Lloyd's Missing Vessel Book 1914 - 1918 Lloyd's Register Foundation, 1914-01-01 Lloyd's of London's Missing Vessel Books lists ships posted as missing to settle insurance claims. The books are a unique resource that can assist in identifying shipwrecks and the digitisation effort aims to make them more accessible to researchers and enthusiasts. The project is part of the Unpathed Waters initiative which seeks to make it easier to research and discover the UK's maritime heritage.

Railway and Marine News, 1912 Reported Missing in the Great War John Broom, 2020-12-14 A snapshot of the misery and pain that were suffered by those who not only lost loved ones in the Great War but were denied a graveside to mourn at Paul Nixon Army Ancestry Research. Of the one million British and Empire military personnel who were killed in action, died of wounds, disease or injury or were missing, presumed dead during the First World War, over half a million have no known grave. This book traces the history of the searching services that were established to assist families in eliciting definitive news of their missing loved ones. Then using previously unpublished material, most of it lovingly preserved in family archives for over a century, the lives of eight soldiers whose families had no known resting place to visit after the conclusion of the war are recounted. These young men, their lives full of promise, vanished from the face of the earth. The circumstances of their deaths and the painstaking efforts undertaken both by family members and public and voluntary organizations to piece together what information could be found are described. The eventual acceptance of the reality of death and the need to properly commemorate the lives of those who would have no marked grave are examined. For three of the eight men, recent discoveries have meant that over a century since they were given up as missing, their remains have been identified and allowed families some degree of closure. The author skillfully weaves the harrowing experiences of these eight grieving families with the official processes and procedures in place over the years to identify and commemorate the missing. Military Historical Society Barbarossa Through German Eyes Jonathan Trigg, 2021-06-15 The story of the world's largest ever invasion through the voices of the men and women who witnessed it first hand Sunderland at War 1939-45 Craig Armstrong, 2020-08-31 This local history explores the wartime contributions and sacrifices of a strategically significant English port town during WWII. Located on the River Wear, Sunderland was a vital hub for shipbuilding and coal exportation. During the Second World War, these important attributes marked it as a prime target for the Luftwaffe. The town experienced numerous air raids, including one which caused devastating casualties and structural damage. The authorities struggled to provide adequate shelters and Air Raid Precautions services. Sunderland also had a proud tradition of military service. Many joined the local Army regiment, the famed Durham Light Infantry, which saw action in almost every theater of the war. Other brave Wear-siders joined the Merchant Navy, the Royal Navy, and the Royal Air Force. Man's Best Friends - True Stories of the World's Most Heroic Dogs John McShane,2012-07-27 For thousands of years men and women have known who to turn to in times of trouble a dog All over the world dogs have risked and often lost their lives to look after the human beings they care for Their intelligence devotion and astonishing courage to help humans in distress on countless occasions almost defies belief Their stories range from Roselle the Labrador who led her blind owner to safety from the carnage of the World Trade Centre to the legends of Balto and Togo two of the huskies who traversed over 1 000 kilometres of snow and ice to bring life saving medicine to an isolated town and Swansea Jack the black Labrador who rescued almost 30 people from drowning and who had a statue erected in his honour Many of the dogs featured in this book have been specially trained to help humans a task they eagerly set about regardless of the physical risk they face as a result Then there are the family pets who when danger threatens react with total disregard for their own wellbeing caring only about one thing protecting the humans they love Cruising World ,1988-01 Forgotten Allies J. Ready,1985-01-01 Many nations played a role as belligerents on the Allied side in World War II Many were in the thick of combat and made grave national sacrifices yet general histories mention them only briefly or omit their story entirely The assisting troops are given their due in this unique comprehensive and readable history Included are chapters about land and sea troops from such countries as Fiji Trans Jordan Luxembourg Brazil Iran and Nigeria as well as Maori Assyrians Gurkhas Free Poles and others Knowing the lines drawn more than 70 years ago between sides will enable anyone to understand better national enmities and relations today Crossing the Wire David Coombes,2011-03-07 Truly we are objects of interest to the Jerries we meet on the road and especially in the villages Taunts are hurled at us epithets are numerous and souvenir hunters molest us but so far not violently After passing through the village of Villers we come across some British prisoners who are clearing the road and they present a sorry spectacle unshaven and dirty looking Some offered some appeal for food but we have none to give In fact we are ourselves hungry Their predicament does not create in us a very favourable impression although I like others do not realise the seriousness of what is in store for us The future is a blank as no one knows what it holds So wrote an Australian prisoner of war Corporal Lancelot Davies only recently taken prisoner at the first battle of Bullecourt on 11 April 1917 For him like another 1 200 Australians captured at Bullecourt the future was indeed blank and unpredictable The experiences of Australian prisoners of war POWs or Kriegsgefangenen held captive in Germany has been largely forgotten or ignored overshadowed by the terrible stories of Australians imprisoned by the Japanese during World War II Yet as David Coombes makes known the stories are interesting and significant not only providing an account of what those young Australian soldiers experienced and the spirit they showed in responding to captivity but also for the insight it provides into Germany in the last eighteen months of the war Drawing on previous inaccessible records Coombes focuses on one Australian brigade the 4th Infantry from its formation in 1914 through Gallipoli to its baptism of fire on the Western Front culminating in the first battle of Bullecourt which in turn leads to the prisoner of war experience

Australian POWs David Coombes,2021-02-03 Comrades in distress we were and it was now that one felt the existence of a brotherhood that establishes itself in circumstances of this kind A few of the men are very dejected and appear to be losing all interest in themselves their habits and practices not being approved by the majority In some cases for the most miserable

reward they cringe to the Germans for the chance of being of some service others also despite the fact their bodies can ill afford the sacrifice trade their boots and other clothing in exchange for food and smokes This is regrettable but censure has no effect on the few Most of us have resolved to maintain some sort of dignity though tis difficult So wrote Australian prisoner of war POW Corporal Lancelot Davies who was captured at the First Battle of Bullecourt on 11 April 1917 where Allied forces were badly smashed up Davies was one of almost 1 200 Australians captured that day facing an uncertain future at the hands of their German captors he described the future as blank and unpredictable The experiences of Australian prisoners of war POWs or Kriegsgefangenens held captive in Germany has been largely forgotten or ignored overshadowed by the horrid stories of Australians imprisoned by the Japanese during World War Two Yet as David Coombes makes known the stories are interesting and significant not only providing an account of what those young Australian soldiers experienced and the spirit they showed in responding to captivity but also for the insight it provides into Germany in the last eighteen months of the war Coombes draws upon previous inaccessible records including the interviews conducted many years before by Chalk as well as private papers and unpublished manuscripts He paints a vivid picture of young soldiers who survived the trauma of battle only to find themselves facing an unknown fate at the hands of an often vindictive and cruel enemy These comrades in distress many wounded and traumatised by trench warfare quickly discovered the bond of brotherhood often the key to survival in a harsh environment with little food poor medical treatment back breaking work and the anguish of confinement What emerges in the pages of this amazingly detailed account is the typical Australian sense of humour and the sheer will to live that marked these men Above all it was their determination to be free and to return once more to their families that ensured their survival often against overwhelming odds Crossing the Wire is a fitting tribute to the World War One soldiers and POWs David Coombes highlights the ordeals these men went through their stoicism in enduring their mistreatment and the fearlessness of a few in launching ingenious attempts to escape He proves beyond doubt that their stories are by no means less compelling than those of their World War II brothers

Campbell-Jones,2018-03-09 After a lifetime in the RAF Group Captain Bob Allen finally allowed his children and grandchildren to see his official flying log It contained the line KILLED WHILST ON OPERATIONS He refused to answer any further questions leaving instead a memoir of his life during World War II Joining up aged 19 within six months he was in No 1 Squadron flying a Hurricane in a dog fight over the Channel For almost two years he lived in West Africa fighting Germany's Vichy French allies as well as protecting the Southern Atlantic supply routes Returning home at Christmas 1942 he retrained as a fighter bomber pilot flying Typhoons and was one of the first over the Normandy beaches on D Day On 25 July 1944 Bob was shot down spending the rest of the war in a POW camp where he was held in solitary confinement interrogated

by the Gestapo and imprisoned in the infamous Stalag Luft 3 and suffered the winter march of 1945 before being liberated by the Russians

Fleshing out Bob's careful third person memoir with detailed research his daughter Suzanne Campbell Jones tells the gripping story of a more or less ordinary man who came home with extraordinary memories which he kept to himself for more than 50 years

A Garden Party for the Dead Stephen Reardon, 2018-10-24

When the guns finally fell silent in France on Armistice Day 1918 those who had survived the Great War came home in their thousands most within weeks or a few months They left behind them along the Western Front a swathe of almost complete devastation over 300 miles long and up to 20 miles wide In this forsaken landscape remained the corpses of many thousands of the dead some in makeshift graves some still waiting to be found others who never were

Into this unimaginable wasteland comes Edward Dereham tormented with guilt for being denied his earnest wish to fight Now as the war ends he has found a role for himself with the Graves Registration Directorate now part of the newly formed Imperial War Graves Commission Abandoning a tangle of impossible love and dubious wealth he would rather forget in England Dereham finds purpose and atonement in the ruined killing fields of France
