The Final Victim of the Blacklist Gerald Horne,2006-09-19 Before he attained notoriety as Dean of the Hollywood Ten the blacklisted screenwriters and directors persecuted because of their varying ties to the Communist Party John Howard Lawson had become one of the most brilliant successful and intellectual screenwriters on the Hollywood scene in the 1930s and 1940s with several hits to his credit including Blockade Sahara and Action in the North Atlantic After his infamous almost violent 1947 hearing before the House Un American Activities Committee Lawson spent time in prison and his lucrative career was effectively over Studded with anecdotes and based on previously untapped archives this first biography of Lawson brings alive his era and features many of his prominent friends and associates including John Dos Passos Theodore Dreiser F Scott Fitzgerald Charles Chaplin Gene Kelly Edmund Wilson Ernest Hemingway Humphrey Bogart Dalton Trumbo Ring Lardner Jr and many others Lawson s life becomes a prism through which we gain a clearer perspective on the evolution and machinations of McCarthyism and anti Semitism in the United States on the influence of the left on Hollywood and on a fascinating man whose radicalism served as a foil for launching the political careers of two Presidents Richard Nixon and Ronald Reagan In vivid marvelously detailed prose Final Victim of the Blacklist restores this major figure to his rightful place in history as it recounts one of the most captivating episodes in twentieth century cinema and politics The Collaboration in the Occupation and Complicity in the Holocaust (1940-1944) Daniel R. Schwarz,2025-07-09 This book examines fiction and film narratives that show the active collaboration of the Vichy government with the Nazis in the deportation and murder of the Jews of France It also explains how these fiction and film narratives affected the official and dominant historical narrative of the 1940-44 Occupation years. More than anything, what changed the dominant narrative of the Occupation years are documentaries and creative works which imaginatively selected and arranged the presentation of neglected and suppressed facts. By stressing how documentaries, novels, and imaginative films changed the dominant narrative of 1940-1944, the author is also arguing how cultural production transformed history.

The Lost One Stephen D. Youngkin, 2005-09-30. Often typecast as a menacing figure, Peter Lorre achieved Hollywood fame first as a featured player and later as a character actor, trademarking his screen performances with a delicately strung balance between good and evil. His portrayal of the child murderer in Fritz Lang's masterpiece M (1931) catapulted him to international fame. Lang said of Lorre: "He gave one of the best performances in film history and certainly the best in his life." Today the Hungarian-born actor is also recognized for his riveting performances in The Man Who Knew Too Much (1934), The Maltese Falcon (1941), and Casablanca (1942). Lorre arrived in America in 1934, expecting to shed his screen image as a villain. He even tried to lose his signature accent, but Hollywood repeatedly cast him as an outsider who hinted at things better left unknown. Seeking greater control over his career, Lorre established his own production company. His unofficial graylisting by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, however, left him with little work. He returned to Germany where he co-authored, directed, and starred in the film Der Verlorene (The Lost One) in 1951. German audiences rejected Lorre's dark vision of their recent past, and the actor returned to America, wearily accepting roles that parodied his sinister movie personality.

The first biography of this major actor, The Lost One: A Life of Peter Lorre, draws upon more than three hundred interviews, including conversations with directors Fritz Lang, Alfred Hitchcock, Billy Wilder, John Huston, Frank Capra, and Rouben Mamoulian, who speak candidly about Lorre, both the man and the actor. Author Stephen D. Youngkin examines for the first time Lorre's pivotal relationship with German dramatist Bertolt Brecht, his experience as an immigrant from Hitler's Germany, his battle with drug addiction, and his struggle with the choice between celebrity and intellectual respectability. Separating the enigmatic person from the persona long associated with one of classic Hollywood's most recognizable faces, The Lost One is the definitive account of a life triumphant and yet tragically riddled with many failed possibilities.

Cult Film as a Guide to Life I.Q. Hunter, 2016-09-08. Cult Film as a Guide to Life investigates the world and experience of cult films, from well-loved classics to the worst movies ever made. Including comprehensive studies of cult phenomena such as trash films, exploitation versions, cult adaptations, and case studies of movies as different as Showgirls, Room 237, and The Lord of the G Strings, this lively, provocative, and original book shows why cult films may just be the perfect guide to making sense of the contemporary world. Using his expertise in two fields, I.Q. Hunter also explores the important overlap between cult film and adaptation studies. He argues that adaptation studies could learn a great deal from cult and fan studies about the importance of audiences' emotional investment, not only in texts but also in the relationships between them, and how such bonds of caring are structured over time. The book's emergent theme is cult film as lived experience. With reference mostly to American cinema, Hunter explores how cultists, with their powerful emotional investment in films care for them over time and across numerous intertexts in relationships of memory nostalgia and anticipation
