Portsmouth Voices:

Becoming Portsmouth Laura Pope, 2017-08-14 At midcentury two federal urban renewal projects in the gritty blue collar navy town of Portsmouth decimated two neighborhoods But in the 1970s and 80s thanks to an influx of artisans chefs and entrepreneurs the Port City emerged as a beacon of arts culinary excellence and preservation Iconoclast Jay Smith opened the Press Room the celebrated music club A group of concerned citizens saved the Music Hall the last of Portsmouth's vaudeville theaters And a Dutch family opened the Euro style Caf Petronella next to a biker bar Author and historian Laura Pope edits a collection of essays detailing the changes in the last half of the past century that made Portsmouth a lauded arts and food lovers hub and finally a diverse tourist destination

Writing Voices Teresa Cremin, Debra Myhill, 2013-07-03 Drawing upon recent research projects undertaken by the co authors and other research within the wider research community this timely book makes connections to projects and initiatives that are unfolding on the national and international scene Highly Commended for the UKLA Academic Book Award 2013

Chris Crutcher Bryan Gillis, Pam B. Cole, 2012-08-17 Chris Crutcher is a literary icon in the field of young adult literature With his first book Running Loose published in 1983 Crutcher established a reputation for giving young adults a voice in realistic fiction Since then Crutcher has written a number of books with spot on depictions of young adults growing through hard times including Ironman Whale Talk Staying Fat for Sarah Byrnes and Stotan In Chris Crutcher A Stotan for Young Adults Bryan Gillis and Pam B Cole examine the life career and works of this young adult advocate This volume opens with a never before published comprehensive portrait of the author's life gleaned from numerous conversations with Crutcher The authors explore Crutcher's childhood his adolescent years his life as an adult and his career as a family counselor and examine how those experiences became fodder for his stories The authors also discuss Crutcher's encounters with censorship and his philosophical stance Gillis and Cole also analyze Crutcher's novels short stories and novellas examining his literary craft and such social themes as bigotry identity sexuality relationships and loss themes almost always positioned within a sports story The most comprehensive study of Crutcher's life and work to date this book benefits tremendously from the cooperation of Crutcher himself Generally reserved about private matters Crutcher talks candidly about his life and how his experiences helped shape his character and his stories His cooperative spirit gives voice to a book that will appeal not only to teachers and librarians but to students who have been enthralled by the works of this generous writer

Voices from Captivity Robert C. Doyle, 1994 Doyle shows that though setting and circumstances may change POW stories share a common structure and are driven by similar themes Capture incarceration isolation propaganda torture capitulation or resistance death spiritual quest escape liberation and repatriation are recurrent key motifs in these narratives

Health, and Religion, in Belgium, Germany, and on the Rhine Edward MORGAN (Vicar of Syston.),1860 Children as Decision Makers in Education Stevens Robin,2012-01-12 International contributors drawing on case studies from around the world consider how children can actively participate in decision making Wellington's Voice Gareth Glover,2012-10-24 John Fremantle was on Wellington's personal staff through the later years of the Peninsular War and Waterloo campaigns. He had a uniquely privileged view of the general and tells of his exploits good and bad. The letters were written to his uncle who was effectively his guardian an army man and no shrinking violet. Fremantle deals with military matters in detail and gives a great insight into Wellington's honest views of matters not the sanitized diplomatic versions Wellington allowed to be published in later life. He also talks a great deal about the personalities in Wellington's family and the Great Man giving very honest forthright views of their strengths and failings and brings many little known incidents to light. An exposé of what life was like working with Wellington and an honest portrait of the man, warts and all, this is a truly remarkable find and will certainly cause debate in the Napoleonic community The Musical Herald and Tonic Sol-fa Reporter ,1901 Voice Studies Konstantinos Thomaidis, Ben Macpherson,2015-05-22 Voice Studies brings together leading international scholars and practitioners to re-examine what voice is, what voice does, and what we mean by voice studies in the process and experience of performance. This dynamic and interdisciplinary publication draws on a broad range of approaches from composing and voice teaching through to psychoanalysis and philosophy including voice training from the Alexander Technique to practice as research, operatic and extended voices in early baroque and contemporary underwater singing, voices across cultures from site-specific choral performance in Kentish mines and Australian sound art to the laments of Kraho Indians, Korean pansori and Javanese wayang voice embodiment and gender in Robertson's 1798 production of Phantasmagoria, Cathy Berberian radio show and Romeo Castellucci's theatre perceiving voice as a composer, listener or as eavesdropper, voice technology and mobile apps. With contributions spanning six continents, the volume considers the processes of teaching or writing for voice, the performance of voice in theatre, live art, music and on recordings, and the experience of voice in acoustic perception and research. It concludes with a multifaceted series of short provocations that simply revisit the core question of the whole volume: what is voice studies? Voice as Process Lizbeth Bryant,2005 Voice as Process looks at how student writers use the voices of home and community to develop an academic voice. Through a thorough textual analysis of student portfolios, copious interviews and ethnographic research, Lizbeth Bryant identifies the activities that writers perform as they manipulate the voices they bring to class and those they encounter there into a web of constructed voices that can be adjusted to meet the needs of any writing situation A soldier's experience, or, A voice from the ranks. (Revised and enlarged). Timothy Gowing,1885 The Musical Herald ,1908 Imaginative Teaching through Creative Writing Amy Ash, Michael Dean Clark, Chris Drew,2021-03-25 Growing out of recent pedagogical developments in creative writing studies and perceived barriers to teaching the subject in secondary education schools, this book creates conversations between secondary and post secondary teachers aimed at introducing and improving creative writing instruction in teaching curricula for young people Challenging assumptions and lore regarding the teaching of creative writing this book examines new and engaging techniques for infusing creative writing into all types of language arts instruction offering inclusive and pedagogically sound alternatives that consider the needs of a diverse range of students With careful attention given to creative writing within current standards based educational systems Imaginative Teaching through Creative Writing confronts and offers solutions to the perceived difficulty of teaching the subject in such environments Divided into two sections section one sees post secondary instructors address pedagogical techniques and concerns such as workshop revision and assessment before section two explores hands on activities and practical approaches to instruction Focusing on an invaluable and underrepresented area of creative writing studies this book begins a much needed conversation about the future of creative writing instruction at all levels and the benefits of collaboration across the secondary post secondary divide

Lifting Every Voice William B. Robertson, 2022-02-22 Bill Robertson was one of our greatest pioneers and a tireless advocate for racial justice One of his final acts was the completion of his memoirs Lifting Every Voice reveals how the advances made during his lifetime were no foregone conclusion without the passionate efforts of real people our present could have been very different The survivor of a traumatic childhood in the Green Book South and the witness to his father's rage over racial inequity Robertson rose above an oppressive environment to find a place within the system and against extreme odds effect change He was the first Black man to run for the Virginia General Assembly and as a teacher the first to help integrate a white school in Roanoke He became the first Black decision maker in any southern governor's office appointed by Virginia governor Linwood Holton in 1970 In a state controlled by segregationist Democrats Holton was the first Republican governor since Reconstruction and his government was pivotal in its commitment to move the state away from nearly a century of segregationist policies Bill Robertson was an inner circle member of this historic administration His account of its challenges and hard won victories tells us much about that critical era Robertson went on to serve five presidents heading the Peace Corps office in Kenya and later serving as deputy assistant secretary of state for African affairs As a public servant he worked on both sides of the aisle in a way almost inconceivable in today's polarized society collaborated with the Jaycees to build a camp for children with mental disabilities in Virginia and eventually focused his support on Black Lives Matter in his eighties because there is still so far to go
