Making Of Sixteenth Century Identity:

The Making of English National Identity Krishan Kumar, 2003-03-13 Why is English national identity so enigmatic and so elusive Why unlike the Scots Welsh Irish and most of continental Europe do the English find it so difficult to say who they are The Making of English National Identity first published in 2003 is a fascinating exploration of Englishness and what it means to be English Drawing on historical sociological and literary theory Krishan Kumar examines the rise of English nationalism and issues of race and ethnicity from earliest times to the present day He argues that the long history of the English as an imperial people has as with other imperial people like the Russians and the Austrians developed a sense of missionary nationalism which in the interests of unity and empire has necessitated the repression of ordinary expressions of nationalism Professor Kumar's lively and provocative approach challenges readers to reconsider their pre conceptions about national identity and who the English really are

Luther's Lectures on Genesis and the Formation of Evangelical Identity John A. Maxfield, 2008-10-01 Martin Luther's lectures on Genesis delivered at the University of Wittenberg during the last decade of his life and later published by his students allow modern readers to view a sixteenth century professor engaging his students with the text of scripture and using that text to form them spiritually The lectures show how Luther attempted to form in his students a new identity an Evangelical identity enabling them to make sense of the rapidly changing society and church in which they were being prepared to serve primarily as pastors in the developing territorial churches of the Reformation This study uses the text of the lectures to outline the contours of the new identity that Luther laid out through his exposition of Genesis They include how Luther approached and taught his students to perceive the text of holy scripture how that text unveiled for Luther the nature of Christian life in the world and how Luther taught his students to view the past the present and the future of the church and the world through the book of Genesis Whether in the published editions of the lectures the historic Luther was actually misunderstood or was transformed in some way into the prophetic Luther of later memory the text reveals the Luther that his students heard and subsequent generations read

Hagiography, Historiography, and Identity in Sixth-Century Gaul Tamar Rotman, 2025-10-01 Gregory of Tours the sixth century Merovingian bishop composed extensive historiographical and hagiographical corpora during the twenty years of his episcopacy in Tours These works serve as important sources for the cultural social political and religious history of Merovingian Gaul This book focuses on Gregory's hagiographical collections especially the Glory of the Martyrs Glory of the Confessors and Life of the Fathers which contain accounts of saints and their miracles from across the Mediterranean world It analyses these accounts from literary and historical perspectives examining them through the lens of relations between the Merovingians and their Mediterranean counterparts and contextualizing them within the identity crisis that followed the disintegration of the Roman world This approach leads to groundbreaking conclusions about Gregory's hagiographies which this study argues were designed as an ecclesiastical history of the Merovingian Church that enabled him to craft a specific

Gallo Christian identity for his audience Islam, Christianity and the Making of Czech Identity, 1453-1683 Laura Lisy-Wagner, 2016-05-06 Unlike many narratives about the Czech lands which place them on the periphery of their own history this study considers Czechs as central characters looking both east and west to find their place in the early modern world Islam Christianity and the Making of Czech Identity 1453 1683 works through the descriptive and ethnographic texts produced by Czech speakers about Islam and the Ottoman Empire to show how they used this discourse to create Czech identities Rather than simply constructing identity in opposition to the Islamic Other Laura Lisy Wagner shows how these authors played the Holy Roman and Ottoman Empires off each other creating an autonomous space for themselves in between Lisy Wagner introduces sources that are new to English language historiography and uses them in a way that is new to Czech historiography as well The chapters are organized based on different categories of agents travelers ethnographers religious leaders artists and political revolutionaries whose voices cast ideas of Europe and Czech identity in the early modern period in a new and different light Protestant History and Identity in Sixteenth-century Europe: The later Reformation Bruce Gordon, 1996 St Andrews studies in reformation history Mesoamerican Open Spaces and Mural Paintings as Statements of Cultural Identity Celina B. Barrios de Senisterra, 2019-09-20 The sensitive perception of a society's artistic expressions facilitates our comprehension of its ethos enabling the meaningful communication between individuals and communities which is the fundamental link that connects human beings This book explores the spirit of the Mesoamerican civilization from pre history until the 20th century interpreting its architectural legacy both in the planned environments of the public plazas and in the art that is integrated into structural designs exemplified by the Mexican mural paintings The first part studies the open areas defined by substantially symbolic architecture providing the spatial forum for the spiritual and consequential collective manifestations of the native population throughout the history of Mesoamerica linking past present and future generations The second part focuses on mural painting which has been a consistent universal medium for eloquent cultural interaction among Mesoamericans The Oxford Handbook of Identity Development Kate C. McLean, Moin U. Syed, 2015 Identity is defined in many different ways in various disciplines in the social sciences and sub disciplines within psychology The developmental psychological approach to identity is characterized by a focus on developing a sense of the self that is temporally continuous and unified across the different life spaces that individuals inhabit Erikson proposed that the task of adolescence and young adulthood was to define the self by answering the question Who Am I There have been many advances in theory and research on identity development since Erikson's writing over fifty years ago and the time has come to consolidate our knowledge and set an agenda for future research The Oxford Handbook of Identity Development represents a turning point in the field of identity development research Various and disparate groups of researchers are brought together to debate extend and apply Erikson's theory to contemporary problems and empirical issues The result is a comprehensive and state of the art examination of identity development that pushes the field in
