National Conceptualisations of the Body Politic Andreas Musolff,2020-11-09 This book presents the results of a large scale experiment into interpretations of the metaphor the Nation as a Body among 1 800 respondents from 30 linguistic and cultural backgrounds In this first account of an empirical study of cross cultural global metaphor interpretation of that scale Musolff confirms that the meanings of metaphors are complex culturally mediated and may differ for senders and recipients The book provides a historical and cultural map of the traditions underlying differences in how the nation as a body or the body politic is understood Musolff challenges the hypotheses of the universality of the nation as a predominantly male gendered and hierarchically organized concept and in so doing puts into question some of the key presuppositions of traditional historical and cognitive approaches to metaphor For scholars and students of figurative language the book lays out methodological foundations for cross cultural metaphor comparison and reveals hidden meaning differences in political metaphor in English as lingua franca

Performing the East Amy Bryzgel, 2013-05-30 Performance art in Western Europe and North America developed in part as a response to the commercialisation of the art object as artists endeavoured to create works of art that could not be bought or sold But what are the roots of performance art in Eastern Europe and Russia where there was no real art market to speak of While many artworks created in the East may resemble Western performance art practices their origins as well as their meaning and significance is decidedly different By placing specific performances from Russia Latvia and Poland from the late and post communist periods within a local and international context this book pinpoints the nuances between performance art East and West Performance art in Eastern Europe is examined for the first time as agent and chronicle of the transition from Soviet and satellite states to free market democracies Drawing upon previously unpublished sources and exclusive interviews with the artists themselves Amy Bryzgel explores the actions of the period from Miervaldis Polis s Bronze Man to Oleg Kulik s Russian Dog performances Bryzgel demonstrates that in the late 1980s and early 1990s performance art in Eastern Europe went beyond the modernist critique to express ideas outside the official discourse shocking and empowering the citizenry both effecting and mirroring the social changes taking place at the time Performing the East opens the way to an urgent reassessment of the history function and meaning of performance art practices in East Central Europe

Sexuality and Gender in Postcommunist Eastern Europe and Russia Edmond J Coleman, Theo Sandfort, 2014-05-22 Important new findings on sex and gender in the former Soviet Bloc Sexuality and Gender in Postcommunist Eastern Europe and Russia is a groundbreaking look at the new sexual reality in Central Eastern and Southeast Europe after the fall of communism The book presents the kind of candid discussion of sexual identities sexual politics and gender arrangements that was often censored and rarely discussed openly before the breakup of the Soviet Union in 1987 Authors from a variety of disciplines examine how the changes caused by rapid economic and social transformation have affected human sexuality and if those changes can generate the social tolerance necessary to produce a well rooted democracy The first theoretical and empirical body of work to sexuality in post transitional countries Sexuality and Gender in Postcommunist Eastern Europe and Russia examines the effects of the profound social transformation taking place in the former Soviet Union Through an interdisciplinary perspective the book addresses vital issues of this transformation including gender relations gender roles and sex norms in transition sexual representations in the media patterns of adult sexual behavior gay and lesbian issues sex trafficking health risks and sex education The book also presents a critical examination of whether the fall of communism has in fact induced changes in sexuality and gender relations Sexuality and Gender in Postcommunist Eastern Europe and Russia examines the changes in sex and gender in countries in transition including the negative consequences of Serbia s state directed non development during the 1990s the causes and consequences of trafficking in women from the Russian Federation the ongoing debate over human rights for sexual minorities in Romania the effects of two Yugoslavian films released in the 1990s that feature transgender characters sexualities in transition in Croatia problems created by changes in sexual behavior among urban Russian adolescents the social and legal state of lesbians in Slovenia Sexuality and Gender in Postcommunist Eastern Europe and Russia fills in the gap in the current knowledge and understanding of the effects of the profound social changes taking place in Central Eastern and Southeast Europe The book is an essential read for academics and researchers working in gender studies political science and gay and lesbian studies Handy tables and figures make the information easy to access and understand

The Politics of Love Natalie Cornett, 2024-09-15 The Politics of Love describes the history of Polish intellectual and cultural life which covertly flourished at home and abroad despite imperial repression between Poland s two great uprisings in 1830 1831 and 1863 Natalie Cornett focuses her study on a group of educated women known as the Enthusiasts Entuzjastki who were united by their commitment to live as independent women despite the intense nationalism that put the nation above all including class and gender The Enthusiasts led by Narcyza michowska emphasized sororal love and homosocial bonding in their program to contest both an oppressive imperial regime and constrictive gender roles Their affective relationships with each other and their decision to remain unmarried childless or divorced violated accepted conventions and the patriotic emphasis on the Polish family By drawing on a large corpus of their letters diaries police files and published works Cornett describes the Enthusiast movement from its emergence in the 1840s to the death of Narcyza michowska in 1876 The Politics of Love describes how the Polish intelligentsia was so monomaniacally focused on the struggle for independence that discussion of other social questions was dismissed as unpatriotic. Its dismissal of the Enthusiasts as socially deviant despite the Enthusiasts' support for the national cause reveals the limitations of nationalism as a binding agent and demonstrates how Polish women appropriated and contributed ideas about women's emancipation, nationalism and religion in a globalizing era of increasing literacy and transnational exchange.

Violence and the Body Arturo J. Iconic Works of Art by Feminists and Gender Activists Brenda Schmahmann, 2021-07-22 In this book contributors identify and explore a range of iconic works, Mistress Pieces that have been made by feminists and gender activists since the 1970s. The first volume for which the defining of iconic feminist art is the raison d'être, its contributors interpret a Mistress Piece as a work that has proved influential in a particular context because of its distinctiveness and relevance. Reinterpreting iconic art by Alice Neel, Hannah Wilke and Ana Mendieta, the authors also offer important insights about works that may be less well known, those by Natalia LL, Tanja Ostojić, Swoon, Clara Meneses, Diane Victor, Usha Seejarim, Ilse Fuskov, Phaptawan Suwannakudt and Tracey Moffatt, among others. While in some instances revealing cross-influences between artists working in different frameworks, the publication simultaneously makes evident how social and political factors specific to particular countries had significant impact on the making and reception of art focused on gender. The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history, visual studies and gender studies.

Overkill Eliot Borenstein, 2011-05-02 Perestroika and the end of the Soviet Union transformed every aspect of life in Russia and as hope began to give way to pessimism, popular culture came to reflect the anxiety and despair felt by more and more Russians. Free from censorship for the first time in Russia's history, the popular culture industry, publishing, film and television, began to disseminate works that featured increasingly explicit images and descriptions of sex and violence. In Overkill, Eliot Borenstein explores this lurid and often disturbing cultural landscape in close, imaginative readings of such works as You're Just a Slut, My Dear Ty, Prosto shliukha dorogaia, a novel about sexual slavery and illegal organ harvesting, the Nympho trilogy of books featuring a Chechen fighting sex addict and the Mad Dog and Antikiller series of books and films recounting respectively the exploits of the Russian Rambo and an assassin killing in the cause of justice. Borenstein argues that the popular cultural products consumed in the post-perestroika era were more than just diversions; they allowed Russians to indulge their despair over economic woes and everyday threats. At the same time, they built a notion of nationalism or heroism that could be maintained even under the most miserable of social conditions when consumers felt most powerless. For Borenstein, the myriad depictions of deviance in pornographic and also detective fiction, with their patently excessive and appalling details of social and moral decay, represented the popular culture industry's response to the otherwise unimaginable scale of Russia's national collapse. The full sense of collapse, he writes, required a panoptic view that only the media and culture industry were eager to provide amalgamating national collapse into one master narrative that would then be readily available to most individuals as a framework for understanding their own suffering and their own fears      Body and Narrative in Contemporary Literatures in German Lyn Marven, 2005-05-26 This book compares three contemporary women writing in German Herta Muller from Romania Libuse Monikova from Czechoslovakia and Kerstin Hensel from the GDR It looks at images of the body and their relationship to the structures of their writing as well as analysing the social cultural and political contexts      De-Centring Western Sexualities Robert Kulpa, Joanna Mizielska, 2016-04-08 De Centring Western Sexualities critically assesses the current state of knowledge about sexualities outside the framings of The West by focusing on gender and sexuality within the context of Central and Eastern Europe Providing rich case studies drawn from a range of post communist countries this interdisciplinary volume brings together the latest research on the formation of sexualities in Central and Eastern Europe alongside analyses of the sexual and national identity politics of the region Engaged with current debates within queer studies surrounding temporality and knowledge production and inspired by post colonial critique the book problematises the Western hegemony that often characterises sexuality studies and presents local theoretical insights better attuned to their geo temporal realities As such it offers a cultural and social re evaluation of everyday life experiences and will be of interest to sociologists queer studies scholars geographers and anthropologists      Identity Games Anikó Imre, 2009 An examination of the unique hybrid media practices generated by Eastern Europe s accelerated transition from late communism to late capitalism Eastern Europe s historically unprecedented and accelerated transition from late communism to late capitalism coupled with media globalization set in motion a scramble for cultural identity and a struggle over access to and control over media technologies In Identity Games Anik Imre examines the corporate transformation of the postcommunist media landscape in Eastern Europe Avoiding both uncritical techno euphoria and nostalgic projections of a simpler better media world under communism Imre argues that the demise of Soviet style regimes and the transition of postcommunist nation states to transnational capitalism has crucial implications for understanding the relationships among nationalism media globalization and identity Imre analyzes situations in which anxieties arise about the encroachment of global entertainment media and its new technologies on national culture examining the rich aesthetic hybrids that have grown from the transitional postcommunist terrain She investigates the gaps and continuities between the last communist and first post communist generations in education tourism and children s media culture the racial and class politics of music entertainment including Roma Rap and Idol television talent shows and mediated reconfigurations of gender and sexuality including playful lesbian media activism and masculinity in carnivalistic post Yugoslav film Throughout Imre uses the concepts of play and games as metaphorical and theoretical tools to explain the process of cultural change inspired in part by the increasing ludification of the global media environment and the emerging engagement with play across scholarly disciplines In the vision that Imre offers political and cultural participation are seen as games whose rules are permanently open to negotiation      Intimate Citizenships
