

6 Phong Nha - Ke Bang National Park

With hills shrouded in rainforest and mountain rivers coursing through ravines, above ground the Phong Nha Ke Bang region is one of Vietnam's most spectacular national parks. Head underground for proof that this area should be part of any Vietnamese itinerary. A fortunate selection of travellers can experience Hang Son Doong, the world's largest cave, but more accessible are the ziplining and kayaking thrills of Hang Toi, and the ethereal beauty of Paradise Cave.

7 Hue

In the 19th and early 20th centuries, Hue is perhaps the easiest Vietnamese city to love and spend time in. Its situation on the banks of the Perfume River is sublime, its complex cuisine just ably famous, and its streets are relatively traffic-free. And that's without the majesty of the Hue Citadel, its royal residences and elegant temples, formidable walled defences and gateways to explore. On the city's fringes are some of Vietnam's most impressive pagodas and royal tombs, many in wonderful natural settings.

8 Hoi An Ancient Town

Vietnam's most cosmopolitan and civilised town, this beautiful ancient port is bursting with gourmet restaurants, hip bars and cafes, quirky boutiques and expert tailors. Immerse yourself in history in the warren-like lanes of the Old Town, and tour the temples and pagodas. Dine like an emperor on a peasant's budget (and even learn how to cook like the locals). Then hit glorious An Bang Beach, wander along the riverside and bike the back roads. Yes, Hoi An has it all.

Professor Mary Marshall,Jane Gilliard,2014-05-21 Cultural sensitivity is a key component of person centred dementia care This book acts as a rich source of information and ideas for all those interested in creating culturally appropriate outdoor spaces and experiences for people with dementia providing useful information and theory as well as inspiration for practice

The Routledge Handbook of Planning for Health and Well-Being Hugh Barton,Susan Thompson,Sarah Burgess,Marcus Grant,2015-05-22 Urban planning is deeply implicated in both the planetary crisis of climate change and the personal crises of unhealthy lifestyles Worldwide health issues such as obesity mental illness growing health inequalities and climate vulnerability cannot be solved solely by medicines but also by tackling the social economic and environmental determinants In a time when unhealthy and unsustainable conditions are being built into the physical fabric of cities a new awareness and strategy is urgently needed to putting health and well being at the heart of planning The Routledge Handbook of Planning for Health and Well being authoritatively and comprehensively integrates health into planning strengthening the hands of those who argue and plan for healthy environments With contributions from international leaders in the field the Handbook of Planning for Health and Well being provides context philosophy research processes and tools of experienced practitioners through case studies from four continents Heritage in Action Helaine Silverman,Emma Waterton,Steve

Watson,2016-11-10 In this textbook we see heritage in action in indigenous and vernacular communities in urban development and regeneration schemes in expressions of community in acts of nostalgia and memorialization and counteracts of forgetting in museums and other spaces of representation in tourism in the offices of those making public policy and in the politics of identity and claims toward cultural property Whether renowned or local tangible or intangible the entire heritage enterprise at whatever scale is by now inextricably embedded in value The global context requires a sanguine approach to heritage in which the so called critical stance is not just theorized in a rarefied sphere of scholarly lexical gymnastics but practically engaged and seen to be doing things in the world Cultural Heritage, Ethics and

Contemporary Migrations Cornelius Holtorf,Andreas Pantazatos,Geoffrey Scarre,2018-10-25 Cultural Heritage Ethics and Contemporary Migrations breaks new ground in our understanding of the challenges faced by heritage practitioners and researchers in the contemporary world of mass migration where people encounter new cultural heritage and relocate their own It focuses particularly on issues affecting archaeological heritage sites and artefacts which help determine and maintain social identity a role problematised when populations are in flux This diverse and authoritative collection brings together international specialists to discuss socio political and ethical implications for the management of archaeological heritage in global society With contributions by authors from a range of disciplinary backgrounds including archaeologists philosophers cultural historians and custodians of cultural heritage the volume explores a rich mix of contrasting yet complementary viewpoints and approaches Among the topics discussed are the relations between culture and identity the potentialities of museums and monuments to support or subvert a people s sense of who they are and how cultural heritage has been used to bring together communities containing people of different origins and traditions yet without erasing or blurring their distinctive cultural features Cultural Heritage Ethics and Contemporary Migrations is a crucial text for archaeologists curators policymakers and others working in the heritage field as well as for philosophers political scientists and other readers interested in the links between immigration and cultural heritage

Gender Practices in Contemporary Vietnam Lisa Barbara Welch Drummond,Helle Rydstrøm,2004 Confucianism colonialism and socialism have all contributed significantly to gender relations in Vietnam More recently political and social change associated with modernization and globalization have also had an impact How do the Vietnamese display their social positions and their identities as male or female This volume examines negotiations and transgressions of gender within Vietnamese society looking at gender family social and work relations bodily displays body language and the occupation of space Of special interest is a discussion of sexual harassment in schools and the workplace and the strategies women adopt to deal with it the first discussion of this issue by a Vietnamese scholar

Wagg,2014-05-27 This book explores the ways in which Western derived music connects with globalization hybridity consumerism and the flow of cultures Both as local terrain and as global crossroads cities remain fascinating spaces of cultural contestation and meaning making via the composing playing recording and consumption of popular music

Aftermath John Schofield,2009-02-08 Conflict and Battlefield Archaeology is a growing and important field in archaeology with implications on the state of the world today how humanity has prepared for reacted to and dealt with the consequences of conflict at a national and international level As the field grows there is an increasing need for research and development in this area Written by one of the most prominent scholars in this field of growing interest Aftermath offers a clear and important overview to research in the field It will become an essential source of information for scholars already involved in conflict archaeology as well as those just starting to explore the field It offers access to previously hard to find but important research

The Routledge Handbook of Environmental History Emily O'Gorman,William San Martín,Mark Carey,Sandra Swart,2023-12-06 The Routledge Handbook of Environmental History presents a cutting edge overview of the dynamic and ever expanding field of environmental history It addresses recent transformations in the field and responses to shifting scholarly political and environmental landscapes The handbook fully and critically engages with recent exciting changes contextualizes them within longer term shifts in the field and charts potential new directions for study It focuses on five key areas Theories and concepts related to changing considerations of social justice including postcolonial antiracist and feminist approaches and the field's growing emphasis on multiple human voices and agencies. The roles of non-humans and the more-than-human in the telling of environmental histories from animals and plants to insects as vectors of disease and the influences of water and ice. The changing theoretical approaches and the influence of concepts in related areas such as animal and discard studies. How changes in theories and concepts are shaping methods in environmental history and shifting approaches to traditional sources like archives and oral histories as well as experiments by practitioners with new methods and sources. Responses to a range of current complex problems such as climate change and how environmental historians can best help mitigate and resolve these problems. Diverse ways in which environmental historians disseminate their research within and beyond academia including new modes of research dissemination, teaching and engagements with stakeholders and the policy arena. This is an important resource for environmental historians, researchers and students in the related fields of political ecology, environmental studies, natural resources management and environmental planning.
