Postcolonial Theory And Francophone Literary Studies:

Postcolonial Theory and Francophone Literary Studies H. Adlai Murdoch, Anne Donadey, 2005-01-01 This collection brings together methods and insights taken from literary criticism cultural studies philosophy theory film studies and linguistics to define new parameters of study for the emerging field of francophone postcolonial studies While francophone writings share some characteristics indicative of postcolonial literatures in general they also have their own unique set of characteristics including issues of migration stereotyping continued relationships with France and creolization This book gathers together some of the best known francophone literary scholars to examine various francophone texts through a postcolonial lens

A Companion to Comparative Literature Ali Behdad, Dominic Thomas, 2014-09-15 A Companion to Comparative Literature presents a collection of more than thirty original essays from established and emerging scholars which explore the history current state and future of comparative literature Features over thirty original essays from leading international contributors Provides a critical assessment of the status of literary and cross cultural inquiry Addresses the history current state and future of comparative literature Chapters address such topics as the relationship between translation and transnationalism literary theory and emerging media the future of national literatures in an era of globalization gender and cultural formation across time East West cultural encounters postcolonial and diaspora studies and other experimental approaches to literature and culture

Comparative Literature in an Age of Globalization American Comparative Literature Association, 2006-05-19 Responding to the frequent attacks against contemporary literary studies Comparative Literature in an Age of Globalization establishes the continuing vitality of the discipline and its rigorous intellectual engagement with the issues facing today's global society

Ecocritical Approaches to Literature in French Douglas L. Boudreau, Marnie M. Sullivan, 2015-12-24 Ecocriticism is a critical approach that focuses on the representation in literature of the non human elements of the natural world a method of inquiry that has been largely limited to literature written in English The aim of Ecocritical Approaches to Literature in French is twofold to introduce ecocriticism to scholars of French language literature and to open ecocriticism to the vision and voices of French literature The chapters look at work not only from France but also from North America the Caribbean and Africa The discussions include fiction poetry film and pedagogy The goal of the collection is to demonstrate not only the applicability of ecocritical inquiry to literature in French but to demonstrate the possibilities of ecocritical theory on the study of French literature and also for ecocriticism itself This collection will be a useful resource both for scholars of French language literature and also for ecocritics who may have had only limited contact with literatures in languages other than English

Against Autobiography Lia Nicole Brozgal, 2018-08-01 The work of Tunisian Jewish intellectual Albert Memmi like that of many francophone Maghrebian writers is often read as thinly veiled autobiography Questioning the prevailing body of criticism which continues this interpretation of most fiction produced by francophone North African writers Lia Nicole Brozgal shows how such interpretations of Memmi's texts obscure their not inconsiderable theoretical possibilities. Calling attention to the ambiguous status of autobiographical discursive and textual elements in Memmi's work Brozgal shifts the focus from the author to theoretical questions. Against Autobiography places Memmi's writing and thought in dialogue with several major critical shifts in the late twentieth century literary and cultural landscape. These shifts include the crisis of the authorial subject, the interrogation of the form of the novel, the resistance to the hegemony of vision and the critique of colonialism. Showing how Memmi's novels and essays produce theories that resonate both within and beyond their original contexts, Brozgal argues for allowing works of francophone Maghrebi literature to be read as complex literary objects that is not simply as ethnographic curios but as generating elements of literary theory on their own terms.

The Algerian War in French/Algerian Writing Jonathan Lewis, 2018-10-05. This book will enlighten readers on the importance of literature in contributing to historical knowledge. Will provide readers with comprehensive understanding of the development of writing by French authors of Algerian origin from its emergence in the 1980s to the present day. Emphasizes the contemporary relevance of the Algerian War and the afterlives of empire on twenty-first century society and culture.

Creolizing the Metropole H. Adlai Murdoch, 2012. Creolizing the Metropole is a comparative study of postwar West Indian migration to the former colonial capitals of Paris and London. It studies the effects of this population shift on national and cultural identity and traces the postcolonial Caribbean experience through analyses of the concepts of identity and diaspora. Through close readings of selected literary works and film, H. Adlai Murdoch explores the ways in which these immigrants and their descendants represented their metropolitan identities. Though British immigrants were colonial subjects and later residents of British Commonwealth nations and the French arrivals from the overseas departments were citizens of France by law, both groups became subject to otherness and exclusion stemming from their ethnicities. Murdoch examines this phenomenon and the questions it raises about borders and boundaries, nationality and belonging.

Fathers, Daughters, and Slaves Doris Y. Kadish, 2012. This new study brings to life the unique contribution of French women during the early nineteenth century, a key period in the history of colonialism and slavery. It offers in-depth readings of works by five antislavery writers: Germaine de Staël, Claire Duras, Marceline Desbordes-Valmore, Charlotte Dard, and Sophie Doin.

A Companion to African Literatures Olakunle George, 2021-03-22. Rediscover the diversity of modern African literatures with this authoritative resource, edited by a leader in the field. How have African literatures unfolded in their rich diversity in our modern era of decolonization, nationalisms, and extensive transnational movement of peoples? How have African writers engaged urgent questions regarding race, nation, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality? And how do African literary genres interrelate with traditional oral forms or audio, visual, and digital media? A Companion to African Literatures addresses these issues and many more. Consisting of essays by distinguished scholars and emerging leaders in the field, this book offers rigorous, deeply engaging discussions of African literatures on the continent and in diaspora. It covers the four main geographical regions: East and Central Africa, North Africa,

Southern Africa and West Africa presenting ample material to learn from and think with A Companion To African Literatures is divided into five parts The first four cover different regions of the continent while the fifth part considers conceptual issues and newer directions of inquiry Chapters focus on literatures in European languages officially used in Africa English French and Portuguese as well as homegrown African languages Afrikaans Amharic Arabic Swahili and Yoruba With its lineup of lucid and authoritative analyses readers will find in A Companion to African Literatures a distinctive rewarding academic resource Perfect for undergraduate and graduate students in literary studies programs with an African focus A Companion to African Literatures will also earn a place in the libraries of teachers researchers and professors who wish to strengthen their background in the study of African literatures The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature Cynthia Conchita

Sugars,2016 The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature provides a broad ranging introduction to some of the key critical fields genres and periods in Canadian literary studies The essays in this volume written by prominent theorists in the field reflect the plurality of critical perspectives regional and historical specializations and theoretical positions that constitute the field of Canadian literary criticism across a range of genres and historical periods The volume provides a dynamic introduction to current areas of critical interest including 1 attention to the links between the literary and the public sphere encompassing such topics as neoliberalism trauma and memory citizenship material culture literary prizes disability studies literature and history digital cultures globalization studies and environmentalism or ecocriticism 2 interest in Indigenous literatures and settler Indigenous relations 3 attention to multiple diasporic and postcolonial contexts within Canada 4 interest in the institutionalization of Canadian literature as a discipline 5 a turn towards book history and literary history with a renewed interest in early Canadian literature 6 a growing interest in articulating the affective character of the literary including an interest in affect theory mourning melancholy haunting memory and autobiography The book represents a diverse array of interests from the revival of early Canadian writing to the continued interest in Indigenous regional and diasporic traditions to more recent discussions of globalization market forces and neoliberalism It includes a distinct section dedicated to Indigenous literatures and traditions as well as a section that reflects on the discipline of Canadian literature as a whole Deconstruction and the Postcolonial Michael Syrotinski,2007-01-01

Postcolonial studies and the rich body of theory that it applies in its analyses has transformed and unsettled the ways in which across a whole range of disciplines we think about notions such as subjectivity national identity globalization history language literature or international politics Until recently the emphasis of the groundbreaking work being carried out in these areas has been almost exclusively within an Anglophone context but increasingly the focus of postcolonial studies is shifting to a more comparative approach One of the most intriguing developments in this shift Calixthe Beyala Nicki Hitchcott,2006-10-01 The most successful female writer from Francophone Africa Calixthe Beyala occupies an unusual place in French literary and popular culture Her novels are bestsellers and she appears regularly on French television yet a conviction for plagiarism has tarnished her reputation

Thus she is both an authentic African author and a proven literary fake In Calixthe Beyala Nicki Hitchcott considers representations of Beyala in the media critical responses to her writing and Beyala s efforts to position herself as a champion of women s rights Hitchcott pays equal attention to Beyala s novels tracing their explorations of the role of migration in the creation of personal identity Handbook of Research on Contemporary Approaches to Orientalism in Media and Beyond Tombul, Işıl,Sarı, Gülşah,2021-05-28 Orientalism is about much more than just information gathered about the East within its general postcolonial period In this period orientalism is a Western discourse that dominated and shaped the view of the East There is otherization in the way the West has historically looked at the East and within the information presented about it These original stories of travelers in the past and previous telling about the East are facing a reconstruction through modern types of media Cinema television news newspaper magazine internet social media photography literature and more are transforming the way the East is presented and viewed Under the headings of post orientalism neo orientalism or self orientalism these new orientalist forms of work in combination with both new and traditional media are redefining orientalism in the media and beyond The Handbook of Research on Contemporary Approaches to Orientalism in Media and Beyond shows how both new media and traditional media deal with orientalism today through the presentation of gender race religion and culture that make up orientalist theory The chapters focus on how orientalism is presented in the media cinema TV photography and more This book is ideal for communications theorists media analysts practitioners researchers academicians and students working in fields that include mass media communications film studies ethnic studies history sociology and cultural studies Translingual Francophonie and the Limits of Translation Ioanna Chatzidimitriou,2020-09-02 Translingual Francophonie and the Limits of Translation proposes a novel theoretical lens for the study of translation as theme and practice in works by four translingual francophone authors Vassilis Alexakis Chahdortt Djavann Nancy Huston and Andre Makine In particular it argues that translation allows for the most productive encounter with otherness when it is practiced in its estuarine dimension When two foreign bodies of water come into contact in an estuary often a new environment is created at their shared border that does not however invalidate the distinctiveness chemical biological geological etc of either fresh or sea water Similarly texts translated from one language to another should ideally not transform into but rather relate to their new host s linguistic and cultural codes in ways that account both for their undiluted strangeness and the missteps gaps and discontinuities the challenging yet novel and productive articulations of relationality that proliferate at the border of the encounter Historical Dictionary of French Literature John Flower,2022-05-15 With the possible exception of Great Britain France can justifiably lay claim to possess the richest literary history of any country in Western Europe This book covers the authors and their works literary movements and philosophical and social developments that have had a direct impact on style or content and major historical events such as the two world wars the Franco Prussian War the Algerian War or the events of May 1968 that are directly reflected in a substantial body of imaginative writing Historical Dictionary of French Literature Second Edition contains a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has more than 500 cross referenced entries on individual writers and key texts significant movements groups associations and periodicals and on the literary reactions to major national and international events such as revolutions and wars This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about French literature     Marvelous Journeys Margaret Heady,2008 Marvelous Journeys explores the transition from a modernist to a postmodernist consciousness in twentieth century Caribbean writings on identity that is reflected through a corresponding evolution in the use of the marvelous as a literary tool For the three novelists who are the focus of this study Jacques Stephen Alexis Alejo Carpentier and Simone Schwarz Bart the discourse of the marvelous offers a uniquely Caribbean vehicle for capturing an elusive Caribbean essence as well as for coming to terms with the seemingly contradictory demands of a Parisian intellectual formation and an authentic Caribbean sensibility This book engages with recent debates in criticism and theory and will appeal to a broad spectrum of readers interested in Francophone literature Caribbean studies and literary and postcolonial theory It contributes to the burgeoning field of Caribbean literary studies by adopting a transcultural approach to a neglected but increasingly important area of study the circulation of ideas and influences among the Hispanic and Francophone Caribbean islands and the African and European continents

Transnational French Studies Alec G. Hargreaves,Charles Forsdick,David Murphy,2012-01-01 The 2007 manifesto in favour of a Litterature monde en francais has generated new debates in both francophone and postcolonial studies Praised by some for breaking down the hierarchical division between French and Francophone literatures the manifesto has been criticized by othersfor recreating that division through an exoticizing vision that continues to privilege the publishing industry of the former colonial metropole Does the manifesto signal the advent of a new critical paradigm destined to render obsolescent those of francophone and or postcolonial studies Or is it simply a passing fad a glitzy but ephemeral publicity stunt generated and promoted by writers and publishing executives vis a vis whom scholars and critics should maintain a skeptical distance Does it offer an all embracing transnational vista leading beyond the confines of postcolonialism or reintroduce an incipient form of neocolonialism even while proclaiming the end of the centre periphery divide In addressing these questions leading scholars of French Francophone and postcolonial studies from around the globe help to assess the wider question of the evolving status of French Studies as a transnational field of study amid the challenges of globalization     Friends and Enemies Chris Bongie,2008-01-01 This timely contribution to debates about the future of postcolonial theory explores the troubled relationship between politics and the discipline both in the sense of the radical political changes associated with the anti colonial struggle and the implication of literary writers in institutional discourses of power Using Haiti as a key example Chris Bongie explores issues of commemoration and commodification of the post colonial by pairing early nineteenth century Caribbean texts with contemporary works An apt volume for an age that struggles with the reality of memories of anti colonial resistance Friends and Enemies is a provocative take on postcolonial scholarship

From Francophonie to World Literature in French Thérèse Mignane-George, 2013-12-01 In 2007 the French newspaper Le Monde published a manifesto titled Toward a World Literature in French signed by forty four writers many from France's former colonies Proclaiming that the francophone label encompassed people who had little in common besides the fact that they all spoke French the manifesto's proponents the so called francophone writers themselves sought to energize a battle cry against the discriminatory effects and prescriptive claims of francophonie In one of the first books to study the movement away from the term francophone to world literature in French Thérèse Mignane George engages a literary analysis of contemporary works in exploring the tensions and theoretical debates surrounding world literature in French She focuses on works by a diverse group of contemporary French speaking writers who straddle continents Nina Bouraoui Hélène Cixous Maryse Condé Marie NDiaye Tierno Monémbo and Lyonel Trouillot What these writers have in common beyond their use of French is their resistance to the centralizing power of a language their rejection of exclusive definitions and their claim for creative autonomy

African Women Under Fire Pauline Ada Uwakweh, 2017-03-16 African writers and literary critics must account for the changing political terrain and how these contribute to creating new sources of conflicts and aggression toward women This book brings insight and scholarly breadth to the growing research on women war and conflict in Africa The aftermath of wars and conflicts initiates new forms of violence and related gender challenges The contributors establish compelling evidence for the significance of gender in the analyses of contemporary warfare and conflict Articulating war's consequences for women and children remains a major challenge for critics policy makers and human rights organizations There is a need for deeper understanding of the new sources of violence and male aggression on women the gendered challenges of reintegration in the aftermath and the future consequences of gendered violence for the African continent This book will be useful to scholars researchers instructors students of literature in the humanities women's studies liberal studies African studies etc at both undergraduate and graduate levels It also offers interdisciplinary utility for readers interested in literary representations of women's experience in war and conflict
