How to Educate the Feelings Or Affections, and Bring the Dispositions, Aspirations, and Passions Into Harmony with Sound Intelligence and Morality Charles Bray, 1894 The Phrenological Journal and Science of Health, 1881 The Temperaments, Or, The Varieties of Physical Constitution in Man, Considered in Their Relation to Mental Character and the Practical Affairs of Life, Etc., Etc Daniel Harrison Jacques, 1904 New Physiognomy and External Forms, and Especially in "the Human Face Divine." Samuel Roberts Wells, 1868 The Protestant Temperament Philip J. Greven, Jr., 2013-09-04 Bringing together an extraordinary richness of evidence from letters diaries and other intimate family writing of the 17th and 18th centuries Philip Greven the distinguished scholar of colonial history explores the strikingly distinctive ways in which Protestant children were reared and the Protestant temperament shaped in America Through this cache of remarkable and remarkably immediate and moving material the family papers of some of America's most famous theologians political figures lawyers and ministers as well as those of lesser known contemporaries farmers merchants housewives who embodied Protestant life and wrote about it most expressively Philip Greven traces the hidden continuities of religious experience of attitudes toward God children the will the body sexuality achievement pleasure virtue and selfhood among the three Protestant groups of the time He examines in turn the three strains that persisted regardless of denomination First the evangelicals their dictum for raising children Break their wills that you may save their souls ruled by a hostility to the self a feeling that selfhood is the source of sin too dangerous to be sought or desired Jonathan Edwards wrote I have been before God and have given myself all that I am and have to God so that I am not in any respect my own I have given myself clear away And we hear the products of this upbringing in their twenties and thirties speaking of themselves in the harshest tones My affections carnal corrupt and disordered distrusting themselves in the most profound ways a woman faced with the choice of a husband wrote I dare not decide myself and dread nothing more than to be left to the Bent of my own heart In counterpoint we see the moderates poised between duty and personal desire preoccupied but not obsessed with morality more interested in self control than self suppression an eminent Unitarian the Reverend Theodore Parker of Boston wrote The will needs regulation not destroying I should as soon think of breaking the legs of a horse in training him as a child's will And finally we see the genteel in polite society taking their state of grace for granted more interested in self assertion than self control completely at ease with ambition and worldliness music dancing games convivial drinking hunting and sports all an integral part of the children's lives as they grow into maturity the boys groomed for social responsibility the girls encouraged to be steady studious docile with a mild and winning presence a sweet obliging temper The Protestant Temperament uncovers the personal experience and the psychological and social effects of religion and piety in the American of the 17th and 18th centuries the feelings as well as the beliefs of religious people Fascinating and groundbreaking in its revelations and its radical reassessment of the role of religion in early American life Philip Greven's book is a major intellectual event an important and illuminating interpretation of the American Protestant experience
