a new diagnosis sometimes a reoccurrence or worsening of an existing condition or the progression of a natural process can cause an individual to be thrust into a discourse community that was not of their own choosing This study will interest students and scholars of health communication rhetoric of health and medicine women s studies public health healthcare policy philosophy of medicine medical sociology and medical humanities

Making Sense of Mind-Game Films Simin Nina Littschwager,2019-06-27 Mind game films and other complex narratives have been a prominent phenomenon of the cinematic landscape during the period 1990 2010 when films like The Sixth Sense Memento Fight Club and Source Code became critical and commercial successes often acquiring a cult status with audiences With their multiple story lines unreliable narrators ambiguous twist endings and paradoxical worlds these films challenge traditional ways of narrative comprehension and in many cases require and reward multiple viewings But how can we make sense of films that don t always make sense the way we are used to While most scholarship has treated these complex films as narrative puzzles that audiences solve with their cognitive skills Making Sense of Mind Game Films offers a fresh perspective by suggesting that they appeal to the body and the senses in equal measures Mind game films tell stories about crises between body mind and world and about embodied forms of knowing and subjective ways of being in the world Through compelling in depth case studies of popular mind game films the book explores how these complex narratives take their embodied spectators with them into such crises The puzzling effect generated by these films stems from a conflict between what we think and what we experience between what we know and what we feel to be true and between what we see and what we sense

Making Sense of Organizational Change and Innovation in Health Care Anne Reff Pedersen,2019-09-20 This book explores the hospital via organisational ethnography OE an approach that involves a mix of fieldwork methods designed to analyse the hospital which also includes participatory observation qualitative interviews and shadowing One way to define a hospital is by its high level of formal organisation resulting in written or digital communication as the main source of communication in patient journals minutes and medical and quality guidelines In contrast in this book the aspects of the informal organisation will be the focus In spite of the many formal regulations of healthcare hospitals are also chaotic organising places where many different groups of people interact in order to negotiate to practice and to make sense of daily work tasks The underlying argument is that in the mundane everyday life of hospitals frontline workers and their interactions with patients and local managers remain at the core of organising hospitals The overall purpose of this book is to report stories back from the field of healthcare demonstrating how people spaces and work as examples of events become important elements of organising hospitals The book will be of interest to students and scholars in and across healthcare management organisation studies ethnography sociology qualitative methods anthropology service management and cultural studies The Constructivist Leader ,2002-08-02 The Constructivist Leader provides educational leaders at all levels with a conceptual framework for leadership defined as reciprocal purposeful learning in community The updated Second Edition of this best selling book enables readers to carry this constructivist vision and purpose forward while effectively implementing standards based reform authentic assessment and constructivist based accountability This new edition features an expanded theory of Constructivist Leadership reflecting the most recent thinking in leadership learning and ethical communities a comprehensive approach to issues of equity diversity and multiculturalism additional strategies for the implementation of constructivist leadership practice principles and examples to guide new approaches to accountability and much more
