The top lid is a rich brown leather with a metal handle and latch. The main body of the kit is also made of leather and is open, showing several small, round glass jars with metal lids, some of which are labeled. There are also some papers and a small book inside. The kit is set against a dark, textured background. The title "PATHFINDERS IN MEDICINE" is written in a serif font across the middle of the image, and the author's name "Victor Robinson" is written below it.
