Postman Pat's Delivery Round Helen Lloyd, Richard Jewitt, 1994-01-01      Discovering the Dales Way Keith Pauling, 2010-10-11 The Dales Way passes through some of the most beautiful scenery in England The footpath is 84 miles in length and runs from Ilkley to Bowness on Windermere Starting on the banks of the River Wharfe it follows the river upstream climbs over the top of the watershed of the Pennines and then winds steadily down the other side passing through the delightful undulating countryside of where we once used to call Westmorland before finally arriving at the shore of England's largest expanse of inland water Along the way I will be exploring the places that I visit and delving into the histories of the people who have made their contributions to life in the area throughout the ages Join me on my journey and discover our rich heritage      All in the Best Possible Taste Tom Bromley, 2010-08-19 Television past as LP Hartley might have once said is another country And in the early 1980s it certainly was a different beast There were still only three channels to watch the evening's programmes finished with the playing of the national anthem and the biggest prize on TV was not Chris Tarrant's million pounds but a speedboat on Bullseye But as Tom Bromley suggests in this funny and warming memoir all that was about to change The 1980s saw the end of the original golden era of television and the beginnings of TV as we know it today In 1982 Channel 4 became the first new terrestrial channel for almost twenty years and by the end of the decade Rupert Murdoch's Sky Television was vying to become Britain's first multi channel provider The result of all this was that slowly but surely British viewers had more choice than ever before and the cost of this choice was the erosion of television as a shared national event And no one felt this change more deeply than Tom Bromley Television played a large part in Tom's childhood His first word was two as in BBC Two and his earliest childhood memory is seeing Johnny Ball at a church fete With great humour and affection Tom Bromley tells the story of a childhood spent with his three siblings and that other all important family member the television set      Imagining the Church Tim Gibson, 2021-08-01 Exploring the ways in which the church is imagined in contemporary society drawing threads of history present and future together through poetry art literature and theology      Acts and Omissions Catherine Fox, 2014-07-17 The Bishop of Lindchester is happily married with four daughters But does he have a secret Archdeacon Matt is inclined to think not That said it's obvious to him that Bishop Paul's got a pretty big bee in his mitre about the brilliant but troubled Freddie May Welcome to the fictional Diocese of Lindchester where you will be taken dear reader on a yearlong romp in the company of bishops priests and lay people Prepare yourself for a bumpy and hilarious ride from the rarefied heights of the Cathedral Close down to the coalface of ordinary urban and rural parishes Acts and Omissions reveals the Church of England in all its mess and glory It is a world shot through with grace but one where even the best intentioned err and stray And occasionally do those things which they ought not to have done      The Rough Guide to the Lake District Jules Brown, 2013-01-24 The Rough Guide to the Lake District features comprehensive reviews of the finest places to stay and eat for every budget based on personal inspection by Popular Music And Television In Britain Ian Inglis, 2016-04-22. Listening to popular music and watching television have become the two most common activities for postwar generations in Britain. From the experiences of programmes like Oh Boy and Juke Box Jury to the introduction of 24-hour music video channels, the number and variety of television outputs that consistently make use of popular music and the importance of the small screen as a principal point of contact between audiences and performers are familiar components of contemporary media operation. Yet there have been few attempts to examine the two activities in tandem to chart their parallel evolution, to explore the associations that unite them or to consider the increasingly frequent ways in which the production and consumption of TV and music are linked in theory and in practice. This volume provides an invaluable critical analysis of these and other topics in newly written contributions from some of Britain's leading scholars in the disciplines of television and/or popular music studies. Through a concentration on four main areas in which TV organises and presents popular music: history and heritage, performers and performances, comedy and drama, audiences and territories, the book investigates a diverse range of musical genres and styles, factual and fictional programming, historical and geographical demographics and the constraints of commerce and technology to provide the first systematic account of the place of popular music on British television.
