Post Apartheid Southern Africa:

Urbanization in Post-Apartheid South Africa Richard Tomlinson, 2017-10-30 Originally published in 1990

Urbanization in Post Apartheid South Africa examines the democratic future of South Africa in the context of policy options and constraints The book looks at the issue of South Africa's future including access to land and housing marked regional differences in well being large peri urban settlements arising around all major towns and racial inequalities in access to farming land The book will be of interest to students of urbanization geography economics and planning and African studies

Policing and Crime Control in Post-apartheid South Africa Ms Anne-Marie Singh, 2012-12-28 Once a marginal political issue crime control now occupies a central place on the social political and economic agenda of contemporary liberal democracies Nowhere more so than in post apartheid South Africa where the transition from apartheid rule to democratic rule was marked by a shift in concern from political to criminal violence In this book Anne Marie Singh offers a comprehensive account of policing transformations in post apartheid South Africa Her analysis of crime and mechanisms for its control is linked to an analysis of neo liberal policies providing the basis for a critique of existing analyses of liberal democratic governance Themes addressed in the book include the exercise of coercive authority state and non state expertise in policing the rationally choosing criminal and the importance of developing an active and responsible citizenship

The State, Education and Equity in Post-Apartheid South Africa Enver Motala, 2020-09-10 This title was first published in 2002 Has the South African post apartheid state been able to achieve its stated goals What has been the relationship between the process of educational reform and the impact on the state of the Constitution and other laws This seminal book responds to these questions by examining the development and implementation of social policy in South Africa during the first years of democratic government particularly in relation to education The post apartheid state was immediately faced with a broad spectrum of political social economic and human rights issues The research analyzes whether the aims and objectives of the new administration were achieved no other single collection of research in South Africa collectively explores the issues raised in this endeavour The book will appeal to a wide range of professionals including researchers academics planners policy makers public servants and postgraduate students

Language Policy and Nation-Building in Post-Apartheid South Africa Jon Orman, 2008-08-27 The preamble to the post apartheid South African constitution states that South Africa belongs to all who live in it united in our diversity and promises to lay the foundations for a democratic and open society in which government is based on the will of the people and every citizen is equally protected by law and to improve the quality of life of all citizens This would seem to commit the South African government to amongst other things the implementation of policies aimed at fostering a common sense of South African national identity at societal development and at reducing levels of social inequality However in the period of more than a decade that has now elapsed since the end of apartheid there has been widespread discontent with regard to the degree of progress made in connection with the realisation of these constitutional aspirations The limits to liberation in the post apartheid era has been a theme of much recent research in the elds of sociology and political theory e g Luckham 1998 Robins 2005a Linguists have also paid considerable attention to the South African situation with the realisation that many of the factors that have prevented and are continuing to prevent effective progress towards the achievement of these constitutional goals are linguistic in their origin

Political Economy of Post-apartheid South Africa Vusi Gumede,2015-12-29 The book made up of three parts covers a wide spectrum of political economy issues on post apartheid South Africa Although the text is mainly descriptive to explain various areas of the political economy of post apartheid South Africa the first and the last parts provide illuminating insights on the kind of society that is emerging during the twenty one years of democracy in the country The book discusses important aspects of the political history of apartheid South Africa and the evolution of post apartheid society including an important recap of the history of southern Africa before colonialism The text is a comprehensive description of numerous political economy phenomena since South Africa gained its political independence and covers some important themes that have not been discussed in detail in other publications on post apartheid South Africa The book also updates earlier work of the author on policy and law making land and agriculture education and training as well as on poverty and inequality in post apartheid South Africa thereby providing a wide ranging overview of the socio economic development approaches followed by the successive post apartheid administrations Interestingly three chapters focus on various aspects of the post apartheid South African economy economic policies economic empowerment and industrial development Through the lens of the notion of democratic developmental state and taking apartheid colonialism as a point of departure the book suggests that so far post apartheid South Africa has mixed socio economic progress The authors extensive experience in the South African government ensures that the book has policy relevance while it is also theoretically sound The text is useful for anyone who wants to understand the totality of the policies and legislation as well as the political economy interventions pursued since 1994 by the South African Government

Media in Postapartheid South Africa Sean Jacobs,2019-03-11 A study of mass media in twenty first century South Africa offering revelations about the nature of citizenship and public engagement in our media saturated age Daniel R Magaziner author of The Law and the Prophets Black Consciousness in South Africa 1968 1977 In Media in Postapartheid South Africa Sean Jacobs turns to media politics and the consumption of media as a way to understand recent political developments in South Africa and their relations with the African continent and the world Jacobs looks at how mass media define the physical and human geography of the society and what it means for comprehending changing notions of citizenship in postapartheid South Africa Jacobs claims that the media have unprecedented control over the distribution of public goods rights claims and South Africa s integration into the global political economy in ways that were impossible under the state controlled media that dominated the apartheid years Jacobs takes a probing look at television commercials and the representation of South Africans reality television shows and South African continental expansion soap operas and postapartheid identity politics and the internet as a space for reassertions and reconfigurations of identity As South Africa becomes more integrated into the global economy Jacobs argues that local media have more weight in shaping how consumers view these products in unexpected and consequential ways

We Are the Poors Ashwin Desai, 2002-04-01 When Nelson Mandela was elected president of South Africa in 1994 freedom loving people around the world hailed a victory over racial domination injustice and inequality The end of apartheid did not change the basic conditions of life for the majority of oppressed South Africans however Material inequality has deepened and new forms of resistance have emerged in communities that have discovered a common oppression and solidarity and forged new and dynamic political identities Desai's book follows the growth of the most unexpected of these community movements describing from the inside the process through which the downtrodden regain their dignity and defend the most basic conditions of life His book begins with one specific community with local government enforcing cut offs of water and electricity and evicting families from their houses whose breadwinners have lost their jobs As the Chatsworth community begins to organize and discover leaders among its ranks so their example spreads to other communities in Durban and the KwaZulu Natal region and their struggles build links with those in other parts of the new South Africa We Are the Poors was a major event in the life of the South African Left when the first edition was published there in 2000 This new edition follows the ongoing course of events to the present

The Third World and South Africa Richard Payne, 1992-08-24 Converging revolutionary changes in Europe the former Soviet Union and in southern Africa radically transformed the international political environment in which Third World countries had formulated and implemented their policies toward South Africa These changes also focused attention on the need for democratic reforms in Sub Saharan Africa and elsewhere in the Third World By removing apartheid's legal underpinning the South African government made a major and largely unanticipated step toward creating a relatively egalitarian and nonracial society Dismantling the more intractable social and economic components of a legal system of racial domination into which South Africans have been socialized is clearly a more herculean endeavor Payne analyzes Third World relations with South Africa the common and divergent interests among the countries that opposed apartheid conflict and cooperation between the Third World and South Africa and the implications of changes in South Africa for the Third World in general and Sub Saharan Africa in particular He brings into sharper focus contradictions between the declaratory policies against apartheid expressed by Third World states and their actual practices Payne examines how national interests leaders personalities policymaking processes and problems within specific countries influence Third World foreign policies in general and toward South Africa specifically As such the work will be invaluable to students and scholars involved with African studies Third World politics and international relations

US Support for a Postapartheid South Africa, 1990 Race and Nation in Post-apartheid South Africa Kogila Moodley, Heribert Adam, 2000

development experience Evolution of policy in post apartheid South Africa Nation building Social and economic transformation policies and prospects Conclusion towards an inclusive society Poverty and Policy in Post-apartheid South Africa Haroon Bhorat, S. M. Ravi Kanbur, 2006 The political freedoms ushered in by the post 1994 transition were seen at that time as the basis for redressing long standing economic deprivations suffered by the majority of the population The reduction of poverty in all its dimensions was the goal The volume will be of interest to researchers graduate students and to the technical staff of international agencies and government ministries Afrikaners and the Boundaries of Faith in

Post-Apartheid South Africa Annika Björnsdotter Teppo, 2021-09-30 This book examines the shifting moral and spiritual lives of white Afrikaners in South Africa after apartheid The end of South Africa's apartheid system of racial and spatial segregation sparked wide reaching social change as social cultural spatial and racial boundaries were transgressed and transformed This book investigates how Afrikaners have mediated the country's shifting boundaries within the realm of religion For instance one in every three Afrikaners used these new freedoms to leave the traditional Dutch Reformed Church NGK often for an entirely new religious affiliation within the Pentecostal or Charismatic churches or New Religious Movements such as Wiccan neopaganism Based on long term ethnographic fieldwork in the Western Cape area the book investigates what spiritual life after racial totalitarianism means for the members of the ethnic group that constructed and maintained that very totalitarianism Ultimately the book asks how these new Afrikaner religious practices contribute to social solidarity and integration in a persistently segregated society and what they can tell us about racial relations in the country today This book will be of interest to scholars of religious studies social and cultural anthropology and African studies

Heritage Formation and the Senses in Post-Apartheid South Africa Duane Jethro, 2020-05-11 In this book Duane Jethro creates a framework for understanding the role of the senses in processes of heritage formation He shows how the senses were important for crafting and successfully deploying new nation building heritage projects in South Africa during the postapartheid period The book also highlights how heritage dynamics are entangled in evocative changing sensory worlds Jethro uses five case studies that correlate with the five main Western senses Examples include touch and the ruination of a series of art memorials how vision was mobilised to assert the authority of the state sponsored Freedom Park project in Pretoria how smell memories of apartheid era social life in Cape Town informed contemporary struggles for belonging after forced removal how taste informed debates about the attempted rebranding of Heritage Day as barbecue day and how the sound of the vuvuzela popularized during the FIFA 2010 Football World Cup helped legitimize its unofficial African and South African heritage status This book makes a valuable contribution to the field of sensory studies and with its focus on aesthetics and material culture is in sync with the broader material turn in the humanities Indians in Post-apartheid South Africa Anand Singh, 2005 This study seeks to examine the perceptions of and responses to transformation among the people of Indian origin in the context of the debates around race class ethnicity and civil society in post apartheid South Africa

Disabling Globalization Gillian Patricia Hart, 2002 An unequivocally excellent work of scholarship that makes significant theoretical and empirical contributions to the understanding of globalization and the working of contemporary neo liberal capitalism Hart is especially innovative in placing the study of Taiwanese industrialists in South Africa in relation to both the agrarian history of Taiwan and China and the way that Taiwanese overseas firms have operated in places other than South Africa It is a very rare combination of talents and knowledge that makes such a study possible James Ferguson author of Expectations of Modernity

Welfare, Religion and Gender in Post-apartheid South Africa Ignatius Swart, Amanda Gouws, Per Pettersson, Frouwien Bosman, Johannes Erasmus, 2012-04-01 The topic covered by this book is important crucially so in post apartheid South Africa and the research is meticulous This has resulted in an impressive collection of material concerning welfare religion and gender in twenty first century South Africa which includes both theoretical reflections and an abundance of empirical data Professor Grace Davie Professor Emerita of Sociology University of Exeter UK

Race, Ethnicity, Crime, and Justice Shaun L. Gabbidon, 2010 This book provides case studies from countries around the world regarding the nature and scope of concerns related to race ethnicity crime and justice The text centres primarily on English speaking countries where they have encountered problems related to race ethnicity crime and justice The book is designed to be used as either a main or supplementary text for courses focusing on race and crime minorities and crime and diversity in criminal justice Additionally it can also be used in sociology and ethnic studies courses that focus on race and crime

Post-Apartheid Community-Based Activism Louise Penner, Rajini Srikanth, 2024-12-06 This book provides a timely study of community based activism in contemporary South Africa Grounded in oral history the book examines the acquired expertise and life experiences of an impactful South African activist Mandla Majola within the context of the people circumstances and affiliations that have shaped his strategic thinking and practice The authors situate Mandla Majola s activist and everyday experiences within histories of the complex connections between post apartheid political and social movements and human rights discourse as they emerged after 1994 The book illuminates the relationship of state power to public health activism for HIV tuberculosis and COVID 19 and for a life of basic human dignity including access to sanitation and housing Mandla Majola s life spotlights the inspiring sometimes grueling and tireless quotidian work of thousands of invisible community based activists whose collective actions have impacted the entire spectrum of social and economic rights of untold numbers of people in South Africa and beyond

Theology and the (post)apartheid condition Rian

Venter, 2016-12-01 Knowledge transmission and generation belong to the core mission of the public university In democratic South Africa the transformation of these processes and practices in higher education has become an urgent and contested task The Faculty of Theology at the University of the Free State has already done some original work on the implications of these for theology One area of investigation that has not yet received due attention concerns the role of theological disciplines and especially the relation between academic disciplines and societal dynamics This research project addresses the challenge and this volume reflects the intellectual endeavour of lectures research fellows and a post graduate student associated with the faculty Each theological discipline has its own history and has already experienced reconstruction both globally and in South Africa Some of these genealogical developments and re envisioning are mapped by the contributions in this volume The critical questions addressed are what are the contours of the post apartheid condition and what are the implications for responsible disciplinary practices in theology The chapters convey an impression of the vitality of theology at the University of the Free State and in South Africa and give expression to fundamental shifts that have taken place in theological disciplines and also of future tasks This research project aims to stimulate reflection on responsible and innovative disciplinary practices of theology in South Africa which we envisage will contribute to social justice and human flourishing Rian Venter University of the Free State
