Moving Beyond Academic Discourse Composition Studies And The Public Sphere:

Moving Beyond Academic Discourse Christian R. Weisser, 2002 Weisser English U of Hawaii Hilo addresses the issue of how to move writing instruction into the public sphere Coverage includes the historical background recent progressive theories in composition studies on writing as a site of political and social engagement existing theoretical conversations and how they are understood within contemporary social and cultural theory with a focus on the work of Jurgen Habermas the role of the intellectual in postmodern society and the degree to which the material conditions of academic life allow for public intellectualism For theorists teachers and writers at all levels Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

After the Public Turn Frank Farmer, 2013-04-15 In After the Public Turn author Frank Farmer argues that counterpublics and the people who make counterpublics citizen bricoleurs deserve a more prominent role in our scholarship and in our classrooms Encouraging students to understand and consider resistant or oppositional discourse is a viable route toward mature participation as citizens in a democracy Farmer examines two very different kinds of publics cultural and disciplinary and discusses two counterpublics within those broad categories zine discourses and certain academic discourses By juxtaposing these two significantly different kinds of publics Farmer suggests that each discursive world can be seen in its own distinct way as a counterpublic an oppositional social formation that has a stake in widening or altering public life as we know it Drawing on major figures in rhetoric and cultural theory Farmer builds his argument about composition teaching and its relation to the public sphere leading to a more sophisticated understanding of public life and a deeper sense of what democratic citizenship means for our time

Community Literacy and the Rhetoric of Public Engagement Linda Flower, 2008-07-24 Community Literacy and the Rhetoric of Public Engagement explores the critical practice of intercultural inquiry and rhetorical problem solving that encourages urban writers and college mentors alike to take literate action Author Linda Flower documents an innovative experiment in community literacy the Community Literacy Center in Pittsburgh and posits a powerful and distinctively rhetorical model of community engagement and pedagogy for both marginalized and privileged writers and speakers In addition she articulates a theory of local publics and explores the transformative potential of alternative discourses and counter public performances In presenting a comprehensive pedagogy for literate action the volume offers strategies for talking and collaborating across difference for conducting an intercultural inquiry that draws out situated knowledge and rival interpretations of shared problems and for writing and speaking to advocate for personal and public transformation Flower describes the competing scripts for social engagement empowerment public deliberation and agency that characterize the interdisciplinary debate over models of social engagement Extending the Community Literacy Center's initial vision of community literacy first published a decade ago Community Literacy and the Rhetoric of Public Engagement makes an important contribution to theoretical conversations about the nature of the public sphere while providing practical instruction in how all people can speak publicly for values and visions of change Winner 2009 Rhetoric

Society of America Book Award Writing Against the Curriculum Randi Gray Kristensen, Ryan M. Claycomb, 2010-01-01 Writing against the Curriculum responds to the popularity of Writing Across the Curriculum WAC and similar programs in U S higher education Essays by administrators faculty and librarians teaching introductory and advanced writing classes argue that such classrooms make excellent spaces to question disciplinarity through the study of rhetoric critical thinking and curricular flexibility This intervention in composition and cultural studies discourses enables the activist enactment of cultural studies theory and addresses the theoretical implications of composition practices Language, Culture, Identity and Citizenship in College Classrooms and Communities Juan C. Guerra, 2015-10-05 Language Culture Identity and Citizenship in College Classrooms and Communities examines what takes place in writing classrooms beyond academic analytical and argumentative writing to include forms that engage students in navigating the civic political social and cultural spheres they inhabit It presents a conceptual framework for imagining how writing instructors can institute campus wide initiatives such as Writing Across Communities that attempt to connect the classroom and the campus to the students various communities of belonging especially students who have been historically underserved This framework reflects an emerging perspective writing across difference that challenges the argument that the best writing instructors can do is develop the skills and knowledge students need to make a successful transition from their home discourses to academic discourses Instead the value inherent in the full repertoire of linguistic cultural and semiotic resources students use in their varied communities of belonging needs to be acknowledged and students need to be encouraged to call on these to the fullest extent possible in the course of learning what they are being taught in the writing classroom Pedagogically this book provides educators with the rhetorical discursive and literacy tools needed to implement this approach Writing Across Difference James Rushing Daniel, Katherine Helen Malcolm, Candice Rai, 2022-03-01 As the nation becomes increasingly divided by economic inequality racial injustice xenophobic violence and authoritarian governance scholars in writing studies have strived to develop responsive theories and practices to engage students teachers administrators and citizens in the crisis of division and to begin the complicated work of radically transforming our inequitable institutions and society Writing Across Difference is one of the first collections to gather scholars from across the field engaged in offering theoretical methodological and pedagogical resources for understanding interrogating negotiating and writing across difference No text in composition has made such a sweeping attempt to place the multiple areas of translingualism anti racism anticolonialism interdisciplinarity and disability into conversation or to represent the field as broadly unified around the concept of difference The chapters in this book specifically explore how monolingual ideology is maintained in institutions and how translingual strategies can re include difference how narrative based interventions can promote writing across difference in classrooms and institutions by complicating dominant discourses and how challenging dominant logics of class race ability and disciplinarity can present opportunities for countering divisiveness Writing Across Difference offers writing scholars a sustained intellectual encounter with the crisis of difference and foregrounds the possibilities such an encounter offers for collective action toward a more inclusive and equitable society It presents a variety of approaches for intervening in classrooms and institutions in the interest of focalizing understanding negotiating and bridging difference The book will be a valuable resource to those disturbed by the bigotry violence and fanaticism that mark our political culture and who are seeking inspiration models and methods for collective response Contributors Anis Bawarshi Jonathan Benda Megan Callow James Rushing Daniel Cherice Escobar Jones Laura Gonzales Juan Guerra Stephanie Kerschbaum Katie Malcolm Nadya Pittendrigh Mya Poe Candice Rai Iris Ruiz Ann Shivers McNair Neil Simpkins Alison Y L Stephens Sumyat Thu Katherine Xue Shui yin Sharon Yam The Locations of Composition Christopher J. Responding to contemporary discussion about using personal accounts in academic writing Personally Speaking Experience as Evidence in Academic Discourse draws on classical and current rhetorical theory feminist theory and relevant examples from both published writers and first year writing students to illustrate the advantages of blending experiential and academic perspectives Candace Spigelman examines how merging personal and scholarly worldviews produces useful contradictions and contributes to a more a complex understanding in academic writing This rhetorical move allows for greater insights than the reading or writing of experiential or academic modes separately does Personally Speaking foregrounds the semi fictitious nature of personal stories and the rhetorical possibilities of evidence as Spigelman provides strategies for writing instructors who want to teach personal academic argument while supplying practical mechanisms for evaluating experiential claims The volume seeks to complicate and intensify disciplinary debates about how compositionists should write for publication and what kinds of writing should be taught to composition students Spigelman not only supplies evidence as to why the personal can count as evidence but also relates how to use it effectively by including student samples that reflect particular features of personal writing Finally she lays the groundwork to move narrative from its current site as confessional writing to the domain of academic discourse
