Indigenous Cities Laura M. Furlan, 2017 In Indigenous Cities Laura M Furlan demonstrates that stories of the urban experience are essential to an understanding of modern Indigeneity She situates Native identity among theories of diaspora cosmopolitanism and transnationalism by examining urban narratives such as those written by Sherman Alexie Janet Campbell Hale Louise Erdrich and Susan Power along with the work of filmmakers and artists In these stories Native peoples navigate new surroundings find and reformulate community and maintain and redefine Indian identity in the postrelocation era These narratives illuminate the changing relationship between urban Indigenous peoples and their tribal nations and territories and the ways in which new cosmopolitan bonds both reshape and are interpreted by tribal identities Though the majority of American Indigenous populations do not reside on reservations these spaces regularly define discussions and literature about Native citizenship and identity Meanwhile conversations about the shift to urban settings often focus on elements of dispossession subjectivity and assimilation Furlan takes a critical look at Indigenous fiction from the last three decades to present a new way of looking at urban experiences that explains mobility and relocation as a form of resistance In these stories Indian bodies are not bound by state imposed borders or confined to Indian Country as it is traditionally conceived Furlan demonstrates that cities have always been Indian land and Indigenous peoples have always been cosmopolitan and urban

Brian Honyouti Zena Pearlstone, 2018-05-17 Although Hopi carver Brian Honyouti 1947 2016 was deeply embedded in his culture and produced ritual artworks throughout his life he nevertheless also created unique commercial artworks The latter the focus of this volume increasingly diverged from the world view embodied in Hopi art ceremony and philosophy to become a new form of storytelling While it is unlikely that anyone familiar with Hopi carvings dolls would look to Honyouti's artworks expecting to unearth political social or environmental truths and circumstances these are nonetheless the messages he determined to convey In Brian Honyouti Hopi Carver art historian Zena Pearlstone explores the ideas Honyouti sought to communicate through his work She examines as well how he transmitted them by turning a traditional art form the carved representations of katsinas into a modernistic critique of local Native American and global concerns It is as a result of these universal implications that Honyoutis art will endure Because Honyoutis attachment to Hopi culture was so profound he veiled his critical reflections with humor and imagination to avoid exposing too much to public scrutiny Feeling that there should be a public record of his intentions however he set aside many of his self imposed limitations when he agreed to collaborate with Pearlstone It was his hope that having made his intentions public for the first time his work would be seen as a window into Hopi life as well as a reflection of contemporary mainstream American society

Ecofeminist Literary Criticism Greta Claire Gaard, Patrick D. Murphy, 1998 Ecofeminist Literary Criticism is the first collection of its kind a diverse anthology that explores both how ecofeminism can enrich literary criticism and how literary criticism can contribute to ecofeminist theory and activism Ecofeminism is a practical movement for social change that discerns interconnections among all forms of oppression the exploitation of nature the oppression of women class exploitation racism colonialism Against binary divisions such as self other culture nature man woman humans animals and white non white ecofeminist theory asserts that human identity is shaped by more fluid relationships and by an acknowledgment of both connection and difference Once considered the province of philosophy and women s studies ecofeminism in recent years has been incorporated into a broader spectrum of academic discourse Ecofeminist Literary Criticism assembles some of the most insightful advocates of this perspective to illuminate ecofeminism as a valuable component of literary criticism

Home Lands Virginia Scharff, Carolyn Brucken, 2010-05-18 The storybook history of the American West is a male dominated narrative of drifters dreamers hucksters and heroes a tale that relegates women assuming they appear at all to the distant background Home Lands How Women Made the West upends this view to remember the West as a place of homes and habitations brought into being by the women who lived there Virginia Scharff and Carolyn Brucken consider history s long span as they explore the ways in which women encountered and transformed three different archetypal Western landscapes the Rio Arriba of northern New Mexico the Front Range of Colorado and the Puget Sound waterscape This beautiful book companion volume to the Autry National Center s pathbreaking exhibit is a brilliant aggregate of women s history the history of the American West and studies in material culture While linking each of these places peoples to one another over hundreds even thousands of years Home Lands vividly reimagines the West as a setting in which home has been created out of differing notions of dwelling and family and differing concepts of property community and history Copub Autry National Center of the American West
